Ditching the 'Duke'

'Miss Scarlet' returns solo for Season 5

By Dana Simpson

TV Media

ince April 2020, fans of British period pieces and crime fiction have been delighting in the wit and whims of Victorian-era private investigator Eliza Scarlet (Kate Phillips, "Peaky Blinders") and her policing partner DI William Wellington (Stuart Martin, "Army of Thieves," 2021). With four complete six-episode seasons under its belt, PBS's "Miss Scarlet & the Duke" has continued to captivate audiences over the past four and a half years — particularly as a series of pandemic-related lockdowns kept audiences at home, and often glued to their televisions, in the early days of the show. Now back for a fifth season, Eliza — the strong, independent woman she is — continues to handle matters on her own, with the Duke nowhere to be seen.

Season 5 of "Miss Scarlet," formerly "Miss Scarlet & the Duke," premieres Sunday, Jan. 12, on PBS. Check your local listings for details.

Don't miss your opportunity to see Eliza Scarlet as she gets down to business in her first season flying solo. "Miss Scarlet" (sans the Duke) premieres Sunday, Jan. 16, on PBS Masterpiece.

Top chefs try their hand at poker in 'Wildcard Kitchen'

By Caroline Collacutt

TV Media

o earn yourself bragging rights, you've got to bluff, backstab and betray. The second season of "Wildcard Kitchen" airs Tuesdays on Food Network, bringing poker back to the pantry.

"In each episode, host Eric Adjepong ["Beachside Brawl"] welcomes three chefs who know each other well to the test kitchen after-hours for three hands of his underground poker game," Food Network explains. "With scores to settle and lots of smack talk, each chef brings $5,000 to the game, where the luck of the draw determines dishes and cooking time — while Eric throws his own unexpected challenges into the mix."

During last week's Season 2 premiere, big spender Jet Tila ("Family Restaurant Rivals") found himself sitting at the table alongside brothers Michael and Bryan Voltaggio ("Battle of the Brothers"), who were able to up the ante by bringing double the cash to the game as a team of two. While serving up hot and yummy dishes good enough to make you fold. the group managed to serve the trash talk just as quickly, making for a fun introduction to "Wildcard's" newest installment.
