ing the significant struggles these children face daily is humbling. The children are so very happy when they get to go boating, they forget their personal issues. They smile and feel empowered by being out on the water and the parents see the joy on their children's faces. I am honored to be affiliated with this organization."

According to Ms. Frankel, Freedom Waters Foundation is a 501c3 non-profit organization with almost 19 years of experience providing therapeutic boat outings for children and adults with disabilities, life-threatening illnesses, youths at risk and veterans. According to Ms. Frankel, "We started our Veterans program in 2006 and are pleased to say that 40% of who we put on the water are veterans and their family members. We do all of this by partnering with private and commercial boat owners that donate their time and use of their vessels to share freedom and joy on and off the waters, and this donation will allow us to provide more of these impactful boat outings."

According to Freedom Waters website, as of December 31, 2023, they have provided over 4,500 on-the-water experiences with just three full-time and two part-time employees and the help of over 400 volunteers. That's close to 1,000 more than last year.

Marco Island Code Enforcement Officer, Raymond Leshinger, shared the following: "When we started enforcement this season we give everyone an initial warning on their first violation so that's why they didn't make the magistrate calendar in July...There are three (3) cases scheduled for August magistrate because they have additional violations. As of July 29, we have 17 Notices of Violation that have been issued since the start of the season."
