'Mr. Corman' fights disillusionment and himself in Apple TV+ comedy

Josh Corman is a man underwhelmed by life and himself.

As played by Joseph Gordon-Levitt ("Third Rock From the Sun," "Lincoln") in the Apple TV+ comedy series "Mr. Corman," which begins streaming Friday, Aug. 6, he's a 30-something born and raised in the suburbs of Los Angeles whose life hasn't turned out as he envisioned.

An artist at heart, his music career didn't amount to much and so he pays the bills by teaching fifth graders at a public school while sharing an apartment with his best friend Victor (Arturo Castro, "Broad City"). His relationship with his fiancée also has gone south and he struggles with feelings of anxiety, loneliness and depression, which he confides to his mother Ruth (Debra Winger, "Terms of Endearment"). On top of that, he also suspects he's not that great a person.

It's a lot for one young man to bear and Gordon-Levitt, who created the series, conceived of the character as an unlucky version of himself.

"It was sort of thinking about: What if just a couple of things were different?" the actor and San Fernando Valley native explains. "Like what if I hadn't found my partner yet? ... Or what if the art that I do hadn't panned out into a career? ... Or what if I had one good, healthy parent and one parent who was less healthy or problematic or causing chaos?"

"And so sort of making some of these changes like that formed this character, who is in many ways just like me," he continues. "He walks like me and talks like me. He grew up where I grew up. He went to high school where I went to high school. He had many of the same thoughts and opinions and tastes that I do. But these certain things are different."

But, Gordon-Levitt explains, Josh does have things in his life to be thankful for but he just doesn't appreciate them. He has a good job in a noble profession for which he seems to have a flair, he has friends who care about him and his mother is always there to lend a sympathetic ear.

Toward that end, the interplay between Josh and Ruth comes across as very natural mother/son dialog and Gordon-Levitt credits Winger for being a brilliant actress and fitting right in.

"She looks like my mom and my mom's sister, my mom's cousins," he reports. "Like the Gordon women, she has a very similar essence to her. And she also grew up in L.A. the way I grew up in the Valley, in the suburbs of L.A., the way that I did."

"And yeah, she's just the perfect person for this," he continues, "and if anybody out there hasn't seen 'Terms of Endearment,' it's really some of the best acting that's ever been done in a movie and she won the Oscar for it and with good reason. And it's been such a delight to do this together with her."

Checking in with ALEXANDRA DADDARIO

At a time when the coronavirus pandemic was limiting work options for many performers, a stay at “The White Lotus” looked quite good to Alexandra Daddario.

The cast and crew of HBO and HBO Max’s current Sunday series created their own “bubble” by largely taking over a Hawaiian resort for the two months of filming writer-director Mike White’s comedy, about a Maui hotel’s staff and the diverse guests they service. “Baywatch” and “Percy Jackson” movie co-star Daddario plays a newlywed who develops second thoughts about the marriage, with Jake Lacy as her worried husband and Molly Shannon as his meddling mother. The ensemble cast also includes Steve Zahn, Connie Britton and Jennifer Coolidge.

“Everybody has their own thing” happening in the show, the friendly Daddario confirms. “Each story is as important as the others, and they all intersect. That was great for all of us, because we all had our down time. And on the set, I always felt that I was doing something that was meaty. You weren’t just waiting around. Everyone was shooting their own little movie.”

Daddario particularly enjoyed acting with “Saturday Night Live” alum Shannon, with whom she also worked in the William H. Macy-directed 2017 movie “The Layover.” Deeming her “a delightful person,” Daddario says simply, “She’s Molly Shannon! She’s a legend. Like in a tennis match, it’s always better to have somebody who makes you better.”

However, notes Daddario, “You’re not going to be funnier acting with Molly Shannon. She’s always going to be the funniest, but when you feel the scene being uplifted by her, it helps. I wish I could be as funny as she is.”

Turn to the Magnolia Network for innovative culinary content

There's a new kid on the foodie TV block and it's actually the work of someone with whom viewers are likely very familiar.

Magnolia Network, a joint venture of Discovery and Chip and Joanna Gaines, offers up a plethora of programming devoted to culinary pursuits, with everything from how-tos and new ideas to cultural and historical perspectives, growing your own produce and even old favorites. And the good news much of it is streaming right now on discovery+ and the Magnolia Network app. Such as the following.

“Magnolia Table With Joanna Gaines” (Available now): Now in its third season after premiering on discovery+ in January, this family-oriented entry finds Gaines in her kitchen sharing her favorite recipes, revealing where they come from and why she keeps returning to them again and again.

“Family Dinner” (Available now): Andrew Zimmern (“Bizarre Foods”) is your host for this series in which he visits families across the country to hear their stories and explore how our regional, historical and cultural heritages inform what and how we eat.

“Homegrown” (Available now): As the title suggests, this recently premiered offering follows Atlanta-based farmer Jamila Norman as she assists families in transforming their outdoor spaces into functional backyard farms and highlights the joys and benefits of growing your own food.

“The Artisan’s Kitchen” (Available now): Professional baker and flour expert Bryan

Ford brings his Honduran heritage and New Orleans upbringing to bear on his creations in this series as he offers up ideas for new recipes as well as remixed classics.

“Zoe Bakes” (Available now): Pastry chef and cookbook Zoe Francois is your host for this series in which she breaks down the secrets of pastry chefs and home bakers and shows how to create beautiful and tasty confections right in your own kitchen.

“Ranch to Table” (Premieres Friday, Aug. 6): This new series follows seventh generation California rancher and entrepreneur Elizabeth Poett as she runs her family’s 14,000-acre ranch and creates regional dishes using her own fresh ingredients.

“For the Love of Kitchens” (Premieres Friday, Aug. 6): You can’t have cuisine without a kitchen and in this series, Paul O’Leary, Helen Parker and Robin McLellan and their team of craftspeople design beautiful state-of-the-art kitchens from their facility in a 16th century mill in the English countryside.

“The French Chef” (Available now on Magnolia app only): From the network’s substantial library comes this classic 1962-73 series featuring legendary chef Julia Child as she sought to take the mystery and intimidation factor out of French cuisine, featuring recipes from her “Mastering the Art of French Cooking” bestseller and emphasizing the use of fresh and sometimes hard-to-find ingredients.

Bromell hopes perseverance pays off in gold at 2020 Tokyo Olympics

It's been a long journey back to the Olympics for Trayvon Bromell, one that almost didn't happen.

Indeed, the 26-year-old native of St. Petersburg, Fla., had considered retirement since the Rio games in 2016, and it was issues with his left heel that were the reason why.

Painful bone spurs first reared their head that summer five years ago, and then he crumpled to the ground in the 4x100m relay at Rio and had to be helped off by wheelchair. The diagnosis was every sprinter's nightmare: a torn Achilles.

Two surgeries followed, as did many hours of rehab, and Bromell wound up missing all or most of the 2017, 2018 and 2019 seasons. He feared his career was over and discouragement set in.

But a funny thing happened on the way to retirement. In 2020, Bromell got healthy, hired a new coach and began training again. And on July 4 he had his own Independence Day celebration by running his best time in the 100m in five years, 10.04 seconds – not elite but certainly one that said he was close. Those were followed a month later by two more personal bests of 9.90 and 9.87 seconds at various coViewers can watch Bromell go for gold in the men's 100m sprint at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics Sunday, Aug. 1 on NBC and Peacock.

The STREAM Scene

Where all the top choices can be found in one place!

“Movie: Val”

Fans of Val Kilmer will get an up-close-and-personal look at the mercurial “The Doors” and “Batman Forever” actor in this documentary from first-time directors Leo Scott and Ting Poo, which uses home movies, on-set clips and footage shot by Kilmer himself to chronicle a life lived to extremes and reveal what it means to be an artist and a complex man. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: The Artist”

This best-picture Oscar winner is an affectionate tribute to movie history, with director Michel Hazanavicius going so far as to make it a silent film. Jean Dujardin also earned a statuette as an actor who fears what the dawn of talking pictures may mean for his career — and who falls for a chorus girl (Berenice Bejo) whose star is rising. John Goodman also stars.

“How to Sell Drugs Online (Fast)”

Season 3 of this crime caper from Germany finds Moritz (Maximilian Mundt) alone and desperate as he struggles to hold onto power as CEO of MyDrugs while reuniting with Dan (Damian Hardung) and Lenny (Danilo Kamperidis), whose condition is deteriorating, for one last job. Bjarne Madel and Lena Klenke also star. (ORIGINAL)

“The Simpsons: The Good, the Bart and The Loki” (Available now)

The long-running Fox series meets the Marvel Cinematic Universe in this animated short that finds Loki (voice of Tom Hiddleston) banished to Springfield, where he joins forces with Bart (voice of Nancy Cartwright) to fight against his toughest adversaries. “Simpsons” regulars Dan Castellaneta and Yeardley Smith are also in the voice cast. celebrity q&a

BY JAY BOBBIN

Robert Hays OF 'FASTEN YOUR SEATBELT' ON A&E NETWORK

Your movie role as substitute pilot Ted Striker in the classic comedy "Airplane!" would seem to make you a natural to tell air passengers' true stories as the host of "Fasten Your Seatbelt." How did you get the job?

(The producers) came to me about it, and as I thought about it, two of the dearest people I've met were ("Airplane!" co-stars) Peter Graves and Robert Stack. And both had hosted (reality) things; Peter did "Biography," which I used to love, and Bob did "Unsolved Mysteries." So, I thought this would be kind of like carrying on the tradition, and what better way to do it than with something that has to do with airplanes?

You're the son of a fighter pilot. Do you feel that connects to your "Airplane!" legacy?

Ah, my hero! He was the greatest guy. My parents were the most wonderful couple. My dad was a Marine who was in World War II, Korea and Vietnam, highly decorated. He was 6'3", and my mom was a little 5'2" elf, and everybody loved her. That was like me and Donna (Pescow) on (the sitcom) "Angie," the height difference.

I grew up around air bases, seeing all the jet demonstration teams like the Blue Angels and the Thunderbirds. And Dad was a really great pilot, so I had it in my blood.

How have airline crew members been with you if they've recognized you aboard their flights?

It happened all the time in the years following the first showings (of "Airplane!"). I used to get invited up into the cockpit on international flights – you can't go in on U.S. flights, so as soon as we'd take off or land, they'd want me to come up and take pictures with them – but on the international flights, they'd have me come up and sit there for hours, just asking me things and showing me all this stuff. It was great fun.

BY JAY BOBBIN

'Love Story' still warms many moviegoers' hearts

More than 50 years later, love still means never having to say you're sorry.

At least that would be the view of Oliver Barrett IV, one of the most famous romantics in screen history ... thanks to "Love Story," the enormously popular 1970 drama now streaming on Paramount+. As portrayed by Ryan O'Neal, wealthy college-hockey player Oliver was embraced by audiences around the world for his relationship with "smart and poor" music student Jenny Cavilleri (Ali MacGraw, in the role that cemented her stardom, though she didn't make all that many movies after this).

The very clever move made by then-Paramount Pictures chief Robert Evans was, after optioning Erich Segal's original screenplay, to have the writer turn it into a novel first. The gambit paid off, since the book became a huge bestseller, making many theater patrons eager to see the film — which they did in droves, since at the time, the Arthur Hiller-directed "Love Story" quickly landed among the top-grossing attractions ever released.

The tale it tells is quite simple. While working on a class assignment, Harvard's Oliver meets Radcliffe's Jenny when he needs a book from her school's library. She immediately starts giving him attitude, which both infuriates and intrigues him, and he quickly puts her to the test of being able to take it herself when he turns it around on her. Which she can't.

Thus a love story is born, and it doesn't take long for Oliver to make an impulsive marriage proposal to Jenny. Then it's a matter of selling their engagement to their respective parents: Jenny's baker father (a wonderful John Marley) is more open to the idea, while Oliver's stern business-titan father (a properly rigid Ray Milland) warns his son, "I'll not give you the time of day" if the vows are taken. (Oliver's angry response? "Father, you don't know the time of day.")

The marriage happens, but "Love Story" then takes a turn that has been parodied endlessly over the ensuing years, though it meant an intensely heightened need for tissues by those who experienced it at the movies. The scene that both opens and closes the film is iconic, and enough to put any fan in touch with the related emotions immediately.

Segal wrote the sequel "Oliver's Story," and a big Paramount paycheck lured O'Neal back for the 1978 screen version, but "Love Story" is the sort of lightning bolt that's hard to catch twice. And fortunately, it's still around to warm the hearts of new generations.

celebrity q&a

BY JAY BOBBIN

Kristen Bell

OF 'GOSSIP GIRL' ON HBO MAX

How is it to pick up being the voice of "Gossip Girl" in the new reboot, nine years after the original series ended?

To be honest, I thought I'd be very rusty, but I slid right back into that role like a slip-'n-slide. It was really fun, and I especially love that almost a decade later, this series really has changed with the time ... in its tone and with the influence of social media.

It tackles all of that stuff head-on, how we still listen to this ever-present, often-negative voice of "all-knowing" anonymity on the internet. I loved working with Josh and Stephanie (Schwartz and Savage, the series' developers and executive producers) the first time around, so it was kind of a no-brainer for me to say "Yes" the second time around.

Do you enjoy doing a job that uses only your voice?

One-hundred percent! With Dax (Shepard, Bell's husband) doing his "Armchair Expert" podcast a couple of times a week, the ability to have a microphone at home is great. We also just started doing the stop-motion-animation series "Ultra City Smiths."

Doing voiceovers is something I love so much. It's quite thrilling to use only one tool to tell a story and influence the audience's emotional state, just having it be from the cadence and tone of your voice.

You and Dax also are about to host the NBC game show "Family Game Fight!" and be very active participants in it. Do you like being seen as yourself as much as, if not more than, fictional characters?

We've done some wild bits while doing game-playing at home, sitting in our living room ... and when we've nailed it, we've wondered where the camera was! We love interacting and playing off of each other, so the idea that other people might enjoy it as well is all the more reason for us to get it on the air.

Pro Football Hall of Fame Game kicks off NFL 2021

The parched, arid desert that is the football offseason thankfully comes to an end for NFL fans in the first week of August with the return of preseason action.

And that gets going Thursday, Aug. 5, on Fox, with the Pro Football Hall of Fame Game, which this year pits two storied franchises that have a long history as Ben Roethlisberger and the Pittsburgh Steelers face Dak Prescott and the Dallas Cowboys at Tom Benson Hall of Fame Stadium in Canton, Ohio.

Not only is this contest the kickoff to the preseason, it also stands as the opening event of Hall of Fame Weekend, a four-day celebration that culminates with the Induction Ceremony on Sunday, Aug. 8. This year's crop, as in years past, have connections to the teams on the field as two former Steelers, guard Alan Faneca and defensive back Charles Woodson, and one Cowboy, wide receiver Drew Pearson, will be entering the hallowed halls along with Pittsburgh sportswriter and scout Bill Nunn. Others to be enshrined are quarterback Peyton Manning, wide receiver Calvin Johnson, safety John Lynch and coach Tom Flores.

The Steelers and the Cowboys are no strangers to this particular event or to each other. Both teams have played in this game six times, each sporting 3-3 records at Canton dating back to 1963. They've also met 30 times in the regular season over the past 61 years, with the Cowboys winning 16 times.

But it is in the Super Bowl where these teams have a legitimate rivalry. Dallas and Pittsburgh have played each other for the league championship three times, in 1976, 1979 and 1996, with the Steelers holding a 2-1 edge. Super Bowl XIII in '79 is considered one of the greatest Super Bowls ever played as it featured 20 players, coaches and front-office personnel (including Pearson and Nunn) that would wind up in the Hall of Fame, an NFL record. That game was won by the Steelers 35-31 at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

Certainly, Thursday's exhibition contest doesn't carry the importance of a Super Bowl but it is significant in that it's the first Hall of Fame Game in two years after the 2020 event was canceled due to the pandemic. And more importantly, it means the curtain has risen on the 2021 season.

Jennifer Nettles went to Broadway by way of 'Chicago'

Q: I found it interesting that Jennifer Nettles was the star chosen to introduce the Broadway segment on this year's "A Capitol Fourth" special. Has she performed on Broadway? - Heather Ross, Kansas City, Mo.

A: She has, and it got a lot of attention at the time, given her well-known roots in country music. The Grammy-winning artist who attained fame as half of the duo Sugarland had a limited run as Roxie Hart in the popular musical "Chicago" in 2015, and she acknowledged her stage work (and what she has said is her lifelong love of theater) by performing "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'" from "Oklahoma!" on PBS' recent Fourth of July special. Also, her recently released album "Always Like New" draws from such stage classics as "My Fair Lady" and "Annie." Though she hasn't been back on the Great White Way regularly since her "Chicago" stint, Nettles has continued her acting pursuits. Besides starring in two NBC movies inspired by Dolly Parton's "Coat of Many Colors" song, she has appeared in the series "Underground" and "The Righteous Gemstones," and she also was in the Oscar-nominated film "Harriet."

Jennifer Nettles

Q: Having enjoyed Turner Classic Movies' festival of Elvis pictures, I'm wondering which ones were his first and last movies. - Richard Schyuler, via e-mail

A: The first was the 1956 Western "Love Me Tender," retitled from "The Reno Brothers" to match the name of Presley's legendary theme tune. Though his swan song as an actor was the 1969 drama "Change of Habit," his last feature film released was the 1972 documentary "Elvis on Tour" (which was included as part of the latest TCM tribute to him) After that, his remaining media appearances were in televised concert specials.

"Of Human Bondage" (1934) Davis plays cruel waitress Mildred, who coldly toys with an earnest admirer's (Leslie Howard) emotions, in this adaptation of the W. Somerset Maugham classic.

"Dangerous" (1935) Davis earned her first Academy Award as an actress whose drinking problem leads to trouble for her and others.

"The Petrified Forest" (1936) Working again with Leslie Howard, with Humphrey Bogart added, Davis stars in the Robert E. Sherwood play about crossed paths at a diner.

"Jezebel" (1938) Sort of a pre-"Gone With the Wind," this Davis staple saw her score her second Oscar as a willful Southern belle trying to win back her ex-fiance (Henry Fonda). The film is included in the day of Davis films that launches Turner Classic Movies annual "Summer Under the Stars" event Sunday, Aug. 1.

"Dark Victory" (1939) In one of Davis' most popular movies, she stars as a socialite who develops a brain tumor, then falls in love with the doctor (George Brent) who operates on her.

"The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex" (1939) Davis and Errol Flynn have the title roles in the tempestuous royal love story.

"The Letter" (1940) Another W. Somerset Maugham work was the source of Davis' turn as a murder suspect whose claim of self-defense might unravel because of a certain letter.

"The Little Foxes" (1941) Lillian Hellman's play centers on a wealthy Southern family – with Davis playing one member – beset by problems while also causing them for others.

"Now, Voyager" (1942) A spinster, portrayed by Davis, undergoes a radical transformation after spending time in a sanitarium.

"The Corn Is Green" (1945) A schoolteacher (Davis) becomes the patron of a promising student (John Dall) in the screen version of Emlyn Williams' play.

"A Stolen Life" (1946) Davis plays twin sisters, one of whom "steals" the other's identity – and husband (Glenn Ford) – after a drowning.

"All About Eve" (1950) "It's going to be a bumpy night," indeed. The classic backstage drama stars Davis as a veteran stage star targeted by an ambitious admirer (Anne Baxter).

"What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" (1962) Davis' later career got a big jolt from this legendary chiller, pairing her with Joan Crawford as former-actress siblings engaged in psychological terror.

"Hush ... Hush, Sweet Charlotte" (1964) The same team behind "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" furnished Davis with another tale of family strife turned horrifying.

"The Nanny" (1965) Davis is terrifically chilling as said minder of children, who matches wits with a savvy and suspicious youngster (William Dix).

"Death on the Nile" (1978) Agatha Christie's puzzler places Davis among the suspects during a cruise on which Hercule Poirot (Peter Ustinov) probes an heiress' murder.

"The Whales of August" (1987) Davis was near the end of her career when she worked with such other screen veterans as Lillian Gish and Vincent Price in the story of widowed sisters (Davis, Gish) and what may be their last Maine summer.
