Space based: Celebrities compete in simulated Mars mission

Ever since Amazon magnate Jeff Bezos' trip into space last year, there has been plenty of speculation about the rise of space tourism and which celebrities would be among the first to achieve liftoff. Well, for those wondering what it might look like to take things a step further and host a star-studded reality show in space, Fox has got you covered. The new series, "Stars on Mars," premieres Monday, June 5.

Equal parts Bravo and Star Trek, "Stars on Mars" is hosted by Capt. Kirk himself, William Shatner ("Star Trek: The Original Series"). While not actually filmed in outer space (give that a few more years yet), the unscripted series follows a group of celebrities who must spend an entire summer on a simulated, Mars-like planet together. Constantly assigned tasks by mission control (Shatner, of course), each famous person will need to compete in a series of challenges with the aim of "colonizing" their out-of-this-world surroundings.

There is a good mix of skills among the 12-person crew, including actors, athletes, public figures and philanthropists. Actors Ariel Winter ("Modern Family"), Tallulah Willis ("The Whole Ten Yards," 2004) and Christopher Mintz-Plasse ("Superbad," 2007), for example, will be joined by reality TV stars Porsha Williams Guobadia ("The Real Housewives of Atlanta") and Tom Schwartz ("Vanderpump Rules"), as well as singer/songwriter Tinashe (known for "2 On," featuring ScHoolboy Q). Meanwhile, rounding out the more athletic side are Tour de France multi-champion Lance Armstrong, UFC champion Ronda Rousey, former Seattle Seahawk Marshawn Lynch, former NFL cornerback Richard Sherman and Olympic figure skater Adam Rippon. Comedian Natasha Leggero ("Another Period") joins from a category of her very own.

In a news release, Fox executives laid out their hopes for the celebs on their "Martian" mission: "During their stay, they will be faced with authentic conditions that simulate life on Mars, and they must use their brains and brawn — or maybe just their stellar social skills — to outlast the competition and claim the title of 'brightest star in the galaxy.'"

This "analog mission," as NASA typically refers to these types of simulations, is filmed in the South Australian town of Coober Pedy, a red-sanded desert town nearly 850 kilometres north of Adelaide that is famous for its opals. And while each celebronaut voted "off the planet" during the competition does still need to return to the United States, there remains the small consolation that the flight home isn't quite as long as that from actual Mars.

Don't miss the launch of Shatner and crew's next mission as "Stars on Mars" begins Monday, June 5, on Fox.

Hit the pit: Pitmasters face off in Netflix competition

This summer, the stakes (and the steaks) are hotter than ever, as this fan-favorite cooking competition heads outside to hit the pit – the barbecue pit, that is – for Season 2 of "Barbecue Showdown," now available to stream on Netflix.

Just in time for grilling season, hosts Lyric Lewis ("A.P. Bio") and Rutledge Wood ("Lost in Transmission") return to the showdown's outdoor stage, inviting eight new chefs to compete for the title of American Barbecue Champion, in what Netflix calls a "fierce but friendly faceoff" between some of barbecue's very best.

The competing backyard barbecue enthusiasts, smoking connoisseurs and pitmasters range in specialty and experience level but share one thing in common: they all practise the art of "manning the grill," with skills honed sharper than a boning knife.

Challenges cover a variety of different cooking styles, forcing the chefs out of their comfort zones as temperatures rise in more ways than one. Adding pressure to the cookers, each task must be completed within a time frame that slices into the normal amount of time required to prepare and cook each given dish. There are also "surprise challenges," interrupting the ever-present need for chefs to maintain their ideal grill temperature, a job necessary to produce an evenly smoked and evenly textured slab of meat.

The completed dishes are then presented to a panel of celebrity chef judges, including barbecue restaurateur Kevin "Big Kev" Bludso ("Diners, Drive-ins and Dives") and seven-time barbecue champion Melissa Cookston ("Food Paradise"). Each episode, one chef is named "Star Pitmaster" by the judges, while another is eliminated from the game, narrowing the competition until only two remain for a flaming-hot grill-off featured in the finale.

Last season saw competitors cooking meals for 50 ravenous firefighters — choosing between exotic proteins in a dish featuring either iguana, raccoon or hare meat and creating epic, one-of-a-kind signature sandwiches. This second season features more unique challenges (and just as satisfying a winner), having been released just in time for the barbecue season on Sunday, May 28.

For a mouth-watering taste of well-done competition, both seasons of "Barbecue Showdown" are now available to stream on Netflix.

Swiatek looks to continue strong season at French Open

Going into the 2023 French Open, it's clear that 21-year-old Iga Swiatek has taken the tennis world by storm, rewriting history and quickly establishing herself as a fan favorite.

Born May 31, 2001, in Warsaw, Poland, Swiatek's first taste of Grand Slam success came in October 2020 when she won the prestigious French Open title. It wasn't just the victory that was impressive — it was how she did it, and whom she did it against.

Entering the tournament, Swiatek was ranked No. 54. Using her aggressive style and fearless approach, she defeated world No. 19 Marketa Vondrousova in the opening round, and followed it up in the fourth round by defeating world No. 2 Simona Halep, who was on a 17-match winning streak and was favored to win the tournament. Reaching the final, Swiatek defeated No. 6 Sofia Kenin, becoming the first Polish player, male or female, to win a Grand Slam singles title, and the lowest-ranked singles champion in French Open history.

Coming off a successful 2021 campaign that saw her enter the top 15 for the first time (she finished the season seeded at No. 4), she reached the semifinals at both the 2022 Adelaide International and 2022 Australian Open before winning the next six tournaments in a row. She finished the season with a wonlost record of 67-9, making it the most wins in a single season since Serena Williams accomplished the feat in 2013.

June 4 "Shiny Happy People: Duggar Family Secrets"

This limited docuseries exposes the truth beneath the wholesome Americana surface of one of reality tv's most famous mega-families, The Duggars, and the radically controversial organization behind them: The Institute in Basic Life Principles. A number of ex-IBLP survivors bravely come forward and reveal the abusive practices that kept them in a living nightmare.

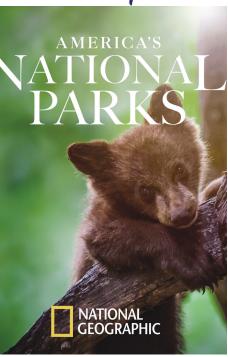

June 4 "Queen Sugar - Season 7"

This drama's seventh and final season picks up six months after the events of Season 5, with the Bordelons celebrating new beginnings as they continue to leave their mark on the community and honor the legacy of their family. Rutina Wesley, Kofi Siriboe, Omar J. Dorsey, Nicholas L. Ashe, Tina Lifford and Bianca Lawson star.

June 7 "Arnold"

Hot on the tail of the release of his new series "FUBAR," fans of the Governator can get even more "Arnold" when the new three-part biographical docuseries. Chronicling the life of former professional bodybuilder, actor, filmmaker, businessman and politician Arnold Schwarzeneg-ger, from his childhood in the Austrian countryside to the American limelight, "Arnold" features a series of candid interviews with Schwarzenegger, his friends, foes, co-stars and observers.

June 7 "America's National Parks - Season 2"

This National Geographic docuseries takes viewers on an extraordinary journey through world-famous and lesser-known national parks, revealing the diversity and natural wonder that can be found in America.

OF GHOSTS ON CBS, PARAMOUNT+

Q: With "Ghosts" such a hit now, what are your thoughts about having so much of your series work based in the supernatural?

A: I'm starting to wonder if I'm ever going to get a "regular" job, not playing somebody at least half dead, again. I guess I found my niche. I'm really excited to be in a genre kind of theme, as much as it's hopefully grounded and is this (premise) that we can all relate to as humans.

One of the things I get most excited about — and I was so fortunate with "iZombie" to have this - is to see people dressing up, getting lost in another world. I think some of the fans in this kind of theme are the most dedicated, creative, imaginable people out there. I feel really lucky that this world would take me back again.

Q: Were you a fan of the genre before you became so involved in it yourself?

A: I grew up in New Zealand, doing bit parts on all the shows that came out (there). We call ourselves the "Sword and Sandals Country"; we have "Hercules," "Xena," "The Lord of the Rings." I think I always grew up with an appreciation that as an actor, you get this chance to go into this other world, whatever that might mean. As much as I have been able to hopefully play some grounded versions, and some more heightened or stylized things, I kind of feel the best part of the job is being able to get in and dress up and become something that isn't just you every day ... the escapism that comes in a show like this, and the humor. I just feel like something that I want to (watch) at the end of the day is something that makes me laugh and something that kind of is a great escape from whatever the day may have been. The genre stuff has always been fun, but it's really at its peak right now. P12 Friday, June 2, 2023 I ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE I Clay Today

Tom Cruise tackles another 'Mission: Impossible'

Put Tom Cruise together with the title "Mission: Impossible," and it's not hard to know by now what to expect: a couple of hours of rip-roaring adventure.

As the seventh film in the franchise (based, of course, on the classic TV series) nears its summer release, CBS is taking that as a cue to show the fifth chapter, "Mission: Impossible - Rogue Nation," on Monday, June 5. Cruise returns as Impossible Missions Force agent Ethan Hunt, and even though the character's unit has been disbanded here, he's still up to his usual moments of derring-do.

Movies

12 Years a Slave ★★★★ (2013) Free black New Yorker Solomon Northup is kidnapped and sold into slavery in the South. BET Mon. 6 p.m.

21 Jump Street ★★★ (2012) Two cops working under cover at a high school must confront their teenage issues all over again. COM Sat. 6 p.m.

Along Came Jones ★★★ (1945) Cowboy (Gary Cooper) taken for outlaw, saved by woman sharpshooter (Loretta Young). TCM Sun. 10 p.m.

The 2015 release finds him tracking down a worldwide crime operation known as The Syndicate, with Jeremy Renner, Ving Rhames and Simon Pegg back on board from earlier installments as other operatives who remain his colleagues. Rebecca Ferguson signs up for duty for the first time as another Hunt ally, and she proved impressive enough to be called back to duty for more "Missions."

The itinerary encompasses Havana, Vienna and Casablanca among other locations as the team tries to stop the bad guys, with Sean Harris a very effective point person for the villains. Alec Baldwin also turns up in a key role, one he reprised in the subsequent "Mission: Impossible - Fallout" (which Rhames, Pegg and Ferguson also were back for) ... but it's no surprise that Cruise always is the centerpiece here, and the stunts he's so proud of doing himself certainly keep it that way.

The ultimate feat for him in "Rogue Nation" comes early, and it deservedly received huge attention at the time of the movie's theatrical run. It sees Hunt cling to the outside of an airplane while it's taking off and then is in flight, and anyone with a fear of heights certainly will be challenged to keep the pit of his or her stomach in order while watching the sequence. It surely will remain one of Cruise's best bits of bravado in the franchise.

celebrityq&a BY ADAM THOMLISON Celebrity Update: Michael Vartan

OF ALIAS ON ABC

Q: Is Michael Vartan still acting? I've kind of lost track of him since "Alias."

A: His central role as Michael Vaughn on "Alias" certainly led us to believe that Michael Vartan would continue to be a fixture on our TV screens after the ABC spy smash ended in 2006, and he was - just not on shows that were watched.

Actually, that's slightly unfair. Few of his more recent shows were true flops, they just suffered from being compared to "Alias," the sort of landmark show people talked about around the mythical water cooler.

His biggest post-"Alias" role was as part of the ensemble in the TNT medical drama "Hawthorne" alongside Jada Pinkett Smith ("Collateral," 2004). That show ran for three seasons (2009 to 2011), but never really attained hit status. A few years later, he was a main support in the E! drama "The Arrangement" (2017 to 2018).

His biggest role, however, was probably as a guest — he did a six-episode arc on the second season of the A&E hit "Bates Motel" in 2014.

Between these endeavors, he also dabbled with film, most notably as the love interest in the 2011 action flick "Colombiana."

realityty Seaside spectacle: HGTV's 'Battle on the Beach' returns

Beach bums be gone, for this summer the sand is set for battle. Season 3 of the competitive renovation show "Battle on the Beach" premieres Sunday, June 4, on HGTV – and this time, the renovators are taking on the beautiful beaches of Gulf Shores, Alabama.

As per previous seasons, three skilled teams of up-and-coming home renovators take on the massive responsibility of updating three beachfront properties top to bottom, gaining help along the way from returning design-experts-slash-hosts Ty Pennington ("Rock the Block"), Alison Victoria ("Windy City Rehab") and Taniya Nayak ("Build it Forward"), as they tackle big jobs with only a tight, $90,000 budget.

Unlike prior seasons, however, there will be one major difference in Season 3's competition: the homes will no longer be identical. While all three of the Gulf Shore properties feature two bedrooms and two bathrooms, one is 200 square feet larger than its companions. To decide who gets which unique location, the teams must compete head-to-head in a kickoff challenge that determines their fate in the competition. From there, weekly renovation challenges will take place across the three seaside homes, leading to a non-stop marathon of reno-jobs, paint swatches and sandy shoes.

This season, the "battle" begins in the kitchen, with dining room makeovers following suit.

Following episodes will feature living room, bedroom, bathroom and outdoor makeovers, ending in a complete-home overhaul. At the end of six weeks, judges Bryan and Sarah Baeumler ("Renovation Island") will join with a team of local real estate experts to determine which home is the most valuable post-renovation. Whichever beachside property proves to have the most successful transformation wins the "Battle on the Beach" and a $50,000 cash prize.

While it has yet to be revealed which mentors will be paired with whom, Season 3's teams have already been announced: Ryan and Kelsey Mansingh, a married couple from Uniontown, Ohio; friends Ashley Basnight and Steve Lewis of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; and buddies Ben Argall and Pete Meldrum of the Upper Peninsula, Michigan — all new to the Gulf Shores.

"9-1-1" is on the move for next season

Q: Why is "9-1-1" moving from Fox to ABC? — John Staples, via e-mail

A: Primarily, it has to do with economics and how those might or might not benefit each network. Though the rescue drama starring Angela Bassett and Peter Krause has been high-rated for Fox, the cost of making it has become that much higher as it approaches its seventh season, which diminishes the financial returns from it. As is commonly known, revenue for broadcasters has lessened in the streaming era, placing the price of a making a series (no matter how successful it is) under that much more scrutiny.

Also, Fox doesn't own the show in the case of "9-1-1," but ABC corporate cousin Disney does (via its 20th Television brand), signaling a synergy that gives the latter companies a vested interest in keeping the series going. Interestingly, Fox is continuing the spinoff "9-1-1: Lone Star," but the financial aspects are different for that program with it being newer.

BEST JUDY GARLAND MOVIES

"The Wizard of Oz" (1939): You can't do this list without this film. When 20th Century Fox wouldn't loan out Shirley Temple to play Dorothy, MGM called in its contract player Garland—and the rest is history, very literally. The fanciful fantasy remains a favorite of every generation, including newer ones. "Babes on Broadway" (1941): "Hey, let's put on a show!" That line was the basis for many a musical that Garland made with close friend Mickey Rooney, including this one about a charity show that their characters mount. "For Me and My Gal" (1942):

"For Me and My Gal" (1942):
A teaming of Garland and Gene Kelly only can be sensational, and this one is, as they play performing partners who might become more than that to each other.

"Meet Me in St. Louis" (1944): The title city is the setting – at least initially – for this classic musical about a family about to relocate to New York because of the patriarch's new job. Garland and Margaret O'Brien's adorable crooning of "Under the Bamboo Tree" is worth the figurative price of admission on its own.

"The Harvey Girls" (1946): A new restaurant's location prompts a train journey for Garland's character and others in another great MGM musical. "On the Atchison, Topeka and the Santa Fe" is a show-stopping number here.

"Easter Parade" (1948): The music of Irving Berlin is the engine that drives this picture ... which naturally tends to resurface every April. Garland, Fred Astaire and Ann Miller star as entertainers, and entertaining, they certainly are. "In the Good Old Summertime" (1949): A story that has serviced a number of movies – the one about two people who don't get along face-to-face, but are each other's secret pen pal – works in a very big way for Garland and Van Johnson here. Also seen in the last scene: a very young Liza Minnelli (Garland's daughter, of course).

"Summer Stock" (1950): Garland and Gene Kelly match talents again in a musical about a theater company that finds a creative home at the farm of Garland's character.

"A Star Is Born" (1954): One of the most accomplished performances of Garland's career marks this third screen version of a famous showbiz story, adding a strong musical element as the actress plays a rising talent whose career soars while that of the actor she loves (James Mason) enters a downward spiral. Among the great numbers is "The Man That Got Away." Turner Classic Movies (which runs the picture frequently) shows it Tuesday, June 6. "Gay Purr-ee" (1962): This animated feature (from the same company that was behind "Mr. Magoo") gets a big boost from having Garland's voice for the character Mewsette, a country cat who finds love and adventure in Paris
