

Marijuana on Metacom

Green Cross of Rhode Island opens, joining caregivers with patients

BY TED HAYES

thayes@eastbaynewspapers.com

Three months after he walked away from a plan to open a members-only medical marijuana "club" in Warren, Patrick Rimoshytus opened a modified version of his non-profit Green Cross of Rhode Island Monday, at 654 Metacom Ave.

In July, Mr. Rimoshytus, a retired Newport firefighter and medical marijuana patient, withdrew a request to modify the town's zoning to accommodate his business amid concern from police, Warren Town Council members and the public that patients would be using marijuana on the premises. He had planned to open the business in the former Nathaniel Porter Inn on Water Street.

On Monday, Mr. Rimoshytus said his new version of Green Cross is very similar to the concept of his original — to join medical marijuana patients and caregivers in a safe, private setting, and to educate Green Cross members on aspects of medical marijuana cultivation and use. That hasn't changed, he said. However, patients will not be allowed to use medical marijuana on the premises.

"That's correct," he said.

As to the liability and safety concerns that were raised when he and his attorney withdrew their application this summer, he said they were understandable:

"It was, definitely," he said. "The big problem was that I wanted to be able to let patients use medical marijuana here. The town was concerned that it was going to turn into a vape lounge. It's Patrick Rimoshytus (left) and partner Dan Barboza say education is one of the keys of their new non-profit medical marijuana venture. There will be no marijuana use on site, Mr. Rimoshytus said.

Attempted home invasion in Touisset

Police warning residents to be wary; still investigating

BY TED HAYES

thayes@eastbaynewspapers.com

Warren police want residents to be alert after two men posing as police officers allegedly tried to talk their way into a Touisset home Wednesday night.

At about 10:18 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 28, a 38 Shore Drive woman called officers to report that two men had just tried to get into her home.

She said the men, whom she did not recognize, identified themselves as Warren police officers. One at the front door held a gold badge against an exterior window as he identified himself, and another, who didn't talk, knocked at a side kitchen door.

The men told the woman that there were warrants for her arrest, and that DCYF was going to take her children. The men weren't in uniform, and they weren't driving a cruiser but a dark four-door sedan. The woman refused to allow them into the home, and dialed 911. As she delayed them, the man at the front door banged his shoulder against it to try to force it.

After she called 911, the men left in a dark four-door sedan, turning onto Chace Road.

The woman described the men as follows:

At the front door: A dark-skinned Caucasian, approximately six feet tall, medium build, with a goatee. Wearing a blue hooded New England Patriots sweatshirt.

Side door: Light-skinned to the town for a standard business license for a non-profit. He was approved.

“The town went by their rules and regulations, and I changed my business plan to be more consistent with those regulations,” he said.

Mr. Rimoshytus’s Green Cross is open to the public, and members — both caregivers (growers) and patients — pay a monthly fee to join. In return, Mr. Rimoshytus said he will put patients in contact with caregivers, and will offer his office for the two parties to meet and do business if they choose. Green Cross will also consult with residents who are interested in getting a medical marijuana card, he said, and the business will hold regular classes.

The first, an eight-week course on marijuana cultivation, starts Wednesday evening and is already sold out with 25 sign-ups. Future classes will include cooking with marijuana and extraction techniques, including making butter and THC oil.

For now, Mr. Rimoshytus that he is thinking local, and just wants to get his non-profit off the ground here. Long-term, he’s thinking bigger:

“I would like to set up offices in different communities, and I will entertain opening up a private location for a social club,” he said. “I’m not considering that right now. Right now, I want there to be education and a good atmosphere.”

Green Cross of Rhode Island is open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

D.C.Y.F. was contacted and confirmed that their agency did not have anyone assigned to respond to the home. However police wouldn’t say Saturday whether the woman was targeted due to a custody issue.

Deputy Warren Police Chief Joseph Loiselle said residents should be alert and contact the police if they see anyone suspicious. Also, they’re asking that Touisset residents keep an eye open for a dark four-door sedan that could be related to the incident.

Anyone with information should contact the Warren Police Department Detective Division at 245-1311.

What's good in Warren? Ask Podsnap

BY TED HAYES

thayes@eastbaynewspapers.com

RICHARD W. DIONNE JR.

You can find a little bit of everything at Podsnappery, a cozy little boutique and vintage shop that opened up earlier this year on Main Street: Old country records, tube radios, vintage clothing and jewelry, bikes, curios — even recommendations on where to eat and shop. Dave Podsnap, who owns Podsnappery and also fronts Sasquatch and the Sick-a-Billys, has turned into one of Warren's biggest boosters during his short tenure as a business owner here. He makes it a point to talk up Warren to every customer who walks in the door, and hands out a brochure ("not fancy but contains love") to all on which he lists his favorite businesses in town. Best fish taco? The Square Peg. Best whoopee pie? Nectar de la Vida. Dave, who lives in town with his wife Victoria, said it is tough to make a living as a small business owner. He decided to start handing out the brochure to let shoppers know how much variety there is in Warren. He tries not to be preachy, but isn't ashamed to preach Warren: "I'm trying to find the fine line of being annoying and supportive."

David Podsnap said he has always wanted to live in a town like Warren, and is happy in his small store two doors down from Warren Town Hall.

How'd you end up here? "I always wanted to live in the East Bay. I'm upscale but not high class. I'd been hanging out here for years; I need to be near water for some reason, and I just wanted to be somewhere gritty but safe and charming."

seeing everyone say 'Hi' to each other walking down the street, that doesn't happen in Rhode Island. This town is a community, not a scene."

here or there. Hopefully I can teach a few people what we have here. And maybe it will become infectious, where all the local businesses are sending people to each other.

Why'd you decide to open Podsnappery? "I was working at Traf-ford. One night I was sitting at the bar, twiddling my thumbs. I said, 'I'll open a store.' In my big heart and small brain, I decided to sell that idea to (my wife). So I brought her out for drinks, we talked about it and almost fought about it. I bought her more drinks. We talked more. We opened in November, next to Square Peg, then moved over here (just north of town hall)."

When did the idea for the cards come about? "I did it about an hour before Walkabout (last month). The idea's been in my head for months. I'm going to make T-shirts eventually, with #thistowniswonderful on them."

How's the shop? Any plans? "I didn't open this to be rich. But that's OK. I love being here. I would like to eventually become a cafe meets live music venue meets music store. I want to do a monthly acoustic in-store concert showcasing touring and local acts."

Why Podsnappery? "It's a Dickens character. We've repurposed the meaning to a warmer meaning; he was very smug and happy with-in himself, and blocked out all his problems. That's what I wanted for the shop; that you're super satisfied and happy when you're in here."

Why do it? "I'm obsessed with food and selling local stuff. A lot of people are afraid to shop local. But if everyone opened a local businesses, they would stop shopping in the big box stores and support local, because they would know what it takes to run a small business. Instead of scaring them, I'm pimping my local surroundings. I'm proud of it; I want this town to grow to the point where it's not so touristy, but people want to come here."

Until then? "Keep pushing Warren to anyone and everyone."

Local love affair? "I love the town. The town found me, and just How's the response been? "People like it. And (other owners) have thanked me for sending people

RIGHT: Podsnappery owner David Podsnap came up with the list at right just prior to the Warren Walkabout. He hands out copies to all his visitors, saying it's a great way to introduce visitors to things in town that they otherwise might have missed.

Steve's Auto Parts changes hands

After 38 years, Steve Sampson says it's time to hit the links; business under new ownership

BY TED HAYES

thayes@eastbaynewspapers.com

By the time you read this, Stephen Sampson will be on a golf course, testing the wind and looking ahead.

After 38 years in business, Mr. Sampson finally walked out of his Steve's Auto Parts for the last time Saturday. As of this week, the Metacom Avenue business is officially under new ownership, and Mr. Sampson said he and his wife are happy to start a new chapter of their lives.

"It was time," said Mr. Sampson, an avid golfer who owns a course-front condo in Port St. Lucie, Fla. "I'll miss all the customers and the friends I made here. It's been a long time."

Mr. Sampson is 64. He started his auto parts store in 1977, after working for several years at the former Shassetts Auto Parts in town. Steve's was originally housed on Market Street, just north of Malik's Liquors, but it moved to its current home on Metacom Avenue in 1977.

Business was always good, Mr. Sampson said, and stayed good even after Advance Auto Parts moved in just north of him a few years ago. The key to staying strong and viable, he said, was his service and his many years in business. Connections and steady customers are everything, he said.

"You build up" a good clientele and loyal customers, he said, and that's what sustains you.

Mr. Sampson sold the business to Artie and Maria Viera, who officially took over on Sunday, Nov. 1. They'll continue to run it as is, with help from Mr. Sampson's long-time employee and friend, Ron Silva.

"It's been a great run," Mr. Sampson said. "We've been very lucky to get the support we've gotten over the years. I'm thankful for it, but I'm looking forward to getting away."

SOME LIFESTYLE TIPS FOR GOOD DENTAL HEALTH

Q: What are some lifestyle tips for good oral health?

A: Obviously, brushing and flossing and visiting the dentist regularly are the fundamental steps that will help you keep a healthy mouth and teeth. But there are indeed general lifestyle steps you can take that will improve your odds on keeping a healthy mouth and teeth.

First, avoid tobacco in any of its forms. The risks that smoking tobacco poses to your overall health are well known. They include gum disease and oral cancer. Chewing tobacco is no better. Also, be moderate in your consumption of alcohol. Excessive use of alcohol also puts you at increased risk for oral and throat cancer. And alcohol and tobacco together increase the likelihood even further. They are the primary risk factors for these kinds of cancer. You should also make it a point to drink fluoridated water and use fluori-dated toothpaste. Fluoride helps protect against tooth decay, regardless of your age.

In addition to the brushing and flossing mentioned at the outset, keep dental care equipment and supplies at the workplace. If you can brush and floss after a workday lunch, so much the better. As to the regular dental visits, twice in a 12-month period is what's recommended. And that's true for denture wearers as well. Talk with your dentist about other every-day steps you can take to keep your mouth healthy.

No rush for manager

Members of the Warren Town Council are being very deliberative as they search for a replacement for former town manager Thomas Gordon. That is the correct course; they should take all the time they need.

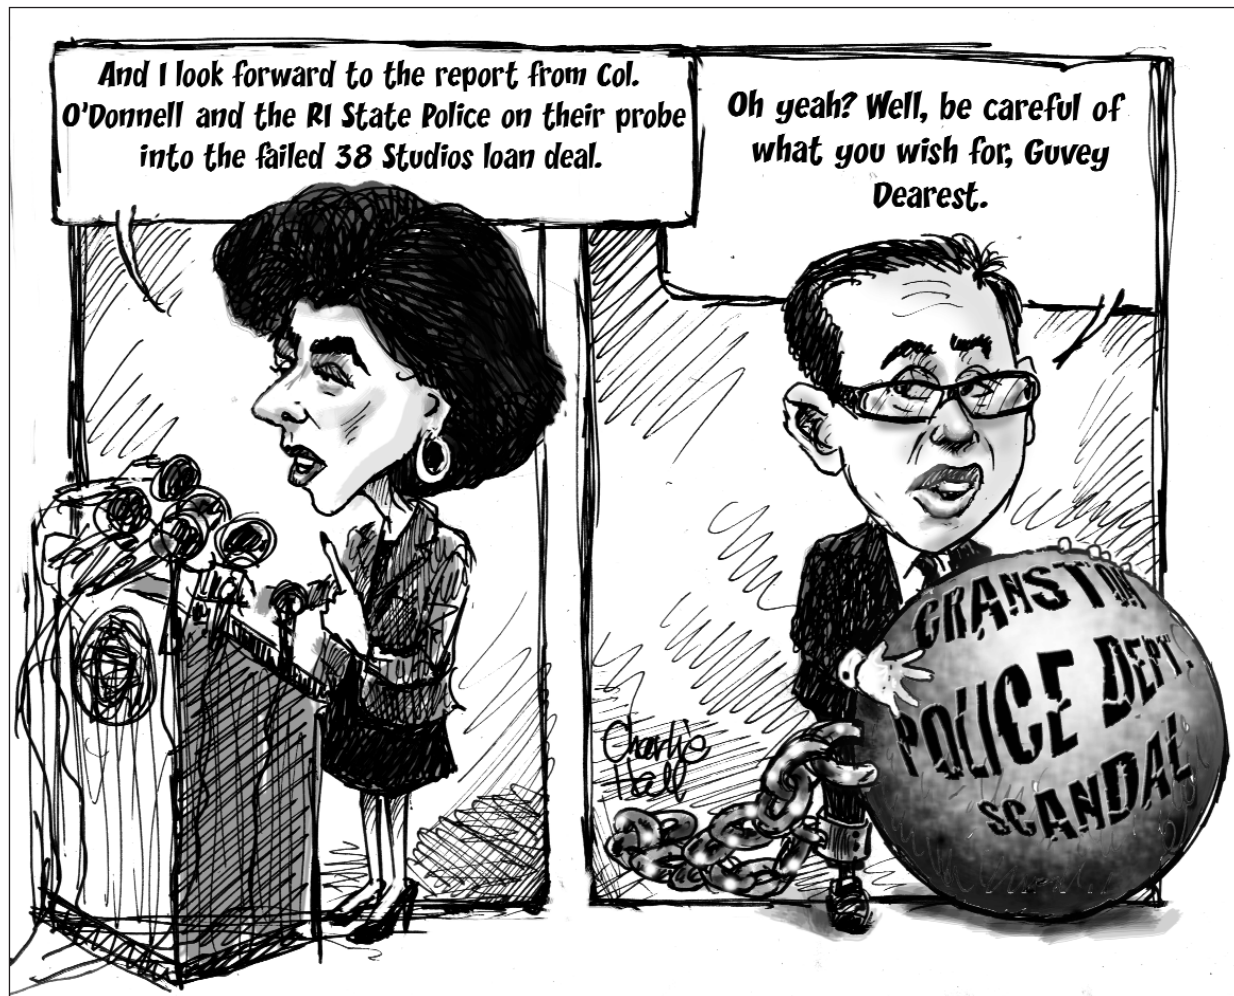

Finding a replacement for Mr. Gordon shouldn't be a simple case of finding a good administrator; what Warren needs is a visionary who can help the town evolve in a time of significant change. With its growing fiscal concerns, declining business ownership and rise in the amount of rental stock owned by absentee landlords, the town is in danger of declines in public services, pride and entrepreneurialism. While the town has its share of troubles, the manager vacancy is also a golden opportunity. Warren is ripe for leadership with the vision to help it evolve successfully, focusing on its strengths and drawing new residents, and businesses, here.

The town council has just now put out a request for proposals from recruitment firms. The idea is that a firm, if one is chosen, will help councilors weed through hundreds of resumes to find that special, visionary leader. If it takes a year, that will be fine. Most important now is finding someone who can work with Warren's many different personalities to make the most of the many things that make the town unique — its people, location, architecture and deeply rooted sense of community.

WaterRower and neighbors

As WaterRower begins to build its long-awaited offices on Metacom Avenue, we hope that executives and residents on Adams Lane can come to some sort of agreement that will (1) satisfy the neighbors and (2) allow WaterRower to stay and grow in Warren. The town needs both.

The fight over Adams Lane has been going on in one form or another for nearly five years. The road's residents have a right to feel secure in their homes, but WaterRower should be allowed to move ahead with its approved plans without delay. Its progress to this point has already been impeded by cumbersome meetings, town requirements, flat out mistakes in the advertising and organization of public meetings, and other delays. Before neighbors head to court, let us hope talk, compromise and understanding can enter the equation and that the two sides sit down and finally, talk.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Neighbor's concerns don't hold water

To the editor:

The letter from Ms. Dana Warren of Adams Lane published in your Oct. 28 edition of the Warren Times-Gazette seriously misrepresents the long, costly and arduous process which WaterRower has gone through to attain Final Planning approval.

We have passed through many, many levels of local and state government approval including four town Planning Board meetings, two Technical Review Committee meetings, two Zoning Board meetings and one Town Council meeting. All of these meetings were open to the public and, although all were not formally public hearings, public comments were allowed at all of these meetings, at which Ms. Warren and others were able to have their say. And did. Except in the case of last Monday's Planning Board Meeting, where Ms. Warren chose not to speak.

We should applaud the members of these volunteer boards, made up of a cross section of our community and donating their time selflessly to guarantee the oversight of the townsfolk to projects such as ours. All those involved in these forums, who are aware of the process and procedures that WaterRower has adhered to, will confirm that the public has had ample opportunity to speak on this project. And have.

The fact that the weight of evidence for the project has vastly outweighed any arguments against it may disappoint Ms. Warren, but her voice has certainly been heard.

Adams Lane is an historic easement dating from the 1870s giving holders the right of passage over WaterRower-owned land to Metacom Avenue. There is no determination in the position of the easement, nor is there any guarantee of the quality of the easement, nor obligation for the land owner or the town to maintain it. It is simply a right to pass which the neighbors were aware of when they purchased their properties. Notably, such an arrangement would be impossible today given modern zoning ordinances.

From its inception our campus expansion project has given high priority to providing the neighbors with an easement of far greater utility than what they currently have. A professionally engineered roadway, with drainage and run-off filtration meeting or exceeding modern standards, providing them with autonomous access to their properties, separated from WaterRower traffic, commercial buildings and car parks. The design has been professionally certified by our engineering consultants, reviewed and approved by objective Engineers hired by the Town and approved at various levels by both RI Department of Environmental Management and RI Department of Transport engineers. Even the neighbors' engineering adviser (who was never professionally retained) has discussed and agreed to the design. This offer they have rejected.

Finally, contrary to assertions, WaterRower is not a developer destined to profit from this plan. WaterRower is a manufacturer with more than 25 years tenure in the town. We have grown steadily over this time and now employ 140 people from the region and export our products across the globe. If profit was our primary motivator, we would have left Warren long ago. We have not. Instead we have grown to appreciate the importance of businesses like ours to the local community, and we take that responsibility very seriously. Our campus development represents a very large investment in our Town from which we hope everyone, our employees, our suppliers, our customers, the town and the community will all profit.

100 YEARS AGO

Taken from the pages of the Warren and Barrington Gazette this week in November 1915:

Speeding auto

William T. Bull, Ralph O'Connell, Edward Fordan and Chester P. Arnold, all of Newport, had a narrow escape from death shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday night when an automobile racing car in which they were speeding struck a coal cart owned by Joseph A. Bowen of Fall River and turned turtle in a ditch not far from Butterworth's corners. The four men were badly hurt. According to a story told Chief of Police Walsh by Bull, he was operating the machine, a 40-horsepower Chalmers racer and was traveling at the rate of 45 miles an hour at the time of the accident. One man sat in the seat with Bull, the driver, and the other two were riding on the running board on each side of the car.

Worms

There is no reason for the disagreeable and fretful nature of many children. Think of the unrest when the child's body is possessed by tiny worms sapping its vitality and clogging its functions. Whatever may be the cause — "that children have worms is a fact." Your child's peevishness and irritability has a cause. Give Kickapoo Worm Killer a chance and if worms are there this humanly harmless remedy will eliminate the annoying parasites. 25c. a box.

Hallowe'en, 1915

Hallowe'en was observed in this town in a fitting manner Saturday afternoon and evening. At the home of Mrs. Arthur M. McCaw on Campbell street a number of friends gathered and were entertained at tea by Mrs. McCaw and her mother. She was attired in the garb of a ghost. The room was handsomely decorated with autumn leaves, pumpkins and other decorations appropriate to the occasion. The dining room was also decorated with miniature pumpkins, witches and black cats while the table was neatly arranged with favors. Games were played and a collation, consisting of salads and ices was served.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thank you, customers, for your support

To the editor:

Thirty-eight years ago I opened Steve's Auto Parts. Four months later, I hired Ron Silva. Together we built something special, a small business, in a small town, that is still going strong today.

Customer service, competitive pricing, and a thorough knowledge of the automotive field were our main priorities. But it was you, the customer, who made us successful. Your loyalty, support and friendships were what made it all happen, and for that I will be forever grateful.

Approximately one year ago my wife Sharon and I decided it was time to sell the business and retire. In selling my primary concern was the customer. Someone had to be found that possessed the experience and knowledge to continue to service you in the manner in which you are accustomed and deserve.

Fortunately, I found the perfect fit. Artie and Maria Viera have purchased my company. On November 1, a new era will begin. Artie, who has been in the automotive business for over 26 years has decided to open his own company. He has reassured me that the new company will be business as usual and that Ron Silva will retain his position.

As for me, I consider myself very fortunate to have met so many wonderful people and to have made so many lasting friendships. Thank you for your continued support. I thank Ron Silva for his 38 years of service. Our success would never have happened without Ron.

I wish everyone good luck and I hope you all have a lifetime of good health and happiness.

Veterans' Day ceremonies next week

A "Changing of the Guard" will take place at the annual Veterans' Day ceremony next Wednesday, Nov. 11, when the town's older veterans pass the torch to veterans of Iraq, Afghanistan and the first Gulf War.

Long hosted by the Warren Association of Vietnam Veterans, the annual Veterans' Day commemoration will be turned over to the town's newest veterans, in ceremonies set for 11 a.m. on the Town Common.

Dave McCarthy, a co-founder of the Vietnam veterans group, will open the ceremony and then pass the duties of master of ceremonies to National Guard Lt. Col. (Ret.) John Bento, who served tours in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Col. Bento will introduce Army Lt. Col. Johann Gomez as the guest speaker. Col. Gomez served two tours in Iraq, where he earned two Bronze stars, a Meritorious Service Medal, the Army Commendation Medal, two Iraqi Campaign medals, the National Defense Medal and the Combat Infantry Badge.

Col. Gomez is a graduate of Rhode Island College, and holds a masters degree from the University of Maryland. He is also a graduate of the Command General Staff College, and currently serves in the Army Reserves as a battalion commander with the 104th Division.

In civilian life, he is a supply chain manager at Raytheon Integrated Defense Systems.

The town's veterans of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom (Afghanistan) are urged to attend the ceremony, along with Operation Desert Storm veterans. Roles will be given to OIF, OEF and ODS veterans who wish to participate in the ceremony.

A collation will follow the ceremony in the Methodist Church, on the Church Street side of the Town Common. Everyone is invited.

The Afghanistan and Gulf War I and II veterans will be assisted this Veterans' Day — and in the future — by the Vietnam veterans, along with Warren Unit #11 of the American Legion Auxiliary, American Legion Post 104 of Warren, the Warren Veterans Honor Roll Committee, the Kickemuit Grange, and the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

The Colors will be presented by Boy Scout Troop 25 of Warren.

Dignitaries expected to attend include state Sen. Walter S. Felag Jr., state Rep. Jan Malik and Town Council members.

NEWS BRIEF

Possible threat against building official

Police are investigating a possible threat made to Warren's building official, Gareth Eames. On Thursday, Oct. 29, police received a call from Mr. Eames' office regarding a possible threat made by a Child Street man with whom he had been in contact over a housing issue. The man had been complaining for months that his landlord was not fixing a heating issue in his apartment. And while Mr. Eames said he was looking into the complaint and had indications that the landlord was taking steps to correct the issue, the man "was not satisfied" with Mr. Eames' update and allegedly threatened him with bodily harm. Deputy Warren Police Chief Joseph Loiseau said police are still investigating and have not levied charges yet. Threatening a public official is a felony.

Sparky and Rhonda Rucker sing songs and tell stories from the American folk tradition, including a variety of old-time blues, slave songs, Appalachian music, spirituals, Civil War music, railroad songs and their own original compositions.

Ruckers to perform at Church Street Coffeehouse

Sparky and Rhonda Rucker will perform on Saturday, Nov. 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Church Street Coffeehouse in the lower level of the First United Methodist Church, 25 Church St.

Sparky and Rhonda perform throughout the United States, as well as overseas, singing songs and telling stories from the American folk tradition.

Sparky has been performing for over 40 years and is internationally recognized as a leading folklorist, musician, historian, storyteller and author. He accompanies himself with finger-style picking and bottleneck blues guitar, banjo and spoons.

Rhonda is a musician, children's author, storyteller and songwriter. Her blues-style harmonica, piano, old-time banjo and bones add musical versatility to their performances.

The Ruckers deliver an uplifting presentation of toe-tapping music spiced with humor, history and tall tales. They take their audience on an educational journey that ranges from poignant stories of slavery and war to the union and Civil Rights movements. Their music includes a variety of old-time blues, slave songs, Appalachian music, spirituals, Civil War music, railroad songs and their own original compositions.

Tickets are $12 at the door and refreshments are $2 more. Most major credit cards are accepted and doors open at 7. This is your only opportunity to see them in Rhode Island. The coffeehouse is a smoke- and alcohol-free venue.

Audubon has a carving exposition, Vets' Day events, bird biology, more

Celebrate the splendor of autumn at the Audubon Society of Rhode Island's Environmental Education Center at 1401 Hope St. on the Bristol/Warren town line.

The center features a life-sized model of a Right Whale, harbor seal display, marine and freshwater aquarium exhibits, tide pool tank, along with trails and a boardwalk to the bay on the 28-acre wildlife refuge. The center is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The usual admission fee is $6 for adults, $5 for seniors and $4 for children 4 to 12 years (under 4 are free). However, it is waived on the first Saturday of each month for

Free Family Fun Day courtesy of a grant from the Citizens Bank Foundation. (Except in November, when it will be postponed until Nov. 14 due to the Bird and Wildlife Carving Exposition.)

For more information, call 245-7500 or visit www.asriec.org. To register for programs call 949-5454, ext. 0, or register online at www.asri.org.

■ Animal Tales are on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 5 and 6, with "Can I Come Too?" by Brian Patten and Nicola Bayley from 10 to 11 a.m. Children ages 3 to 5 enjoy a story with a nature lesson followed by a craft. Often a live animal comes to visit! Adults must accompany children. The fee is $7 for children; $5 for member children. Space is limited; register online.

■ A mid-autumn exploration is on Friday, Nov. 6, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Audubon's Emilie Ruecker Wildlife Refuge, Seapowet Avenue, Tiverton. The refuge offers forest, saltmarsh and bay habitats that can be covered in a short amount of time on excellent trails. Dress for changeable weather and occasional wet footing on this low-tide exploration for wading birds and other wildlife.

Join Scott Ruhren, director of conservation, for an introduction to this coastal refuge. The walk is for ages 5 and older. It is $14; $10 members. Register online.

■ The annual Bird and Wildlife

The annual Bird and Wildlife Carving Exposition is on Saturday and Sunday at the Audubon center. Pictured is a burrowing owl by master carver and falconer Al Jordan. See carvings by 17 award-winning artists from around New England and the Northeast.

HAPPINESS IS... the lowest-priced plans with the best coverage.

Carving Exposition is on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 7 and 8, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Over 17 acclaimed and award-winning artists from around New England and the Northeast will exhibit their incredibly life-like carvings of birds and other wildlife throughout the facility. New York carver and falconer Al Jordan, recipient of more than 25 Best of Show awards nationally, will exhibit his carvings.

Carving demonstrations will be held. A wide selection of pieces ranging from beautiful hand-carved feather pins to larger works valued from the hundreds into the thousands of dollars will be offered for sale. Carvings by various artists also will be raffled off.

Admission is $5 per person.

■ A sea glass jewelry and ornaments workshop for adults is from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 7. Create a beautiful pendant or holiday ornament with sea glass found on local beaches. Learn how to choose the right piece of glass and transform it using quick and easy wire wrapping techniques. The program includes all materials; but, if you found something special on the beach, bring it.

Registration is required as space is limited to 12 participants. The fee is $35 ($30 members). The workshop will be offered again on Saturday, Nov. 21. Register online.

■ An Author Meet and Greet for adults is on Saturday, Nov. 7, from 3 to 4 p.m. with Mike Freeman. He will read from "Neither Mountain Nor River: Fathers, Sons, and an Unsettled Faith," reflecting on parenting, mortality and how nature strengthens family relationships while raising unsettling spiritual questions.

Suddenly a stay-at-home parent in New England, after living in Alaska for 10 years, he uses the bond formed with his father through nature to try and navigate his own parenting of two daughters, one of whom has severe autism. Closing chapters are set in Rhode Island. No registration necessary. The talk is free.

■ "Fairy Houses and Gnome Homes" is on Sunday, Nov. 8, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. for ages 5 and older.

Use natural materials such as shells, seeds, moss and stones to create an enchanting home for magical guests. Fairy houses and gnome homes make a unique holiday or winter decoration and are great for creative play. Come dressed in your fairy or gnome costume.

The cost is $14 per child; $10 for member children. All materials are included. Advance registration is required as space is limited. Adults must attend with children. Register online. A second workshop will take place on Sunday, Nov. 22.

■ Bird biology and field excursions for adults are planned with Charles Clarkson, Ph.D., at the education center. Learn everything you ever wanted to know about our amazing feathered friends from the Audubon Society of Rhode Island board member and professional ornithologist.

Classes will be taught in a manner that is similar to a university course. In-class instruction and guided field trips to key birding destinations are included. Come fill a notebook with information or simply listen.

Part I is "Birding: The Next Step" on Tuesdays, Nov. 10 to Dec. 15, from 6:30 to 8 p.m., with one of the sessions on a Saturday morning. The basics of bird evolution, the dynamics of bird flight, how birds survive in extreme environments and avian architecture will be covered. Two weekend field trips will be arranged.

Part II is "Birding: Taking Flight" on Tuesdays, Jan. 12 to Feb. 16, from 6:30 to 8 p.m., with one of the sessions on a Saturday morning. It's a deeper exploration of everything bird, from avian anatomy and physiology to the dynamics of migration, the newest technologies in ornithology and how birds cope with a changing climate. Two weekend field trips will be arranged.

The fee per session is $150; $125 members. Register online at www.asri.org.

■ Veterans' Day nature activities for all ages are on Wednesday, Nov. 11, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Discover the natural world with fun-

A Harvest Bazaar is on Thursday, Nov. 5, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and on Friday, Nov. 6, from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Warren Senior Center, 20 Libby lane.

There will be Christmas and craft tables, handmade items, second-hand treasure table, assorted jewelry, raffles, homemade baked goods and jam, and much more. All proceeds support the programs at the senior center.

Try Zumba classes and support animal shelter

Zumba, a Latin-inspired cardio workout, is offered at 426 Fitness for free on Thursday nights to raise funds for the Warren Animal Shelter. Non-members and members are welcome at 7 p.m. on Thursdays at the fitness center at 426 Metacom Ave. in the Parker Mill.

Donations are collected during the free classes and go toward improvements to the shelter and day-to-day operations. For more information, call Mark Lombardi at 247-7440.

Acoustic open mic at Coffee Depot on Fridays

An acoustic open mic is on most Fridays (except holiday weekends) from 7 to 10 p.m. at The Coffee Depot, 501 Main St. Open mic starts at 7 p.m.

Featured artists perform from 8 to 8:40 p.m., followed by open mic until 9:45. Bring a non-perishable food donation to benefit the food pantry at the Women's Resource Center in Warren.

Lion's Den is open Wednesday, Saturday

The Lion's Den Thrift Shop at 16 Miller St. is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

There is always a great selection of brand-name clothing, shoes and jeans. Dropoff hours are during regular hours.

Harvest Happening is at St. Alexander's

St. Alexander Church, 221 Main St., will host a Harvest Happening, "Fall into Fun," on Saturday, Nov. 7, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 8, from 10 a.m. to noon.

There will be a gift basket bonanza, knitted items, jewelry, handcrafted holiday ornaments and centerpieces, and homemade baked goods. Children's activities will include cupcake decorating and crafts.

A continental breakfast is available both days and the Italian Kitchen will serve homemade soup and sandwiches.

Elks and Broadway Merrill raffles return

Once again, the Bristol County Elks will hold their fall to winter raffles at the Broadway Merrill to raise funds for the lodge's charitable causes.

Raffles are open to the public from 2 to 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays through Dec. 19 at the Broadway Merrill, 535 North Broadway, East Providence. There are chances to win great prizes like meat trays, giant lobsters, flat screen TVs, generators and cash.

Funds raised benefit the community, such as the Bristol Elks East Bay Cares Food Distribution Program, scholarships, veterans and many other causes.

Turkey Roll Monday at Rough and Ready Co. 5

The Rough and Ready Volunteer Fire Co. 5 will hold its annual Turkey Roll on Monday, Nov. 9, at 6:30 p.m. at the fire station at 342 Metacom Ave. Refreshments will be available.

There also will be a raffle for a complete dinner basket. The winner will be drawn at the end of the turkey roll.

Masonic Lodge to meet on Tuesday

Washington Lodge #3, Free & Accepted Masons, meets the second Tuesday of the month, Nov. 10, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the historic Masonic Temple at 39 Baker St. Washington Lodge is the first Lodge chartered by the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island.

The Temple was built during the Early Republican era with beams salvaged from British frigates that were sunk in Newport Harbor. The Lodge room is decorated in Egyptian motif in harmony with Masonic principles.

Lions Club meetings; new members welcome

Are you looking to give back to the community? The Bristol County Lions meet the first and third Wednesdays of the month. For more information, call 595-7031.

Annual bazaar and pie sale at St. Thomas'

St. Thomas the Apostle parish will hold its annual bazaar, country store and pie sale on Saturday, Nov. 14, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 15, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the church at 500 Metacom Ave.

Homemade crafts, holiday items and preserves will be offered as well as a wide assortment of homemade pies. Malassadas and sandwiches also will be sold.

Old-fashioned ham and bean supper coming up

The First United Methodist Church of Warren/Bristol will hold its annual, old-fashioned ham and bean supper on Saturday, Nov. 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the church at 25 Church St.

The menu includes baked ham, homemade Boston-style baked beans, brown bread, potato salad, coleslaw and assorted homemade desserts.

Tickets are $12 for adults and $7 for children 12 and under. Children under 5 are free. For tickets and more information, call Nancy Watson at 253-4931 or Cindy Saksena at 245-5756. Tickets are available at the door on a first come, first served basis. Eat at the church or take it to go.

Retired teachers group planning fall luncheon

The East Bay Retired Teachers Association is planning a fall luncheon on Thursday, Nov. 19, at The Wharf Tavern in Warren. The meeting will convene at 11 a.m.

Following the meeting, there will be a raffle to benefit scholarships for high school seniors from the East Bay area.

The cost of the luncheon is $20 and the selections are turkey or baked scrod. Send a check and selection to Cheryl Camara, 144 Dean St., Seekonk, MA 02771, by Nov. 12.

The project this time is providing Christmas stockings for the military that will include health and beauty products, writing materials, candy, non-perishable foods, etc. The stockings must be sealed shut. Remember to bring raffle items as this is how they provide scholarships for students.

Hospice at VNS has a program and video

November is National Hospice and Palliative Care Month, so Hospice at Visiting Nurse Services (VNS) of Newport and Bristol Counties is offering workshops to discuss end-of-life issues.

Through the use of a video and a program called "Have You Had the Conversation Yet?," Hospice hopes to educate people about the importance of end-of-life planning. Staff and trained volunteers are offering the program to area churches, libraries and service organizations.

Hospice is not a place. Hospice and palliative care programs provide pain management, symptom control, psychosocial support, and spiritual care to patients and their families when a cure is not possible.

"Every year, nearly 1.6 million people living with a life-limiting illness receive care from hospice and palliative care providers in this country," said J. Donald Schumacher, president and CEO of the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization. "These highly-trained professionals ensure that patients and families find dignity, respect and love during life's most difficult journey."

filled family activities including crafts, animal interviews, nature stories and more. No registration is required. Activities are free with admission.

— 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.: Nature craft table

— 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.: Nature story

— 11 a.m.: Nature walk (weather permitting)

— 2 p.m.: Animal interview

■ Junior Naturalists for home-schooled kids ages 6 to 12 meets each month. The program introduces a different topic each time, with hands-on experiments and nature-based activities designed to foster a love of the natural world.

The topic this month is "Eco-Engineers" from 10 to 11 a.m. on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 12 and 13. Classes are limited to 15 children, so register online. An adult must attend with the child. The cost is $7 per child; $5 member children.

■ "Woodland Creatures Needle Felting" for adults is on Thursdays, Nov. 12 and 19, from 6 to 8 p.m. Join Audubon educator and fiber artist Tala Wunderler-Selby and learn how to make your favorite woodland animals from wool.

Participants will sculpt their own small animal using the technique of needle felting, which involves using a notched needle to "stab" fluffy, colorful wool until it becomes solid. The two-session class is for beginners. All materials are included. The cost is $60; $55 members.

■ "Drawing with Fire," an art exhibit, is open through Dec. 31, at the center during regular hours. It is free with admission. Cate McCauley is a Rhode Island pyrographic artist whose illustrations are exhibited in museums, galleries and art shows across the state. Her work is meticulously hand-burned on paper using heated metal pens, a rare technique that combines sharp detail with the warmth of sepia tones.

'Neighborhood Watch' opens Nov. 13 at 2nd Story

2nd Story Theatre, under the artistic direction of Ed Shea, is presenting its 2015-16 season at the theatre at 28 Market St.

UpStage

"Neighborhood Watch" by Alan Ayckbourn is from Nov. 13 to Dec. 6. When anxious residents of Bluebell Hill, alarmed by roving inner city youths, take the law into their own hands, their ad hoc vigilante movement takes an absurdly tragic-comic turn. There is no performance on Thanksgiving, Thursday, Nov. 26.

"Hysteria" by Terry Johnson is from Jan. 22 to Feb. 14. Egos run amuck when Sigmund Freud and Salvador Dali meet at the famed psychoanalyst's home. Add the "id" of a semi-clad, rain-soaked girl, and clever comedy morphs into a brilliant farce that will light up the mind.

"Speed the Plow" by David Mamet is from March 11 to April 3. This wickedly funny, razor-sharp satire of the ethics of the film industry is an on-the-money send-up of Hollywood amorality at its cold-blooded worst. Or best?

"Seascape" by Edward Albee is from April 29 to May 22. The solitude of a couple lounging by the dunes is disrupted by the unnerving intrusion of a pair of sea creatures seeking advice on taking the evolutionary leap to dry land.

Special 'Story Theater'

A special holiday event, "Story Theater" by Paul Sills, will be presented DownStage from Nov. 20 to Dec. 20. Local musical treasures, Atwater-Donnelly, will join a talented troupe of improvisers in bringing to life an imaginative celebration of classic storytelling through fairy tales and fables from The Brothers Grimm and Aesop.

Whether you're 8 or 80, young-of-body or young-at-heart, it's a perfect holiday treat. There is no performance on Thanksgiving, Thursday, Nov. 26.

Tickets

Performances are at 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays to Saturdays and at 2:30 p.m. on Sundays.

Tickets are $10 for previews (the first three performances of each production only). Regular tickets are $30; $20 for those age 21 and under. For tickets and information on all shows, e-mail boxoffice@2ndstorytheatre.com, call 247-4200 or visit www.2ndstorytheatre.com.

Bristol County Elks offering several scholarship programs

Nationally, the Elks will award 20 top scholarships ranging from $20,000 to $50,000. Four Rhode Island seniors selected from the applications submitted by R.I. students will definitely receive a $4,000 scholarship.

Additionally, Rhode Island seniors who complete a Most Valuable Student (MVS) application become eligible for one of 43 R.I. State Elks Association Scholarships ranging from $800 to $1,100.

And, one senior from Mt. Hope and Barrington high schools, St. Andrew's and Barrington Christian Academy will receive a one-time $800 scholarship awarded by the Bristol County Elks Lodge. The recipient will be selected from among applications submitted by the students in the individual schools.

The MVS scholarship is available to high school seniors who are United States citizens. Applicants do not need to be related to a member of the Elks.

Applicants are judged on scholarship, leadership and financial need. Barrington and Mt. Hope high school seniors should return completed applications to their guidance offices no later than Dec. 4. All others must turn in the application to the nearest Elks Lodge no later than Dec. 4.

For complete MVS scholarship contest details and to download the application, visit www.elks.org/enf/scholars or call Bristol Elks Lodge scholarship Chairman Dick Devault at 573-9453.

GRADUATES

MARIA BRIDGETTE SCIUCHETTI received a doctor of philosophy degree in special education from the University of Texas at Austin in August. She received the Special Education Leadership Fellowship, participated in and led various research projects, and supervised pre-service teachers. She also served as an educational consultant for a local disability rights advocacy group assisting in cases involving students with disabilities. She has presented at national and international conferences. A graduate of Our Lady of Fatima High School, she received a bachelor's degree in international business and a master of arts in teaching from Roger Williams University, and a master of education in special education from Rhode Island College. Her current research explores academic and behavioral practices for students who exhibit challenging behaviors and the preparedness of pre-service teachers to meet the needs of students with challenging behaviors. Mrs. Sciuchetti has accepted a position as assistant professor in the Department of Special Education at Ball State University. The daughter of Maria Gomes of Warren, she lives in Muncie, Ind., with her husband, Mark, and daughters Éva and Bella.

SENIORS

Harvest bazaar and adult coloring this week

The Warren Senior Center, 20 Libby Lane, is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday to Friday and has a variety of ongoing activities. For more information, or to sign up for programs, call Betty at 247-1930.

A Harvest Bazaar is on Thursday, Nov. 5, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and on Friday, Nov. 6, from 9:30 a.m. to noon. See the story in Around Town on page 11.

Adult coloring is on Friday, Nov. 6, at 1 p.m. Remember the fun of coloring as a child? Recapture the enjoyment you felt at a new adult coloring class at the center. Bring your own coloring tools and books or try theirs. They have a variety of one-sided pages for you to choose from including Christmas, stained glass, paisleys and butterflies at just $1 a page. All skill levels are welcome. Sign up with Betty.

A blood pressure check is from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10, thanks to Grace Barker Nursing Center and The Willows.

The senior center and Warren Cafe will be closed on Veterans' Day, Wednesday, Nov. 11.

"AARP — We need to talk" is on Thursday, Nov. 12, at 1:30 p.m. The free class will help older adult children, spouses and/or friends learn to talk with their loved ones about remaining active and participating in the community and when it is time to limit or stop driving. The class covers topics such as the meaning and importance of driving to an older adult, recognizing the warning signs of unsafe driving, identifying and creating a plan to use alternative transportation and tips for holding productive discussions about driving safely. Registration is required.

Book Talk, a reading/discussion group, is on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 10:15 a.m. this month. The book is "The Dork of Cork" by Chet Raymo. Books are available to borrow from George Hail Library. All book lovers are welcome to join the discussion.

Thanksgiving meals are available again this year. If you know of someone in need, contact Betty or call Judy at 245-5431 and leave a message. Warren Unit 11 of the American Legion Auxiliary will serve hot turkey dinners on Thanksgiving Day at St. Thomas the Apostle Church. Meal delivery also is available.

A trip to see "It's a Wonderful Life," the musical, is on Thursday, Dec. 3, at Ocean State Theatre in Warwick. Based on the beloved 1946 film, the musical breathes new life into a familiar story. The $38 fee includes transportation, show and driver's tip. A school bus leaves the St. Thomas parking lot at 12:45 p.m. Full payment is due by Nov. 13.

The computer room is open to all seniors from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday to Friday for practice and pleasure.

Play whist at 12:15 p.m. on Tuesdays. Refreshments are served. New card players are always welcome.

Health insurance counseling is offered on Thursday afternoons by appointment. Janet Holmes from East Bay CAP is available to assist seniors with health insurance questions and options. There are many assistance programs available to eligible seniors. Call the center for an appointment.

Bingo is on Fridays at 1 p.m.

Kickemuit Village bingo is every Wednesday

The Kickemuit Village weekly bingo is at 1 p.m. on Wednesdays at Andreozzi Hall, 20 Libby Lane. Game cards are on sale from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

There is a digital bingo machine, and all bingo games have payouts of $20 to $50 a game.

LEGAL NOTICE

TOWN OF WARREN, RHODE ISLAND NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING COMPREHENSIVE PLAN AMENDMENTS

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Rhode Island General Laws 45-22.2, that public hearings will be held on proposed revisions to the Comprehensive Community Plan of the Town of Warren. The Planning Board will hold a hearing with the purpose of discussing and approving revisions to the Future Land Use Map of the Town's Comprehensive Plan to include the Metacom Corridor Zoning District as part of the implementation of the Metacom Corridor Plan.

The Planning Board will hold a hearing on Monday, November 23, 2015, at 7:00 p.m. in the Town Council Chamber of the Warren Town Hall, 514 Main Street, Warren, Rhode Island

All interested parties may review and examine a copy of the proposed Comprehensive Plan revisions at the Warren Town Clerk's Office between 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and at the George Hail Library during regular library hours. The proposed Comprehensive Plan changes can also be obtained from the Town of Warren's website at www.townofwarren-ri.gov.

At the public hearing, opportunity shall be given to all persons interested to be heard upon the matter of the proposed changes to the Comprehensive Plan. The proposal may be altered or amended prior to the close of the public hearing without further advertising, as a result of further study or because of the views expressed at the public hearing. Any such alteration or amendment must be presented for comment in the course of said hearing. The public hearing may be continued during the course of the meeting without further advertising.

The Comprehensive Plan amendments proposed shall become effective for the purpose of conforming municipal land use decisions and for the purpose of being transmitted to the Director of Administration of the State of Rhode Island when and if they are approved by the Town Council and Planning Board. These proposed amendments shall not become effective for the purposes of guiding state agency actions until they have been approved by the State of Rhode Island.

The Town of Warren will provide accommodations needed to ensure equal participation in all meetings. Please contact the Town Clerk's office prior to the meeting so arrangements can be made to provide such assistance. A request for accommodations can be made in writing to 283 County Road or by calling 401-247-1900, Ext. 301 (voice) or call 711 "Relay" if you are a TDY OR TDD user.

AT THE EAST BAY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Networking Meet & Greet on Wednesday

You are invited to a networking Meet & Greet on Wednesday, Nov. 4, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at Highlander Charter School, 360 Market St., Warren. Admission is $10; $5 for Chamber members.

Meet & Greet events are fun, affordable ways to network with fellow Chamber members and their guests, and to get a view inside the workings of a fellow member's business. Sign up for this monthly opportunity to break the ice and gain new allies in the local business community.

Registration is required; call the Chamber office or sign up online.

Group networking event for young professionals

The East Bay Young Professionals (EBYP), a networking group for young professionals who live or work in Rhode Island's East Bay, is a networking initiative of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mix and mingle with other young professionals at a monthly networking social on Thursday, Nov. 5, from 6 to 8 p.m. at Trafford restaurant, 285 Water St., Warren. There will be a cash bar and light hors d'oeuvres.

The event, sponsored by the Reckoner Group, is free, but attendees are asked to bring a canned good to be donated to Good Neighbors Soup Kitchen. Register online or call the Chamber office.

'Spa-like' experience for women on Sunday

WEBOND (Women's Empowerment and Business Owners Networking Development) members and friends are invited to an afternoon getaway on Sunday, Nov. 8, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Chamber office. The "spa-like" experience is hosted by WEBOND.

Tickets are $15 in advance and $20 at the door. Receive seated massage, foot therapy and essential oil treatment, hand and skin care, and guided meditation in a retreat-like atmosphere. All services are complements of the hostesses.

As a special treat, educate your senses and taste buds about light, relaxing wine choices with guest Grapes and Grains. A percentage of the vendor sales will be donated to Solar Sisters in the name of WEBOND.

Contact Suzanne at 245-0750 or smunroe@eastbaychamberri.org.

Women's networking series is held Tuesdays

The WEBOND Women's Fall Networking Series meets every Tuesday from noon to 1 p.m. at the Chamber for a 20-minute presentation, discussion and networking. It is hosted by WEBOND (Women's Empowerment and Business Owners Networking Development).

The cost is $5 weekly to attend. Learn more at www.meetup.com/WEBOND, or call the Chamber office.

Businesses can sign up for Shopping Express

Businesses are encouraged to participate in the East Bay Chamber's Holiday Shopping Express on Saturday, Nov. 21.

The Chamber, in partnership with Bristol, Barrington and Warren and area business associations, will provide two trolleys shoppers can ride at no cost from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The trolleys will circulate on Route 114, allowing shoppers to get off and on at designated stops in each town. All riders get a goody-bag from The Bay Magazine filled with coupons, discounts and savings from local businesses.

Any business (Chamber member or not) can take advantage of this shop local campaign for free. To find out how, or for more information, visit www.eastbaychamberri.org/shoppingexpress or call the Chamber office.

The East Bay Chamber of Commerce is at 16 Cutler St., Suite 102, Warren. For more information, call the office at 245-0750 or visit www.eastbaychamberri.org.

OBITUARIES

Barbara A. Karcz

Long-time Warren resident

Barbara A. (Parent) Karcz, 83 of Warren, passed peacefully on Friday, Oct. 30, 2015, at the Philip Hular Inpatient Center of Home & Hospice Care of Rhode Island, surrounded by her loving family. She was the beloved wife of the late John J. Karcz.

Ms. Karcz was born in Fall River MA, a daughter of the late Joseph and Catherine (Zombic) Parent. She worked for GMAC Insurance prior to staying at home to raise her family.

Barbara was a long-time resident of Warren. A member of St. Alexander Church, she was a communicant of the former St. Casimir Church where she served as president of the Parish Council, president of the St. Casimir's Women's Society, president of the Rosary Society and Religious Education Coordinator. She was also a member of St. Joseph's Society and served with her husband as coordinator of the East Bay Deaneary First Friday Club.

She was the loving mother of Susan and Mark Daniels of Bristol, Patricia and Kevin Sullivan of Warren and Diane and Michael Nelson of Bristol; and the sister of the late Raymond and Norman Parent.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Nov. 3 from Smith Funeral and Memorial Services, Warren, followed by a Mass of Christian burial in St. Alexander Church, Warren. Burial followed in St. Jean Baptiste Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, gifts in her memory can be sent to the Warren Rescue Squad, 1 Joyce St. Warren, RI 02885. See www.wjsmithfh.com.

Huskies forward Tess McKenzie makes a pass during their game against North Kingstown Monday night. McKenzie assisted on both of Michaela Goglia's goals.

Goglia scores two in win over North Kingstown, Huskies gain semifinals

Mt. Hope junior striker Michaela Goglia scored two goals as the Lady Huskies blanked North Kingstown 2-0 in the Division I quarterfinals at Thomas Vendituoli Field on Monday night. Huskies goalkeeper Sam Eddy blocked 13 shots in the shutout.

With the Huskies Dog Pound chanting "I believe," in the second half and the Huskies clinging to a 1-0 lead, freshman forward Tess McKenzie, who assisted on both goals, fed Goglia a pass as she beat North goalkeeper Meaghan O'Neil to ice the win.

Next up: The Huskies take on Cumberland in the Division I Semifinals at Johnston High School on Thursday night at 6 p.m. There will be a free student fan bus which will leave the school at 5 p.m.

Students can sign up in the athletic director's office.

Island Idyll

RICHARD W. DIONNE JR.

Debbie Kaiman Tillinghast, former year-round Prudence Island resident, has written "The Ferry Home," a touching memoir about growing up on the island in the early 1950's.

Local author proves you can come home again

BY CHRISTY NADALIN
cnadalini@eastbaynewspapers.com

Though Chepachet resident Debbie Kaiman Tillinghast has lived on the mainland since she was 8 years old, a year after Hurricane Carol tore up Narragansett Bay and destroyed her family's Sand Point general store and primary source of income ("You could buy anything there, from swim flippers to dinner"), a big piece of her heart never did leave Prudence Island.

Raised near the south-center of the island, not far from Farnham Farm, Debbie's mom Evelyn was the teacher at the island's school; when her father closed his store in the offseason, he worked as a quahogger. The family home was also shared with sister Pat and grandmother Emmie.

Back then, there were only about 50 year-round residents, and the highlights of the social season were much the same as they are now: the island Halloween and Christmas parties, Fireman's Ball, the ham & bean suppers. The children rarely left the island, except for the occasional doctor visit, shoe-shopping trip, or visits to see "the real" Santa at The Outlet in Providence.

"Nothing is ever all good," says Debbie, "but Prudence was probably the most idyllic childhood anyone could have."

Until 1954, and Carol.

"All that was left of the store were the front steps," Debbie says. "They are still there today."

Needing a source of income for his family, Sol came to Bristol, where Ros Bosworth, Sr. offered him a job at the Bristol Phoenix. "He learned to do everything," says Debbie. "He set type, wrote, sold ads; he was there when they launched the Barrington Times."

A year after joining the Phoenix staff, Sol and Evelyn sold the house on Prudence and moved the family to Barrington.

Only a handful of miles as the crow flies, for young Debbie, Barrington was a world away.

It may come as a surprise, but life as a student in a one-

Volvo Race sets course back to the bay

The Volvo Ocean Race will sail back to Newport in 2018, organizers announced Friday. Rhode Island will again be the only North American stopover port for the grand prix sailing event.

Nearly 130,000 fans participated in race festivities during the 13-day event last spring, with more than half traveling to Rhode Island from other U.S. states and abroad. According to a recent report commissioned by Sail Newport, the economic impact of the 2015 stopover on Rhode Island is estimated over $47 million.

With a 'home team' to root for — the young Alvimedica team skippered by Bristol's Charlie Enright, the week-long Newport stopover was an especially big draw around here. Throngs packed the docks at Fort Adams each day for a glimpse of the boats and their sailors.

"Sail Newport, DEM and State Leadership, together with all of our outstanding partners, organized and hosted the most successful North American Stopover in Volvo Ocean Race history," said Brad Read, executive director of Sail Newport. "We did this as a

Fall bulb planting has 'land mines' of its own

A little over a month ago I received an email from a Master Gardener on Cape Cod who mentioned at the end of the note an intention to go right out and plant Eremurus bulbs. She said foxtail lilies had done well in her garden and she was determined to add a few more. I haven't heard from her since. The two times I planted foxtail lilies (in others' gardens) I thought they might be the end of me. I'm no fan of the backache associated with time spent on hands and knees troweling deep holes, but tulips and daffodils are a walk in the park comparatively. Eremurus may be ordered from any bulb company for fall planting but they'll bear little resemblance to anything else in the shipment; they're not actually bulbs. The perennials arrive as fragile octopi of tuberous roots the size of your grandfather's hands or bigger, and come with explicit instructions: drape their fingers over a mound of well-draining soil, and resist the temptation to plant them too closely together. Two-to three-feet apart, say all of the catalogs and they mean it. My only memories are of following contradictory instructions to wedge them in cheek by jowl between tightly packed shrubs and perennials. I hoped, as my employers surely did, for the best.

According to all sources, foxtail lily roots are prone to rot under crowded conditions. They require excellent drainage but have a reputation for resenting drought. Each in itself a good reason why I'm reluctant to gamble with them in my garden. Seeing is believing though. I'm as powerless as anyone to resist chest-to-head-height spikes of densely packed flowers, particularly orange 'Cleopatra', that add serious spice to an otherwise sugary late-spring garden. One of these falls, I'll take my chances on jamming a few in here at Chez Squeezins.

The upside is my garden wouldn't need many for a decent show. Five might even be overkill whereas other bulbs must go in by the dozen or hundred to look like anything was planted at all. I'm not sure which is worse, engineering five large holes between the roots of other things or stabbing one hundred tiny ones. This year my bulb order, a promotional gift (a rare perk for blogging) chosen by a friend at John Scheepers Flower Bulbs, will include one hundred Allium azureum, Chionodoxa forbesii, and Brodiaea bulbs -- to give my garden the blues, as well as a couple dozen green-streaked tulips and green-cupped daffodils.

Instructions for true bulbs like the ones on their way to me are more straightforward. The rule of thumb is to dig a hole two and a half times as deep as the bulb is wide, which works out to about a trowel-length for most tulips and daffodils, and a knuckle or two down for the tiny ones. That said, the diminutive chionodoxa on my list want to be planted deeply, about four inches down. And unless the squirrels interfere with your efforts (a little cayenne pepper sprinkled over the planting area might help prevent mischief), most bulbs will forgive your mistakes and make adjustments as needed. Plant them upside-down and they'll right themselves; too deeply or shallowly and they'll bloom their pants off anyway come spring. And if they don't, you can always blame the squirrels, whether you actively discouraged them or not.

I'm worried about the Cape Cod gardener last seen in my mind's eye carefully placing giant eremurus roots in her borders and dropping down onto her kneeler. All attempts on my part to be back in touch have failed thus far. I can only hope she'll respond, healthy as a horse, in plenty of time to invite me to witness a late-spring spectacle in her garden.

Preserving fish and game for exhibition

“If you want to have a fish mounted you got to keep it fresh. Don't let it flop around on the deck and get bruised. Don't bleed it. Just put it on ice as soon as possible. This way the integrity of the fish's skin is not compromised. You can't see from the outside but if the fish is bruised the inside of the skin will be damaged and fish's scales may fall off.”

Capt. Dave MONTI

That's the advice that Capt. Joe Pagano, a taxidermist since high school, and owner of Stuff-It Charters, shared with anglers last week at a Rhode Island Saltwater Anglers Association seminar.

Capt. Pagano said, “Many anglers are now catching and releasing their fish. This is where fiberglass mounts come into play. Simply take photos of the fish, record its weight, length and width. We then order a fiberglass blank to that size. The glass mount is sculptured and hand painted to look exacting like the fish in the photos.”

In addition to fish, Capt. Pagano has mounted all types of animals (bear, deer, fox, even an alligator), many times for museums and zoos that want to preserve animals for exhibition. Visit Capt. Joe Pagano's website at www.stuffitcharters.com.

Where's the bite

Tautog fishing continues to improve with fish being taken in Narragansett Bay and along the coastal shore. Neil Hayes of Quaker Lane Outfitters, North Kingstown said, “Customers are catching tautog at just about any rock pile. And at places such as Whale Rock, Pt. Judith Light and Plum Point Lighthouse they are catching fish.” I fished the Newport area about 7 mile southeast of the Seal Ledge can Sunday for an hour after returning from Block Island with no luck. However, customers fishing closer to shore seem to have better luck producing fish. “Dirty water this weekend made tautog fishing challenging but customers still caught fish so this is a very good sign,” said Matt Conti of Snug Harbor Marina, South Kingstown. John Littlefield of Archie's Bait & Tackle, Riverside, said, “Customers fishing the Providence River at the Hot Club just north of the Hurricane Barrier said they caught many short fish there but the Wharf Tavern in Warren produced two keepers for them. Others are reporting a good tautog bite in the Jamestown Bridge area.” Capt. Frank Blount of the Frances Fleet, said, “Tautog fishing continues to be very strong. Fishing was outstanding last week with limits commonplace. We broke the ten pound barrier with a fine tog of nearly 11 pounds and had two other fish in the 10 pound range. Varying numbers of sea bass mixed in but a few trips early in the week saw some fishers have a limit of those to go along with their tog and a few keeper cod.” “Tautog are still in low water as the temperature in the Westerly area is still in the 60's. Once the water cools the fish will be moving to deeper water. We weighed in a couple of eight and nine pound fish caught inside of Fishers Island that were in fairly low water. The tautog bite is going to do nothing but improve so I am looking forward to fishing.”

Capt. Joe Pagano, taxidermist and charter captain from Stuff-It Charters, with a 60 pound striped bass mount.

Black sea bass, cod and scup bite is still strong. “Anglers are catching their black sea bass limit in waters along the southern coastal shore where they normally catch summer flounder. However, they have moved to deeper water” said Mike Wade of Watch Hill Outfitters. I fished with angler Steve Brustein Sunday and we had little trouble catching our limit at the southwest ledge on Block Island with scup in the 15” range. Four party boats from New York were fishing the southwest ledge hard for black sea bass and scup. Neil Chris Konkol from North Kingstown with the brace of nice cod to ten pounds he caught last week on the Gail Frances party boat.

Hayes of Quaker Lane said “The black sea bass and scup bite is good but it is starting to slow.” “Cod fishing was good this week both on the southeast and southwest corner of Cox's Ledge. The good news is that anglers can keep sea bass they catch in Federal waters so it makes traveling that distance worthwhile.” said Matt Conti of Sung Harbor Marina. “This weekend customers fished the Newport area for seabass and all three limited out with 28 fish to four pounds.” said John Littlefield of Riverside.

Bluefish and striped bass. “A customer took a charter to catch bluefish in Narragansett Bay and they caught six nice bluefish and one keeper striped bass in the Ohio Ledge/Colt State Park area,” said John Littlefield of Archie's Bait & Tackle. “Customers are still catching striped bass and bluefish from the beaches in Narragansett and from the breachways in South County,” said Neil Hayes of Quaker Lane Outfitters. “Last week things slowed a bit because we had so much bait in the water. But I expect they will pick up again this week. The week before last was outstanding with many striped bass and bluefish blitzes,” said Mike Wade of Watch Hill Outfitters. Conti of Snug Harbor Marina said, “The bass bite is pretty good along the southern shore where they are catching school size bass and fish to twenty pounds. And, they are still catching fish at the North Rip at Block Island. We haven't heard much about the bite on the southwest corner.”

False albacore. Mike Wade of Watch Hill said, “Customers are still catching false albacore inside of Fishers Island.”

Offshore. Matt Conti of Snug Harbor Marina said, “We have a good weather forecast for early in the week. I have some customers that plan to fish the Hudson Canyons for yellowfin tuna and swordfish. Customers this week that fished the Mud hole did not produce.”

Freshwater fishing remains very strong. “I had a customer that caught a great variety of fish at Echo Pond, Barrington including largemouth bass, trout and pickerel, so fishing is pretty good. I am still selling quite a few shiners,” said Littlefield of Archie's Bait. “Trout fishing at the lakes, ponds and rivers that were stocked by DEM has been very good,” said Neil Hayes of Quaker Lane. Visit www.dem.ri.gov for a listing of stocked ponds.

non-profit organization combined with a whole lot of community heart and passion because we knew the event would be a remarkable success. I believe strongly that tourists, fans, sponsors and media will travel from all over the world to Rhode Island to be a part of the next Newport Stopover. Everyone wants the race back. The state, the marine, business and education communities and all of the race fans will follow the race until it arrives back at Castle Hill in May of 2018.”

The Volvo Ocean Race is a 38,739 nautical mile round-the-world competition. Newport is the seventh port to be confirmed for the 2018 Race. Dates for the fleet's visit to Rhode Island will be announced in 2016, with the announcement of the full race route.

‘Can't hack the stars’

Techniques that guided ancient

Polynesians in the open Pacific, then oriented astronauts when Apollo 12 was disabled by lightning, are returning to favor at the Naval Academy.

Officials there resumed lessons in celestial navigation this year, nearly two decades after the full class was determined outdated and cut from the curriculum. That decision, in the late 1990s, made national news and caused a stir among the old guard of navigators.

Maritime nostalgia, however, isn't behind the return, reports Sailing Scuttlebutt. Rather, it's the escalating threat of cyber-attacks that has led the Navy to dust off its tools to measure the angles of stars.

After all, you can't hack a sextant.

“We went away from celestial navigation because computers are great,” said Lt. Cmdr. Ryan Rogers, deputy chairman of the academy's Department of Seamanship and Navigation. “The problem is,” he added, “there's no backup.”

Among the fleet, the Navy ended all training in celestial navigation in 2006, said Lt. Cmdr. Kate Meadows, a Navy spokeswoman. Then officers' training returned in 2011 for ship navigators, she said. And officials are now rebuilding the program for enlisted ranks; it's expected to begin next fall.

“There's about 10 years when the Navy didn't teach to celestial,” said Rogers, the Naval Academy instructor. “New lieutenants, they don't have that instruction.”

STRAIGHT UP THE MIDDLE

Campaign 2016: a game that's hard to get into

I have a hard time being excited about the Kansas City Royals as World Series Champions. I am sure their fans are thrilled, and super-nice folks, so I'm glad they won, but I will admit that I can't remember a time when I was less interested in watching the World Series. I am beginning to feel the same way about the presidential race.

Cara CROMWELL

I'm not sure if it's the intensity of the 24/7 news cycle, or the fact that the leading candidates are unappealing, but I think my current disinterest and revulsion around the race centers on the fact that Donald Trump appears to be the current choice of many Americans who lean republican. Although Ben Carson has been gaining ground, polls have shown Trump ahead in the critical early primary states — the last New Hampshire poll had him up by 26 points. If Halloween costumes were any indication, Trump is clearly the leading candidate — along with a guy from Minecraft and a zombie. Surprisingly, Elsa and Olaf wouldn't even make the stage in the next debate. The republican race is like watching a predictable horror movie where the characters make all the wrong choices — splitting up, not checking the backseat — you know how this is going to end. Trump is going to flame out and so he's just not worth watching.

For what it's worth, the likelihood of a Trump or Carson presidency is slim anyway. It is somewhat reassuring to know that Americans have not elected anyone to the office of president without some prior public service. Dwight D. Eisenhower was the last president elected without any elective experience but since he was a five-star general and the Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in Europe during World War II, there was little concern that he would choke when making an important decision.

On the Democratic side, there's another snoozefest. Hillary Clinton isn't terribly appealing, but there's no alternative. I am not sure if it's the fact that she has been in the spotlight for more than twenty years or that there are just too many questions about her trustworthiness, but at a time when the country seems to be in need of fresh leadership, she seems dated. Having said that, with Linc Chafee and Jim Webb out of the Democratic race (after splitting somewhere between 1-2% of the electorate) and Joe Biden taking a pass, Bernie Sanders is the only Democratic candidate that stands between Clinton and the nomination. While he's clearly the choice of the "anyone but Hillary" camp on the Democratic side, his positions are too far to the left for most Americans, making him about as electable as Trump and making Clinton a total lock for the nomination.

I am sure that the race is an exciting one if you live in Iowa or New Hampshire — or Kansas City — since it's an exciting week there. But living in a state that never matters in presidential politics makes this race even less compelling. Let's hope that as things shake out, an inspiring leader emerges. In the meantime, I'll just wait for spring training and the Red Sox' return.

Martin's Garden Notes

Prepare your garden for Winter

Give your lawn a great boost for the winter and a head start for the spring by fertilizing with a fall fertilizer. These fertilizers are especially formulated to encouraging a strong root system. They also have a timed release component so the fertilizer is still feeding into next spring.

If you have applied lime in some time it may be wise to test your soil to see how much you need to apply. You can stop by the store to pick up an order form to send off with your soil samples.

Spring flowering bulbs are always a great addition to the garden. Apply bulb food with them to help them come back stronger every year. Avoid using bone meal as it may attract animals, especially skunks. One interesting fact our Dutch Bulb salesman mentioned is that tulips like a high pH so a little dusting of lime when you plant them will help a lot. Roses can be allowed to bloom into early winter and then only cut back a little. Climbers should be just tied back to their supports. Further pruning can be done in early April. I have had good success protecting roses with a cylinder of tar paper tied around the plants with a couple of shovel fulls of compost piled around the crown. Do this after we have had a good frost and the plants have lost their leaves.

POLI-TICKS

Toll proposal should go to the voters

State leaders think that you are double dumb. The state is on the brink of floating 1.1 billion dollars (interest included) for the

Arlene VIOLET

Rhodes Work project. Your intelligence, firstly, cannot be trusted to vote on the bond project, despite the Rhode Island Constitution, Article VI "Of Legislative Power", Section 16, which says that "the general assembly shall have no powers without the express consent of the people, to incur state debts to an amount exceeding fifty thousand dollars, except in the time of war, or in the case of insurrection or invasion; nor shall it in any case, without such consent, pledge the faith of the state for the payment of the obligations of others."

As the astute Justin Katz raises in "Anchor Rising", these quasi-public agencies are at a minimum "others" in that definition, if not de facto state agencies. As you saw in the 38 Studios fiasco, the "other" was the Economic Development Corporation, and the state (i.e. you the taxpayer) is paying off those bonds. You never voted on this debt but you are supposedly too stupid to realize that it is about to happen all over again with the toll project.

The new sleight of hand is to use that quasi-public authority, the Turnpike and Bridge Authority, to run the show. This fig leaf could potentially cost taxpayers 10 times as much as 38 Studios if it goes bust. Yet the governor told WPRI's "Newsmakers" that taxpayers would never be on the hook for this bond if the toll revenue fell short since they would increase the toll. The state has no documentation as to how high the toll might be that would result in massive truck traffic skirting the state rather than pay it. Even with the toll structure being considered, the estimate is that 25 percent will dodge the tolls. Data also doesn't exist as to the pressure point that truckers based in Rhode Island will move their operations over the border, as Mr. Katz aptly notes.

Years ago, the Rhode Island Supreme Court ruled that the quasi-public agencies can do this debt since they are not "state agencies" but it is time to revisit that ruling. Rhode Islanders have been abused over and over again by these quasi's like the PBA (Public Building Authority) and RIHMFC (Rhode Island Housing Mortgage and Finance Corporation) etc. which became the favor factory for the politically connected people.

The public should be outraged that these so-called quasi-agencies continue to be the conduit by which the office-holders strip the right to vote in accordance with the spirit (and perhaps the letter) of the Rhode Island Constitution. Meanwhile perfectly plausible proposals floated by the Republicans and the Rhode Island Center for Freedom and Prosperity are poo-pooed by the pooh bahs on Smith Hill.

So, let me ask you if you think Rhode Islanders are the dumb donkeys the administration and speaker think they are. You will actually get your answer by seeing what the public response will be to the legislative proposal to feint left by giving the project to the Bridge and Turnpike Authority, as opposed to adoption of some worthwhile proposals by others or allowing a public vote. Just as the quasi-public agencies of yesteryear were payoffs to the political elite, the bridge proposal is also a sop. It's business as usual if you acquiesce.

PRUDENCE: The island 'gets in your soul'

room schoolhouse with only a handful of classmates makes for a very independent learning environment. "My mother couldn't teach kindergarten through grade 8 as a group; we had weekly assignments and she was there when we had questions, but you were really on your own for much of the learning," Debbie remembers. "So when I arrived in Barrington in the 5th grade, and we were herded from one class to another. I had to reprogram my learning style. It was a challenge."

But life went on. Sol, who died in the late 1970's, finished his career selling advertising for the Providence Journal, while Evelyn taught school in Portsmouth. Debbie went to University of Massachusetts, Amherst, got a degree in nutrition and thought she might like to find work in a test kitchen. "I wanted to be Betty Crocker," she laughs. Instead, she got married, had three sons, and taught home economics in Pawtucket and Warwick public schools.

Then, ten years ago, she lost her mother, Evelyn. And Prudence Island, always a part of Debbie, began to really tug on her heart. "I started going back more and more," she said, and reconnected with Judy Little, a childhood friend. The years just fell away. "We just picked up where we left off, like we had never lost touch with each other."

No longer being able to ask her mother about the old days on the island really struck a nerve for Debbie. "I wanted to 'save' Prudence for my children and grandchildren. I thought that maybe I would write a book someday, but it wasn't for another few years before I came across a memoir-writing class at the library at signed up." The class was just the impetus she needed to begin the process of getting the Prudence in her heart out on the written page.

Thanks to Judy's hospitality, Debbie's visits to Prudence became more frequent, and she

RICHARD W. DIONNE JR.

Debbie Kaiman Tillinghast with a copy of her memoir "The Ferry Home," which is available locally at Paper, Packaging and Panache as well as online through Amazon and Indigo River Publishing.

composed her memoir on long walks around the island. "The memories just fell like dominos," she says. "They would unfold, one after the other. It was as though they were writing themselves; I was just the instrument."

The result, "The Ferry Home," is a beautiful love letter to the Prudence of Debbie's childhood, her poetic prose as warm and comfortable as the poignant memories she shares. Though it's her story, it is a wonderful read for anyone who has ever spent time in a place like Prudence, in any community that evokes such a sense of place it seems to have a personality all its own.

"There's a certain mindset that comes from being an islander," says Debbie, whose would have probably been born on Prudence had hospital births not become the norm. (Grandmother Emmie was born on Block Island; Evelyn was born on Patience.) "You look at the world differently. You are self-reliant, yet your neighbors are very important to you."

"Prudence Island gets in your soul," Debbie says. "It did mine."

"The Ferry Home" is available at Paper, Packaging, and Panache in Bristol, Indigoriverpublishing.com and Amazon.com. Debbie will join other Rhode Island authors at the Association of Rhode Island Authors (ARIA) exhibition at the Lincoln Mall on Dec. 5 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. (www.riauthors.org), and she will have a reading at the Elephant Room at Pawtuxet Village (elephanttearoom.com) on Dec. 17.

DINING REVIEW

Captain Jack's Clam Shack is a seafood paradise in Seekonk

Captain Jack's might be a clam shack, but it also boasts every other type of finfish and shellfish on its menu, too.

The family restaurant in a shopping plaza (with a Benny's out front) is decorated with huge wall murals of pirate ships, treasure maps and beaches, and fun reggae music completed the mood.

The menu is so large it's hard to make a choice. But, our server Morgan was fast and friendly and quick to make a recommendation when asked.

All of the seafood at Captain Jack's is sourced locally from New Bedford, Boston, Rhode Island, Maine, Connecticut and Gloucester. And, everything is made from scratch on the premises by chefs Brian and Marc — from the hand-cut fries, onion rings and coleslaw to the dressings, stuffings and desserts.

You can kick things off with bacon-wrapped scallops, stuffies (Jack's, Jack's spicy or scallop), traditional calamari and Sicilian calamari, crab-stuffed mushroom caps, Maryland crabcakes, sweet Asian chili shrimp, Manhattan or New England clam chowders and lobster bisque. You can get three, six or a dozen clamcakes. A raw section has oysters and littlenecks and combo plates with oysters, littlenecks and shrimp.

There are salads (side, house and Caesar) that can be topped with shrimp, chicken or grilled tuna or salmon.

In addition to the usual fried seafood plates, combo plates and a seafood platter of whole belly clams, clam strips, shrimp, scallops, calamari and haddock, there are steamed or baked stuffed lobsters, snow crab clusters and king crab legs, buckets of steamers and mussels, a traditional clamboil, a surf and turf of prime rib and a choice of seafood, baked stuffed haddock or shrimp, and baked scallops.

The chef's entrees include pan-seared scallops with butternut squash risotto, grilled or blackened swordfish with lobster mashed potatoes, pan-seared or blackened salmon with a spinach and tomato risotto, a lobster tail bake with mussels, steamers, littlenecks, chouriço, red potatoes and corn, and prime rib with garlic-parmesan risotto.

Not that hungry? There's a hot lobster roll in a lemon/thyme butter, a classic cold lobster roll, clam and popcorn shrimp rolls, baked or fried fish sandwiches, fish tacos, a tuna Reuben, tuna salad wrap, grilled chicken or French dip sandwiches, and 8-ounce Angus beef burgers.

Specials were sriracha shrimp and a 12-ounce sirloin. On the back page is a kids' menu and a map of where the oysters are sourced (from Connecticut to Maine). A new menu debuting this week will add pasta and chicken dishes to the array of difficult choices.

They have a wine and beer license and we started with wine.

A cup of the Manhattan clam chowder was fabulous, with a savory broth full of clams, bits of tomato, onion, celery and herbs. Three big clamcakes were piping hot, golden brown and moist inside with bits of tender clams.

We wanted to try several things, so we stuck to a cup of chowder, but the soups come in a cup, bowl, bread bowl or by the quart.

The fish and chips are a classic version, with a haddock filet dipped in an English-style batter and fried until golden and crispy. It didn't have a trace of grease, and haddock is such a great choice because it's a nice, firm white fish. Handcut fries had the skin on and were crisp outside and meaty inside. A splash of malt vinegar and it was perfection.

The ahi tuna Reuben sounded unique, and it is truly amazing. A slab of blackened ahi tuna (grilled rare as ordered) is layered with Swiss cheese, wasabi ginger slaw and thousand island dressing, all arranged on toasted marble rye. The flavors blend beautifully; but, there's quite a little fire from the wasabi if you can't take the heat. Sides were fries and coleslaw.

A slice of the house-made cheesecake sounded too good to pass up. It's New York-style in texture, but not heavy, and a maple-bourbon sauce made in-house was divine — a perfect, New England fall touch. You can also choose a chocolate sauce for your cheesecake.

Other desserts were key lime pie and a berry crisp.

We have to return to Captain Jack's soon, because there were just too many other things we wanted to try, like the snow crab legs

Super seeds; seasonal granola

When it comes to a filling, nutritious snack, seeds are often overlooked. We often think of nuts, such as almonds, pecans, or cashews, for a midday treat and forget that there are lots of other options available for a different flavor profile. Full of fiber, protein, and healthy fats, seeds are a portable and delicious addition to a well-balanced diet.

Emily DELCONTE

■ Pumpkin seeds, also known as pepitas, are popular at this time of the year with all the pumpkins we carve. Per 1 ounce, they provide 10 grams of protein and are high in minerals such as copper and magnesium, important for bone and blood health. Roast your own pumpkin seeds from your jack-o-lanterns or buy roasted seeds either in or out of the shell.

■ Chia seeds are one of the smaller seeds but they provide 10 grams of fiber and 5 grams of protein per 1 ounce. They are also a great source of omega 3 fats and calcium. Chia seeds absorb water which makes them a great addition to anything that needs bulk, like a pudding or smoothie.

■ Flax seeds may help to decrease cholesterol and blood pressure levels. They have 8 grams of fiber per 1 ounce as well as lots of healthy fats and magnesium. The seeds are small and our bodies can't access all of the nutrients they hold unless the seeds are ground or milled (you can buy them this way). Be sure to refrigerate them so they don't go bad too quickly.

■ Hemp seeds may not be quite as common yet, but you will be seeing them more and more. Packing 10 grams of protein per 1 ounce, adding hemp seeds to your smoothie or morning yogurt will help to keep you full all morning.

Although seeds are full of health benefits, the calories can add up quickly. Keep your daily portions to about 1 ounce per day (2-4 tablespoons, depending on which type of seed you choose) to keep the calories in check.

Cranberry Pumpkin Granola

SERVINGS: 24

Ingredients

- 4 cups rolled oats
- 1 1/2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup pumpkin puree
- 1 egg white
- 1/4 cup canola oil
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 3/4 cup dried unsweetened cranberries
- 3/4 cup roasted pumpkin seeds

Preparation

1. Preheat oven to 325°F. Line 2 large rimmed baking sheets with parchment paper or aluminum foil. If using aluminum foil, spray with non-stick cooking spray.
2. In a large bowl, combine the oats, pumpkin pie spice, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, and salt.
3. In a smaller bowl, beat together the brown sugar, pumpkin puree, egg white, canola oil, and vanilla. Pour this mixture over the oats and stir until evenly coated.

4. Spread onto baking pans in even layers. Bake for 20 minutes, rotating pans halfway through cooking.

5. Remove pans from the oven and turn granola over with a spatula. Bake for an additional 10-15 minutes.

6. Remove from oven and stir in cranberries and pumpkin seeds. Cool on pans and break up if needed. Store in an airtight container.

Serving Size: 1/4 cup granola

'Defamation' on stage in Barrington

The most pressing social issues of our day – race, religion, class and gender – collide in the riveting courtroom drama, "Defamation", by Todd Logan. When a professional African-American woman is invited to the home of a successful Jewish man for a business project, he realizes that his family heirloom watch is gone after she leaves. The legal issue becomes whether or not she was falsely accused of stealing his watch thus causing her financial harm. The audience becomes the jury, participating in the deliberations, and ultimately deciding the outcome of the trial. Additionally, there will be a post-show discussion with the cast. Through the deliberations and discussion, audience members will explore their own preconceived notions.

MEET FLORA ANN ROCHA: LIKES TO SEW, READ, ENJOY FAMILY

BY JOAN D. WARREN
jwarren@eastbaynewspapers.com

Flora Ann Rocha has been a full-time real estate agent since 1991. She earned her real estate license in 1984 and entered into the real estate world with two small children, finding out quickly that you need to be available for your clients at all times. Knowing that she couldn't give 100 percent of herself, she decided to hold off until her children were older. She worked for 18 years with a small, independent real estate office and managed that office from 1994 to 2009. Among her many tasks, she helped train new agents. In 2009, the owner decided to close the office and retire, and the agents joined RE/MAX Right Choice. Flora has been one of the top agents in the office for the last six years.

WHY REAL ESTATE AS A CAREER?

"I love working with people and sales and I give 100 percent of myself to my career. I work long hours and weekends to provide full service to my clients."

WHAT DID YOU DO BEFORE REAL ESTATE?

"Insurance and then stay-at-home mom."

WHAT DO YOU LIKE MOST ABOUT IT?

"Handing the keys to a first-time buyer. Living in this area my entire life, I am very familiar with the area and the market. I am certified in Home Marketing Staging, to help sellers prepare their home for sale. I also have my CDPE designation (Certified Distress Property Expert).

KEEPING UP WITH CHANGING PRACTICES:

"RE/MAX offers so much education to keep me up to date on new marketing tips, real estate laws and technology. I am constantly taking courses to educate myself."

WHO HAS BEEN AN INSPIRATION IN YOUR LIFE?

"Oprah Winfrey."

FAVORITE HOLIDAY:

"Christmas because of family gatherings. I love Christmas Eve. I usually host a Christmas Eve party with family, friends and neighbors. Christmas morning is a favorite of mine. My grown children still come over so we all open our presents together."

ADVICE FOR SELLERS:

"Price your home correctly."

MARKET PREDICTIONS:

"I think they will continue to improve."

"Sundays. I spend it with my grandchildren and family. I have a supportive husband of 37 years and a wonderful family. We have two children and two grandchildren. "

WHAT ARE SOME OF YOUR HOBBIES? "Sewing and reading. I like to make window treatments. When my

House of the Week

Westport waterfront estate has privacy and space

This home on Drift Road in Westport includes more than 4,000 square feet of living space.

A long dock leads from the back of the estate to the Westport River.

The first floor of the home includes a living room, dining room and bright Florida room.

There are few estates left offering more than eight acres of privacy on the water. This is one of them.

This property comes with stunning views of the east branch of the Westport River, a private dock and a bucolic setting of stone walls, sprawling lawn and perennials abutting unspoiled, conservation land.

The three-bedroom, three-and-a-half-bathroom Cape Cod style home, built in 1956, is ideal for indoor and outdoor entertaining, with formal and casual living spaces and a lovely covered deck. An elegant, open layout offers ample natural light and captures breathtaking views.

The first floor features an updated kitchen, dining room, living room with a brick fireplace, and a bright Florida room.

The second floor has two generously sized bedrooms a full bath with huge soaking tub and a master suite with sitting area and en suite bath.

The home includes a total of 4,476 square feet of living space, and a portion of the full basement has been transformed into a great rec. area perfect for a pool table, ping pong or the ultimate man cave, complete with a brick fireplace and bathroom. The grounds are beautifully landscaped with open, green lawns, traditional New England stone walls, woods and beautiful waterfront access. A long wooden deck leads to the dock, where boats and other watercraft can be tied up for easy access to the river and points beyond.

There is also potential to subdivide into three additional, water access lots. This property has great potential and must be seen to truly appreciate.

Loan rates based on $100,000 with 20% down payment & no PMI. Variable mortgages listed are for 30 years, adjusted annually. Points are a one-time charge equal to one percent of the mortgage. APR stands for annual percentage rate and reflects closing costs spread over the life of the loan. CAP is the most a variable mortgage can increase in one year. Savings and loans and Rhode Island loan and investment banks are included in the bank section of this chart. These rates, provided by the institutions on Monday of this week, are subject to change or special conditions. For more information, consumers are advised to call the institution. First-time homebuyers may qualify for lower-rate mortgages from the Rhode Island Housing and Mortgage Finance Corporation. Many credit unions only grant loans to members and limit membership to a defined group. When shopping for mortgage rates ask for explanation of closing costs.
