University takes on local projects

Roger Williams students will get real-world experience

Two Bristol organizations, along with the Town of Bristol, will be working alongside Roger Williams University students on community projects, starting this fall.

The projects, directed through the university's Community Partnership Center, are:

■ The Herreshoff Marine Museum: Students will pursue three projects with the museum including researching the history of the Herreshoff Manufacturing Company, incorporating analysis of its business model and documenting its oral history. Graphic design students will also create a project plan to help the museum enhance its brand identity.

■ Mount Hope Farm: The project will identify, organize and archive historical documents. Students will also help to prioritize which documents to begin digitizing in an online archive.

■ Town of Bristol: Students will create a Bristol waterfront development plan with conceptual specifications for the waterfront boardwalk, including proposed cost estimates and recommended phases for its future implementation.

The Center pairs students and faculty with local nonprofits, municipalities and other organizations to tackle community projects that require specialized expertise or additional

"I love you, mom."

It's the one phrase Warren mother Melissa Bernard has eagerly waited to hear since she gave birth to her son Jason, on March 9, 2010.

Three and a half years later, Melissa is still waiting.

Just over a year ago, Jason was diagnosed with Childhood Apraxia of Speech, a motor speech disorder where the brain has problems sending signals to move body parts associated with speech — lips, tongue and jaw.

Not much is known about what causes the disorder, and the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders suggests it is rooted in other genetic disorders or caused by stroke or brain injury. But Jason suffered from none of those.

"He's easily frustrated, especially in social settings, because he knows what he wants to say he just can't say it," said Melissa.

Melissa knew something wasn't right when Jason was about 17 months old.

"The normal babbling and cooing wasn't happening when he turned 1,"

The Roger Williams University Library has digitized 16 years of the Bristol Phoenix's weekly print editions from Sep. 17, 1837, through Aug. 13, 1853.

Bristol news dating back 176 years is now within reach of everyone's fingertips. Students, researchers and local residents alike can access early issues of Bristol's newspaper of record, The Bristol Phoenix, without stepping foot into a library.

Partnering with the Rogers Free Library, the Bristol Historical and Preservation Society (BHPS) and Rhode Island Historical Society (RIHS), the Roger Williams University Library has digitized 16 years of the newspaper's weekly print editions from Sep. 17, 1837, through Aug. 13, 1853. By converting the issues from microfilm to a digital repository, the newspaper content is now readily available online and searchable by keyword, name or date.

The digital project stems from the steady demand from researchers, genealogists, students and local residents visiting the RWU library, Rogers Free Library or RIHS to access the print or microfilm collection of newspapers. These three locations were the only places individuals could access the archived issues; to search the newspaper content, patrons had to visit the historical society to reference its card index.

"This project will increase access to the newspaper collection not only for local residents, but for others beyond Rhode Island's borders," said Heidi Benedict, RWU archivist.

The digitization project was made possible by a $1,535 grant awarded to the RWU Library from the Rhode Island Council for the Humanities. The university library is now applying for additional funding with the goal of expanding upon the initial project and helping to digitize other historic Rhode Island newspapers.

Links to the digital repository will be made available on the RWU Library and Rogers Free Library websites. To access the digital versions of The Bristol Phoenix from 1837 to 1853, visit <http://rwunewspaperproject.omeka.net>.

Individuals interested in learning more about the digitization project of The Bristol Phoenix are encouraged to attend an information session held at Roger Williams University on the main Bristol campus on Thursday, Sept. 12. The event will be held in the Roger Williams University Library in the Mary Tefft White Cultural Center from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

East Bay Food Pantry to hold Hoedown for Hunger

The East Bay Food Pantry will hold its annual Uncorked! fund-raiser on Friday, Oct. 4, from 6 to 9 p.m. at The Barn at Mount Hope Farm, 250 Metacom Ave., Bristol. The theme for Uncorked! 2013 is Hoedown for Hunger, with the lively music of The Goat Ropers. Learn to line dance and enjoy food catered by 195 Franklin, while raising money to help keep the East Bay Food Pantry and the East Bay Thrift Shop stocked with items.

The event will feature a silent auction with an assortment of quality products and experiences donated by many local merchants, businesses and families. Cowboy boots and Stetson hat optional.

Tickets are $75 per person and can be purchased online at www.eastbayfoodpantry.org or at the East Bay Thrift Shop at 150 Franklin St. in Bristol. This event is supported by BankNewport, Bristol Marine, StrategicPoint Investment Advisors, Tri-Mack Manufacturing Corp, and other sponsors.

All proceeds from event ticket sales and the silent auction go to support the mission of the East Bay Food Pantry. For additional information, contact Anita at 401-396-9490 or arandall@eastbayfoodpantry.org.

Ask Dr. Kerwin BLOOD DISORDERS

Q: Should a blood disorder affect my decisions about dental treatment?

A: Yes. A blood disorder could definitely play into your dentist's decision about how to treat you. You should discuss any medical condition with your dentist. Medicine that you're taking can also play a role in your dentist's decisions. A blood disorder could decrease the number of platelets in the blood or impair their ability to collect. Platelets are crucial to blood clotting. Therefore, blood can take longer to clot, meaning a patient can bleed longer and more profusely in the course of a dental procedure.

Here are some types of blood disorders. Thrombocytopenia, which can result from an immune reaction in which a body develops antibodies to its own platelets, or from a disease like leukemia, can cause internal bleeding and slow healing. Hemophilia, a genetic disorder in which a patient is deficient in clotting factors or proteins that are needed for coagulation, leaves the patient vulnerable to bleeding so uncontrolled as to be life-threatening. Von Willebrand's Disease is the most common of the genetic bleeding disorders and is caused by a deficiency in a clotting factor.

In addition to these disorders, let your dentist know if you have been prescribed any anti-coagulant medication as a precaution against stroke or heart attacks. Keep your dentist apprised of any changes in your prescriptions or overall medical condition.

If you're looking to salivate over some of the most beautiful and expensive classic cars and motorcycles you'll ever see, then the third annual War Veterans Tribute Cruise In at the Rhode Island Veterans' Home on Metacom Avenue is the place to be Sunday, Sept. 15.

As event organizer Jerry O'Connor emphasized, "It's one of the finest automotive enthusiast events in Rhode Island."

Last year, the War Veterans Tribute Cruise In attracted 540 entrants. The weather was picture perfect.

"It was a beautiful day to pay tribute to the more than 200 resident veterans there," said Mr. O'Connor. "We go to them because they are limited in their mobility. We're there to get together with them to share our time, display our vehicles, and raise money for the Rhode Island Veterans' Home Fund.

All proceeds go to the fund, which, this year will help purchase special furnishings in a modernized recreational facility. In addition, the fund supports veterans' personal needs, such as trips and functions, as well as the purchase of TVs, clothing, and other personal needs.

Mr. O'Connor, a Massachusetts resident, loves paying tribute to the residents of the Veterans' Home in this special way.

"It's their day," he noted. "It's on their grounds (over 12 acres of grass). It's for their benefit, in the nostalgia that we create and the funds raised to support them, to the selection of the vehicles that will be receiving awards which will be done by a committee of resident veterans."

Bristol resident and longtime classic cars enthusiast Bob Correira, who will enter his 1946 Ford in the competition, says the War Veterans Tribute Cruise In is a great event for everyone.

"Not only are we helping the veterans," he said, "but we're getting all the clubs together and having fun. Everyone really enjoys doing this. It's great. We get a kick out of the veterans."

All types of automotive enthusiasts are encouraged to enter. At the conclusion of the show, there will be a parade of vehicles by a reviewing area for those disabled veterans who would otherwise not be able to view them.

Event sponsors include Bay State Street Machines, Bristol County Street Rod Assn., Combat

Judge set to rule on Bristol v. Warren school lawsuit

BY TED HAYES

thayes@eastbaynewspapers.com

A Rhode Island Superior Court judge is set to rule on whether Warren will have to pay the regional school district $416,000, plus interest and legal fees, more than a year after town officials refused to pay the district what the town was ordered for the 2012-13 school year.

Warren's refusal last year to pay the $12.165 million ordered by the district's financing authority marked a low point in school relations between Bristol and Warren, which have been bound together as a regional school district since 1991.

Instead of the $12.165 million ordered, the Warren Town Council voted in April 2012, and voters agreed at Financial Town Meeting that May, to pay the district $11.75 million for the coming school year, the same amount the town had provided the previous year.

In response, the school district filed suit against the town later last year.

After numerous hearings and meetings, Superior Court Associate Justice Luis Matos met with both sides last Friday and after an hour of testimony, said he will soon make his decision.

The district seeks a declaratory judgement that the Town of Warren is in violation of state laws that govern the financing of the local school district; and wants a Writ of Mandamus, an order that the town pay the amount called for last year, including punitive damages and attorneys' fees.

"This breaks down very simply," school district attorney Andrew Henneous told Justice Matos on Friday.

"The town didn't like the amount of money they were required to pay (but) they don't have the right to unilaterally decide that they're going to pay whatever they want to pay."

Mr. Henneous said that many of the town's arguments — the enrollment figures, timeliness and semantics in the state law that govern the district's finances — are "red herrings." In seeking a declaratory judgement and writ, he said, the issues before the court are actually quite simple, and come down only to the state law that has governed the district's finances for 21 years without a hitch. That law, and not the Financial Town Meeting, gives the finance authority, and not Warren's Financial Town Meeting or town council, the right to set the school aid amount.

Bristol Town Solicitor Michael Ursillo

also appeared in court Friday, as Bristol was included as an interested party in the case. He noted that if Warren officials wanted to contest the finance committee's decision, there was a "safety valve" in state law allowing officials to appeal it last Spring. Warren did not do so, he said.

"If either town can, just at its whim," ignore the finance committee's decision, "then why have this legislation?"

Though Mr. DeSisto on Friday sought an additional hearing on the matter, Judge Matos said he will render his decision either in person, or through a written order.

Mr. DeSisto said that if the decision goes against the town, Warren will have to hold a special Financial Town Meeting to authorize the release of the $416,000, plus any other costs.

RWU students' efforts garners $861K grant for Bristol

U.S. Sen. Jack Reed, D-RI, met with several town and state officials Monday, announcing the award of a $861,000 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service boating infrastructure grant to Bristol. The grant would help fund the renovation of the old Naval Reserve Armory building into a municipal maritime center. Bristol was one of six projects funded nation-wide.

The grant was made possible through a collaboration with the Roger Williams University Community Partnership Center, which utilized several business students to conduct a feasibility study of the maritime center. Their study found the average visiting boater spends about $70 a day in Bristol and that fully utilizing the harbor would cause an economic impact of $707,000 per year.

The $861,000 federal contribution will be matched by $896,000 in state and local funds that stem from a $9-million bond referendum approved by voters last November.

resources. Students apply classroom learning and gain real-world experience by engaging in community projects such as economic development research and planning, public policy formulation, architectural design and urban planning.

Last spring, business students at the university helped the Town of Bristol determine if transforming its historic Naval Armory building into a maritime welcome center for boaters was financially feasible and economically beneficial. The students found the project financially sound and as a result, the Town of Bristol recently landed an $860,000 boating infrastructure grant to fund the creation of the maritime center.

NEWS BRIEF

RWU to test sirens Sept. 18

At approximately 11:55 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 18, Roger Williams University will conduct an operational test of its Emergency Siren Warning System. The system, which broadcasts an 850-Hz siren tone, was implemented in 2008 to satisfy the need for immediate communication in the event of sudden emergencies. The ESWS is activated rarely, reserved for such life-threatening situations as a sudden, dangerous lightning storm, a chemical spill or a hostile intruder. Periodic testing is crucial to ensure the system will operate when needed. While some local community members in the vicinity of the university may hear the siren tone on Wednesday, Sept. 18, this is only a test – no action is required.

Ride for Freedom generates $4K

BY MANUEL C. "MANNY" CORREIRA

The third annual Motorcycle Ride for Freedom, sponsored by the Front Line Ministry for Freedom, was held Sunday in near-perfect weather conditions from the Pizza Wave parking lot on Metacom Avenue. The route included a 35-mile run through the streets of Bristol, Warren, and nearby Massachusetts. When the riders returned to Bristol about an hour, 15 minutes later, they were treated to a buffet at the Pizza Wave Restaurant, a 50-50 raffle, and prize raffle.

According to race coordinator David Benevides, the event was another great success.

"We had 63 bikes and a total of 136 people that came out to help us support our troops,"

he said. "We raised just over $4,000."

"I really enjoy supporting this effort," said Kris Carlone, of Bristol, riding in just her second motorcycle run on Sunday. "Tony (her husband) and I participated in the Ride for Diabetes a few weeks ago, and we really enjoyed it. These are worthwhile causes, and I'm all for that."

Front Line Ministry for Freedom is a Christian-based community outreach program designed to support and encourage troops overseas. This organization is largely made up of dedicated individuals from Bristol County churches and many other individuals who are actively supporting this endeavor.

"Our goal is to pray for our troops on a daily basis and to send care packages with some of the comforts of home," said Mr. Benevides. "We have individuals in our organization who have been on the battlefield and know the value of home-based support."

Gail Devine has helped coordinate this event from the beginning and says there is much satisfaction watching this race unfold.

"To see each biker taking time out of their day to ride for our military is awesome," she said. "With each care package that goes out, our ladies write them a note to let them know we are praying and thinking of them. The military enjoys getting packages we send them with comforts of home items. They write us thank you notes letting us know how much they enjoyed what we sent them."

Ms. Devine added, "The military is my love and I get joy out of doing things for them like raising money so we can send them care packages. Since 2008, we have sent out 562 care boxes with comforts of home items. We also send them calling cards around the holidays so they can call their family. From October 2012 to July 2013, we have raised $7,206.05 for care packages. We raise money by holding candy drives and we also have money banks at business locations."

EDITORIAL

Let's see your Vision

In 10 years, there could be a public sailing center on Bristol Harbor.

Or a hiking trail of interconnected green spaces throughout town.

If you envision great things for Bristol, consider attending the Vision for Bristol forum, which starts next week.

The goal of the public forum is to solicit ideas and opinions about what kind of Bristol we want to have in the next 10 years. An enhanced waterfront, perhaps, with scores of additional docks and moorings. Or how about an increased presence of manufacturing opportunities?

Town officials won't know where to go, or how to get there, without a plan, and that's where you come in.

Your input will help shape the future of Bristol, as the information gathered will be used to help form the 10-year Town Comprehensive Plan. This plan is what will guide officials in making future decisions.

As of press time, 125 people have registered for the forum, which takes place over two week-nights — Sept. 19 and 25, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. — in the basement of St. Mary's Church on Wood Street. Organizer Diana Campbell is hoping for 150.

Registrants represent a cross-section of Bristol residents — young, old, rich, poor, activists and those who would normally turn down public service opportunities. A major draw to participate is that none of the town officials will be present. They're not invited and even happily agreed to remain absent. They agree that the presence of a public official might stymie public discourse. Some will, however, be present on the second night, when the ideas generated from the first night will be unveiled in an organized manner.

The last forum, Voices for Bristol, took place almost seven years ago, and much of what was discussed was parlayed into the 2009 Town Comprehensive Plan, which was only a five-year outlook.

We ask that you sign up to participate because without your voice, there's a strong chance your desires for Bristol won't be represented.

To register, go to www.visionforbristol.com. See you there.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

War is not the answer

Dear Editor:

I still believe that war is not the answer.

To the person who smashed in my front window where my sign "War is not the answer" has stood for over 10 years: I assume you disagree with my beliefs but I want you to know that your act of violence will not silence me if that was what you intended. After over 11 years of war, I believe even more that war is not the answer!

Once again a US president is beating the war drums but I will not fall in line behind him because I have learned that misleading information has drawn us into wars before. I have learned that violence results in more violence and that the end does not justify the means. Instead, the means inform the end. I have learned that we cannot bring about peace through war and that most people want peace while the few profit from war. Like most Americans, I am tired of war.

I believe that no matter how appalled we may be at the bloodshed in Syria, resorting to violence ourselves is wrong and will only further inflame the region. If we have learned anything at all from the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, it should be that the decision to go to war is a very serious matter with dire consequences. How can we take unprovoked military action against another country and not call it war and what makes us think we can keep it limited? Need we be reminded about the costs of war, the risks of adding to the death toll of innocent civilians and refugees, further destabilizing the region, provoking retaliation, creating more enemies and finding ourselves in the midst of another country's civil war in a part of the world where we have lost credibility because of our lack of respect for international law? What about the costs to our war weary military forces and our economically strapped communities?

Instead of military action, I propose that we follow the teachings of Martin Luther King, Jr. Pursue nonviolent solutions: support and work with the UN and the world court, use diplomacy and provide humanitarian aid to the war weary Syrian people.

"Darkness cannot drive out darkness: only light can do that. Wars are poor chisels for carving out peaceful tomorrows." MLK

Disgusted by smokers who litter our beach

Dear Editor:

I read a letter last week from Mike Martel about rights being taken away, etc. with the question of removing smoking rights on the beach.

I would like to comment on beach butts as well. I am lucky enough to be a regular on South Shore and Goosewing beaches all summer. I am so disgusted when people leave their trash without another glance. I am especially turned off by people who smoke all day, leaving all their butts on the sand.

Please tell me why they think this is okay to do to our beautiful shoreline? This is plain ignorant. Please be more thoughtful of the beach and leave with all your trash and butts. Thank you!

Great Blueways article

Dear Editor:

Thank you for very thorough and interesting article and front page of that particular section about Blueways. I'm certain it hit an audience that does exist concerning a program they didn't know did exist. When I initially saw the picture, I thought, "Oh God, here we go again, another couple of celebrities pushing into Bristol." But then I realized, "Hey, wait a minute, Brian Denehe just died." But then, looking twice, I noticed it was only Tony and Cliff. So, as a member of the commission, thanks.

Police arrest Providence man for false robbery report

BY CHRISTINE O'CONNOR
coconnor@eastbaynewspapers.com

Police were called to a home on Michael Drive last Friday for a reported robbery that turned out to be a tall tale.

The alleged victim, Wilson Gonzalez, 48, of Providence, was waiting on the front steps when police arrived at the two-family home shortly after 12:30 p.m. Sept. 6.

According to police, Mr. Gonzalez told officers that after he arrived at home and walked up the stairs to the front door, he was shoved in the back by someone. He later told police that he was shoved into the home by two people, adding that they held a gun to his head. The two men allegedly ordered Mr. Gonzalez to open a safe belonging to his girlfriend's father, who owns the home and also lives there. Then, they stole an undisclosed sum of money.

The home was ransacked and Mr. Gonzalez also said the men tied him up to a bedpost using zip ties.

It was his girlfriend's father who freed Mr. Gonzalez when he returned to the home.

"There were signs indicating that it wasn't the usual violent crime scene," said Bristol Police Dep. Chief Steven Contente. "It didn't take long that he admitted to police he staged the crime to take the money.

"Nothing was damaged and nothing was broken," he continued. "He also said he didn't get a visual of the alleged robbers."

After Mr. Gonzalez confessed to staging the robbery, he was arrested on charges of falsely reporting a crime, a misdemeanor.

Three-vehicle crash kinks Hope Street traffic

BY ERIC DICKERVITZ

edickervitz@eastbaynewspapers.com

A crash involving three vehicles sent at least one person to the hospital and forced partial closure of Hope Street just north of Gooding Avenue late Monday morning.

According to a witness who was walking along Hope Street at around 11 a.m., one car was stopped at the traffic light in the southbound lane near the Bristol Medical Center. The witness said that a flatbed truck carrying lumber materials, also traveling south, failed to stop and plowed into the stopped vehicle.

At the time of the crash, a second vehicle was pulling out of the medical center parking lot and was struck by the car that was pushed by the truck.

Both cars came to rest on properties on the west side of Hope Street, one of them crashing through trees before coming to rest only feet from a house.

The truck remained at the traffic light where crews attended to the clean up of leaking fluids.

Northbound traffic at Gooding Avenue was temporarily diverted while the accident scene was cleared.

At least one person was transported to Rhode Island Hospital for unknown injuries.

Bristol police, fire, rescue and department of public works were on scene.

Portuguese pride strong in Bristol

Locals gather to cheer on Portugal soccer team

It may be a European sport, but soccer has quickly garnered an American following, especially among Bristol's Portuguese community.

"It's all about soccer, it's a major sport," said Norbert Pacheco, 69. "It's great to see them play here."

Mr. Pacheco settled in at the Bristol Sports Club Tuesday night, watching the screens with high hopes as rival soccer teams Portugal and Brazil faced off at Gillette Stadium in Foxborough.

"I'm glad I didn't get a ticket to go because Cristiano Ronaldo isn't there," said Jose Joao, 63, who sat beside Mr. Pacheco.

Ronaldo is one of the best players on the Portugal team, if not in the entire sport, Joao said.

"I'm disappointed."

Former Bristol resident and 1998 graduate of Our Lady of Fatima High School Jason Almeida did, however, buy a ticket to Tuesday's game and attended with his dad, Adelino. Mr. Almeida flew in from Denver, Col. earlier in the day.

"I'm pretty pumped up about it," he said before the game. "I've never seen Portugal play. These are huge powerhouses, meeting together. There's a lot of top caliber players and we get to see them on both sides."

The two joined the nearly 63,000 spectators, fanatically cheering on their team.

"These guys are professionals," Mr. Almeida said. "It's great to see their talent, and the way they finesse the game."

In the end, no amount of quick-stepping could garner a win for Portugal, as the team fell to the five-time world champions, 3-1.

POLICE REPORT

Alleged drunk driver topples Metacom Ave.

The following report is compiled from the Bristol Police Department call log for the week of Sept. 3 - 8, 2013:

Tuesday, Sept. 3

Animal control officers were called to a State Street home to remove a snake left in the home by a previous tenant.

A State Street caller reported the theft of a washer and dryer.

A caller reported hearing voices coming from the bushes at Independence Park shortly before 10 p.m., concerned that someone might be sleeping in them. Police dispersed the person.

Wednesday, Sept. 4

A Westwood Road resident reported that a 12-year-old was stalking her 7-year-old daughter.

A Mulberry Road resident reported three suspicious-looking males on bicycles in the area.

Thursday, Sept. 5

Police were called to a car accident at the intersection of Franklin Street and Metacom Avenue at 12:22 a.m. Upon arrival, police saw the driver, Elaine Dickervitz, 46, of Barrington, trying to get out of her car, which had flipped on the driver's side after hitting a telephone pole. While trying to help her, officers detected alcohol on her breath and administered a field sobriety test, which she failed. She was arrested on charges of DUI-first offense, and failure to submit to a chemical test.

A Jameson Drive resident reported that someone had cut down trees on his property. Officers told him they were cut down to provide for a stop sign and that the branches would be picked up.

Police were called to a home on Narrows Road to settle a dispute between neighbors over lawn cutting.

While on patrol on High Street, officers noticed a parked car with three males in it. Ten minutes later, the car was still there and officers asked the men why they were parked near a school. They allegedly told officers that they were waiting for a friend who lived nearby. Officers ran background checks on the men, and determined that one of them, Shawn J. Vargas, 23, of 21 Magnolia St., Bristol, had a bench warrant out for his arrest. He was taken into custody.

Animal control was called to an area of Wood Street for a reported pit bull trying to attack someone's cat.

RIPTA called Bristol police to report that several Roger Williams University students were standing in front of the bus, not allowing it to move on. Officers investigated and determined that the bus was overcrowded and some students were asked to wait for the next bus.

While conducting ID checks at Mt. Hope Liquors, police discovered that Jonathan Collins, 27, of Providence, had a bench warrant out for his arrest for failure to appear in court for a suspended license summons. He was taken into custody.

Friday, Sept. 6

Police investigated a complaint of road rage in an area of Wood and State streets, which was determined to be a misunderstanding.

Police were called to an Oliver Street home for a report of an assault in progress. Upon arrival, officers knocked on the door to the second floor apartment, which was opened by a female. She told officers she was OK, but that her husband, James McGowan, 33, of 9 West St., Bristol, had showed up yelling at her. The two friends she was with took off out of fear, later offering a statement to police. McGowan was later arrested on charges of violating a restraining order.

A 9-1-1 call was made, later determined to be accidental. A homeowner was showing his wife how to use a new phone.

Saturday, Sept. 7

Police arrested Austin Rosenthal, 21, of New York, on an affidavit warrant charge of possessing a schedule 1 - 4 drug, and a bench warrant for failure to appear.

A Court Street resident reported a possible college party in the area at 12:40 a.m. Police determined that it was a homeowner out with a couple of friends, who were then advised of the noise ordinance.

A Bradford Street caller reported that a male was sleeping on a fence. Bristol Rescue was dispatched because the male was intoxicated.

Police arrested Ardy Jagne, 27, of 43 Prospect St., Bristol, on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses. A Fall River woman reported to police on Aug. 19 that Mr. Jagne had allegedly scammed her out of $8,000. She told police that she met Mr. Jagne at a florist shop in Fall River, who overheard her talking about needing a car. She told police that Mr. Jagne said he was in the businesses of buying cars at auction and could help her. The two kept in touch and Mr. Jagne eventually found a car for the woman, for $19,150. He allegedly told her he needed $3,000 transferred into his account to get the car, adding weeks later that he needed about $5,000 more to have it delivered, which she complied. When he did not deliver, she filed a report to get her $8,000 back.

Sunday, Sept. 8

A Ruth Avenue resident reported a college party, and had witnessed a car coming and going, dropping off more party-goers.

Police responded to a home on Fox Hill Avenue for an accidental 9-1-1 call. A child had been playing with the phone.

A caller crossing Mt. Hope Bridge at 9:10 p.m. reported seeing a male walking across the bridge. Police responded to the scene and transported the male, who was walking because he had a suspended license.

Police were called to a Hope Street home for a reported domestic disturbance. Officers spoke with both parties, Jennifer Gomes, 27, and Robert Irving Cairrao Jr., 31, both of 1013 Hope St.. Ms. Gomes told police that her boyfriend, Mr. Cairrao, had grabbed her by the arm and pulled her hair the day before. On that night, she told police he had allegedly whacked a phone out of her hand. Neighbors nearby reported hearing yelling, but didn't witness an attack. Ms. Gomes' injuries were photographed, and consistent with her story. Mr. Cairrao was arrested on charges of domestic assault. Ms. Gomes was also taken into custody because there was an active bench warrant for her arrest for failure to appear in court for a suspended license summons.

APRAXIA: With early intervention, most children will recover

she said. "But the pediatrician assured us that he was an early walker, and he was concentrating on his gross motor skills."

Several months later, with Jason still inaudible, Melissa and her husband sought the help of a speech therapist and enrolled their son in an early intervention program.

Jason received intensive speech therapy, utilizing an iPad to communicate and practice sounds. He also learned some sign language as a way to ease his frustrations when communicating.

"We try not to use the sign language as much because we don't want him to rely on that as a sole means to communicate," Melissa said, "so we work with him constantly."

Since children with Apraxia cannot communicate their needs effectively, often behavioral issues emerge and a child could struggle in social settings.

"It breaks my heart sometimes, when we're at the park and he starts playing with other kids and then when they realize that he can't talk, they sort of go their own way," Melissa said.

When Jason was first diagnosed, Melissa initially felt helpless, knowing nothing about Apraxia. Little data is available about how many children are diagnosed with the disorder, and even more rare are resources to help families struggling to combat it.

Then she found CASANA — the Childhood Apraxia of Speech

The Jenkins family: Scott, Kendra and Talan, of Portsmouth. Kendra organized the state's first-ever Walk for Apraxia, scheduled for this Sunday at Colt State Park. Talan was diagnosed with Apraxia just before turning 3.

Association — a non-profit organization based in Pennsylvania whose mission is solely to support research and help families affected by Apraxia. It was founded by its director Sharon Getz, whose son was diagnosed with a severe case of the disorder over 12 years ago.

"Little is known about it and through CASANA we bring awareness," Sharon said. "We are the only organization dedicated to raising awareness about Apraxia."

What is known, Sharon said, is that with appropriate early help, nearly all of the kids will develop intelligible speech.

"The extent depends on whether there's co-existing problems," she said. "Many kids may get to the point where no one will ever know there was a speech problem."

Her own son, now a teenager, is enrolled in high school, sitting alongside his peers in a typical academic setting.

"It was painstaking to watch, with more than 200 speech therapy lessons," said Sharon. "But the persistence of both him and his speech therapist, it would be an understatement to say it was inspiring. It fueled my passion and desire to see that kids with Apraxia get the help they need."

CASANA utilizes donations through community walks and other grants to fund its programs, such as iPad for Apraxia. Families of low to moderate income are given iPads with protective cases so they can incorporate apps into a child's therapy program.

"We found early on in a pilot program that tablets and apps can help kids in terms of speech practice," Sharon said. "And they are communication tools for them, when they aren't able to speak for themselves yet. It's augmentative communication."

"For many families, having a dedicated tool like this for their child is out of the realm of their budgets."

Rhode Island will have its first-ever Walk for Apraxia this Sunday, Sept. 15 at Colt State Park. Registration starts at 9 a.m. and the walk starts at 10. Currently, there are more than 200 participants and nearly $11,000 has been raised.

"I never thought we'd have this much participation," said Kendra Jenkins, a Portsmouth mom whose son Talan, 4, also suffers from Apraxia.

"He was diagnosed just before this third birthday," she said. "He walked late, crawled late, so we just thought he was a late bloomer and was taking the scenic route.

"Once we got the diagnosis, it was hard. I had no idea what it was. Our first reaction was, 'Will he ever speak?'"

Like Jason, Talan was hardly babbling, opting for sounds and grunts to communicate his desires.

"His main form is sign language. He still only says about eight words."

Kendra also turned to the web to learn more about the disorder, discovering CASANA.

"I jumped in head first," she said "I thought about how great it would be to get involved and raise awareness about Apraxia. I contacted CASANA and started organizing the walk a few months ago."

Kendra also started a support group-Facebook page for Rhode Island families affected by Apraxia, Rhode Island Apraxia Families.

"It's comforting to find others going through what we're going through," she said. "We can get together, talk about our journey and have a safe place to go and cry to someone who understands."

Melissa hasn't been to one of Kendra's playgroups yet, but is looking forward to Sunday's walk.

"We're not alone," Melissa said. "I can't tell you how good it feels to know there are other moms who know exactly what I mean when I tell them what we're going through."

Coggeshall Farm to host annual Harvest Fair

All ages are invited to enjoy a weekend unplugged at Coggeshall Farm off Poppasquash Road, a living history farm that depicts Bristol's agrarian life in 1799.

The farm's 40th annual Harvest Fair is on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 14 and 15, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. It is the farm's major fundraiser of the year.

Fun activities for all ages include hayrides, face painting, craft-making, a chance to see the farm's animals and hand-milk a cow, a hay bale toss, sack races, Jacob's Ladder, watermelon seed-spitting contest and other traditional games, along with a Muck Boot Fashion Show.

Purchase heirloom plants and attend a cooking demonstration with farm-raised products.

Listen to traditional, acoustic music by Trua and watch Morris dancing by the Ladies of the Rolling Pin. See the work of Rhode Island artisans and enjoy local foods.

The fair has the flavor of the 18th century, updated to give all ages a fun and relaxing way to enjoy a September weekend in a pastoral setting.

Admission is $8 for adults, $5 for seniors and children ages 3 to 12, and free for children under 3. Museum members receive discounted admission.

For more information about the fair and other activities on the farm, visit www.coggeshallfarm.org.

AROUND TOWN

Thursday afternoon walking tours downtown

The Bristol Historical & Preservation Society is offering its annual Thursday afternoon walking tours downtown with Ray Battcher. The topic today, Sept. 12 is "Backdoor Gossip."

On Sept. 19, the walk will travel "Hither and Yon."

Walks start at 3 p.m. at the society, 48 Court St., and are free to members and $5 to others. If it rains, the walks do not take place.

The society also is open every Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. Call 253-7223 or visit www.bhpsri.org for more information. Membership is open to all. There is adequate parking and the society is wheelchair accessible.

Authors to talk about Italian immigrants

The R.I. Region of the National Organization of Italian American Women will host a presentation on Thursday, Sept. 12, at 6:30 p.m. at Rogers Free Public Library in the Herreshoff Community Room, 525 Hope St. Barbara Carroll and Marge Caprara of the Italian American Historical Society will highlight excerpts from their recently published book, "Voices of Rhode Island's Italian-Americans."

It is free and open to the public. For more information, call Anne Marie D'Attelo at 396-5438 or visit www.noiaaw.org.

Health insurance information night

ilies can enroll in the Marketplace Exchange for affordable insurance beginning Oct. 1.

A health insurance information night on Thursday, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m. at Roger Williams University will offer information on how to sign up for insurance, what the options are, and how the new law will affect people in Rhode Island.

Speakers will include Christine Ferguson, director of the R.I. Health Benefits Exchange; Ana Novais, R.I. Department of Health; Joseph Stone, Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services; and Sarah Fessler, East Bay Community Action Program.

The program is in the university's Feinstein College of Arts and Sciences, Room 157. It is free and open to the public.

Local actor starring in 'Spamalot' this weekend

"Monty Python's Spamalot" will be on stage at Bristol Community College in Fall River at 8 p.m. Thursday to Saturday, Sept. 12 to 14, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 15. It is directed by Richard Bento of Warren. Bill Dennis of Bristol stars as King Arthur, and the show also features Katie and Kevin Silva of Warren. Also involved are Diane Campagna, choreographer, and Kara Rocha, stage manager, both of Bristol.

The play is "lovingly ripped off" from the 1975 classic film comedy "Monty Python and the Holy Grail," and follows King Arthur and his knights of the round table on their quest to find the Holy Grail. The show is outrageously funny and irreverent as it pokes fun at Broadway.

Tickets are $25 for Knights' Circle, $17 general admission, and $13 for seniors and students with ID. For reservations, call 774/226-8211.

Farmers' market open on Fridays at Colt Park

An annual market by the R.I. DEM Division of Agriculture is open from 2 to 6 p.m. on Fridays through Oct. 26, rain or shine, at Colt State Park, off Hope Street.

Enter through the main entrance at Asylum Road and watch for the signs on the left.

Farmers' market is at Mount Hope Farm

The Mount Hope Farmers' Market is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays through Oct. 26, rain or shine, at Mount Hope Farm, 250 Metacom Ave., in the south pasture.

Linden Place to host downtown walking tour

Linden Place Museum will again host a walking tour, "Tales of the Slave Trade." Bristol's premier family in the 18th and early 19th centuries, the DeWolfs were once one of the largest traders of slaves in New England.

The guided tour begins at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, at Linden Place, 500 Hope St., before continuing through the center of town to the waterfront on Thames Street.

The tour ends at the historic DeWolf Tavern, once a DeWolf waterfront warehouse, where tour-goers enjoy a rum cocktail and ask questions.

The tour is $15 ($10 for Linden Place members) and includes a complimentary drink. Reservations are required; the tour is limited to 15 people. Call 253-0390.

Another tour is coming up on Oct. 12.

Tour of the vegetable garden at Blithewold

"Mornings in the Vegetable Garden" conclude on Saturday, Sept. 14, at 10:30 a.m. with Assistant Grounds Manager Dan Christina at Blithewold Mansion, Gardens & Arboretum at 101 Ferry Road. Take a morning tour of Blithewold's vegetable garden.

The tours cover a variety of topics, such as high-yield succession plantings, space-saving growing techniques, and tips for engaging young minds using playful structures. The fun and educational tours highlight tasks and projects as they arise in Blithewold's vegetable garden all summer long.

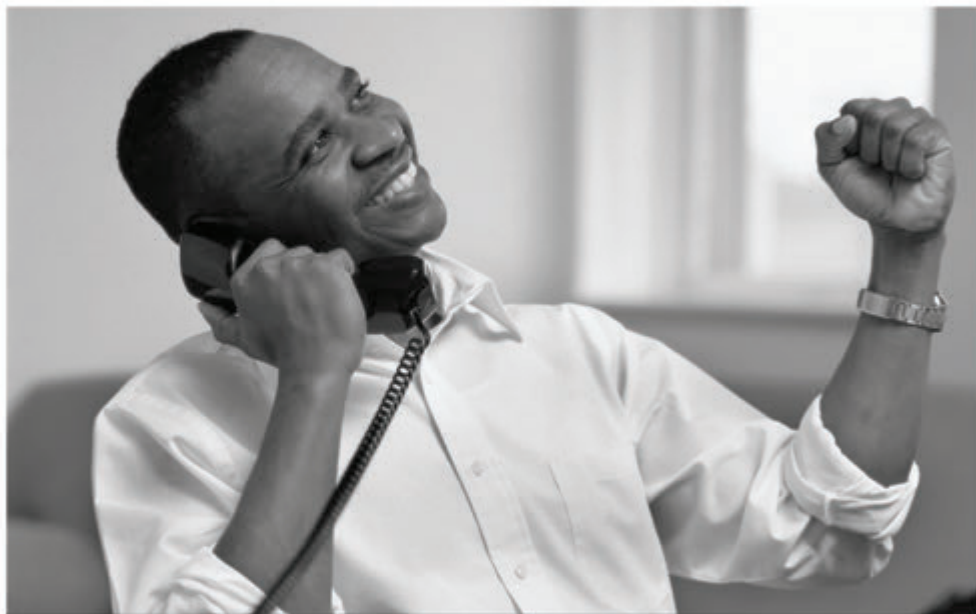

The tour is free with regular mansion admission, which is $11 adults, $9 seniors, members of the military and full-time students, $3 youths 6 to 17, $24 family of two adults and two youths, and $10 AAA members.

Malassada sale at St. Elizabeth's

Holy Trinity will hold a malassada sale from 7 a.m. to noon Sunday, Sept. 15, at St. Elizabeth Church, Wood Street.

Peace vigil planned downtown on Saturday

A peace vigil sponsored by the East Bay Citizens for Peace and Justice is on Saturday, Sept. 14, from 11 a.m. to noon on Hope Street, across from the post office. Vigils are held on the second Saturday of each month. All are invited to join them.

East Bay Citizens for Peace is a grassroots organization committed to peaceful solutions to conflict and to social and economic justice through open, respectful dialogue.

For more information, contact eastbaycitizens4peace@hotmail.com or call 247-9738.

Four bridges open to cyclists for one day

Cyclists will cross the Jamestown, Newport, Sakonnet and Mount Hope Bridges in a 26-mile charity ride on Sunday, Sept. 15. (The deadline to register was Tuesday).

The Pell and Jamestown bridges are normally closed to bicycle traffic, and the new Sakonnet bridge pedestrian path is near completion just in time for this new event sponsored by the R.I. Turnpike and Bridge Authority.

Hundreds of participants are expected to turn out and enjoy this scenic morning ride through seven coastal communities.

The ride will begin at 7 a.m. in North Kingstown at the Park 'n' Ride and end just outside of Roger Williams University in Bristol.

All net proceeds will benefit local charities. Follow ride activity on Twitter at @4BridgesRide and on Facebook at Facebook.com/4bridgesride.

More course marshals are needed to ensure safety for the riders at intersections across Aquidneck Island, especially in Portsmouth. Volunteers are needed from 7 to 11 a.m. For more information, call Matt Gray at 318-2991.

Free boot camp is open to all daily

A free boot camp is open to all levels. It meets at 6:30 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and at 6:30 p.m. Mondays at the First Congregational Church on High Street; and at 6:30 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays at Reynolds School, basement level, High Street.

Cub Scout signups on Tuesday evening

Pack 6 Bristol will hold Cub Scout signups for boys in grades 1 to 5 on Tuesday, Sept. 17, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the St. Mary's Church parish hall, Wood Street.

Cub Scouts can earn a beltloop and pin in soccer, baseball, basketball, swimming, art, and map and compass. Or, enjoy the Battleship Cove sleepover, campouts, the Boston Museum of Science sleepovers and more.

For more information, visit packsix.com or call 855-7225.

Free talk about guns, politics and the law

Barrington Public Library and East Bay Citizens for Peace present "Guns: Public Policy, Politics and Law," a talk by Professor Carl T. Bogus of Roger Williams University School of Law, on Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 7 p.m. in the Barrington Public Library auditorium, 281 County Road.

Mr. Bogus will discuss the issues of gun control and gun rights in America including why gun control is so politically difficult to achieve.

He will address the legal framework of the Second Amendment, and how different kinds of gun control either have reduced or increased homicides, injuries and suicides in the past.

He has spoken and written extensively on the topics of gun control and the Second Amendment. He is the editor of "The Second Amendment in Law and History: Historians and Constitutional Scholars on the Right to Bear Arms," published in 2002.

A question and answer session will follow the talk, which is free and open to all.

Photography workshop with Jan Armor Sept. 21

"Seeing Well," a photography workshop with Jan Armor, is on Saturday, Sept. 21, from 9 a.m. to noon at Blithewold Mansion, Gardens & Arboretum, 101 Ferry Road.

A good picture is one you haven't seen before. (When you consider that 3,000 pictures are uploaded on Facebook every second, this can be quite a difficult task nowadays.)

However, a good picture can also show something in a way no one has seen before, taken from a unique point of view, yours.

This workshop is about training your eye to see well and deeply, and to use your heart and your head as well as your eyes to make pictures that speak to others.

The cost is $130 ($125 members). It is limited to intermediate photographers.

Register online at www.blithewold.org or call 253-2707.

Holy Ghost Committee to host benefit dinner

The St. Elizabeth Church Holy

Autism race, Family Field Day on Sept. 29

The 11th annual In Step for Autism 3K Walk/5K Run & Family Field Day is on Sunday, Sept. 29, at Colt State Park, Asylum Road. Registration and breakfast begin at 10 a.m.

The 5K Run steps off at 11 a.m. followed by the 3K Walk at 11:15. Join the Groden Network and the Autism Society's R.I. Chapter for a day of family fun while making a difference in the lives of those with autism.

Runners will automatically be entered in a special free raffle. Prizes will be given to the top three finishers in each age group and overall.

Register by Friday, Sept. 27. The fee is $20. Runners have the option to secure donations in lieu of entry fee. Donations must exceed $20. To register, visit www.firstgiving.com/asari-groden.

After the walk/run, stay and enjoy the BBQ and family field day complete with games, field events, pumpkin painting, New England Revolution speed ball soccer activity, a raffle and much more. Family entertainment will be provided until 2 p.m.

T-shirts will be given to all participants while supplies last. All proceeds from the event, 100 percent, support autism programs in Rhode Island.

For more information, call Kelly Azera at 274-6310, ext. 1266, or e-mail her at kazera@grodencenter.org.

Conversational Italian lessons set

Conversational Italian lessons will be offered by Our Lady of Mount Carmel parish for anyone interested in learning enough Italian for travel.

The introductory course is designed for people with no prior knowledge of Italian or who may have studied Italian years ago and want to have a refresher course.

Topics to be covered and vocabulary will focus on travel with very little grammar. The instructor is Natalie Lero Urban, a retired Italian teacher with a master of arts in Italian and 33 years of teaching experience.

There will be 10 classes on Wednesdays from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Mount Carmel School library beginning Oct. 2. The fee is $95. Call 253-9328 for more information.

Audubon hosting storytimes, Free Family Fun Day and birding skills

School is back in session, but there are still plenty of nature activities to keep you connected with the great outdoors at the Audubon Society of Rhode Island's Environmental Education Center at 1401 Hope St. on the Bristol/Warren town line.

The center features a life-sized model of a Right Whale, harbor seal display, marine and freshwater aquarium exhibits, tide pool tank, along with trails and a boardwalk to the bay on the 28-acre wildlife refuge. The center is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The usual admission fee is $6 for adults, $5 for seniors and $4 for children 4 to 12 years (under 4 are free). However, it is waived on the first Saturday of each month (the second Saturday this month because of Raptor Weekend) for Free Family Fun Day courtesy of a grant from the Citizens Bank Foundation.

For more information, call 245-7500 or visit www.asriec.org. To register for programs requiring registration, call 949-5454, ext. 0, or register online at www.asri.org.

■ Preschool storytimes are on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 12 and 13, with "Big Al" by Andrew Clements at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Thursday and at 10 a.m. only on Friday. Children ages 3 to 5 enjoy the reading of a nature story, with hands-on activities, followed by a nature craft. Adults must accompany children. The fee is $6 for children ($5 for member children). Registration is required as space is limited.

■ A Free Family Fun Day is from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14. Admission to the Environmental Education Center is free on the first Saturday of every month (the second Saturday this month), courtesy of a grant from the Citizens Bank Foundation. Families can explore environmental exhibits representing Rhode Island's diverse habitats, enjoy the nature trails.

■ "Birding 200: Advance Your Skills" is on four Saturdays, Sept. 14 to Oct. 5, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for adults. Improve your basic skills and expand your knowledge of Rhode Island birds in a fun, friendly atmosphere. Join Audubon for a series focused on fall bird identification, adaptations and migration strategies. This indoor/outdoor class will be led by Lauren Parmelee, expert birder and environmental educator. Bring binoculars and a field guide if you have them, and dress appropriately for the weather. The class is limited to 15, so register early. The cost is $48 ($40 members). Register online.

■ "Providence Raptors," a photography exhibit by Peter Green, is open during regular hours through Oct. 31. Providence photographer and graphic designer Peter Green has walked the city streets for years, documenting the peregrine falcons and other birds of prey. Visit providenceraptors.com to see more of Peter's work. The exhibit is free with admission.

AT THE LIBRARY

Thursday Night Write

Kate Gorton's creative writing workshops will return on Thursday, Sept. 12, at 6 p.m. near the Quiet Study Room on the main floor. The free workshops are for teens and adults who write or just want to write. No registration needed.

The meeting will begin with instruction on how to write and writing prompts. In the second half, there will be friendly reviews and editing of submitted stories and poetry. Workshops are on most Thursdays, but will not meet on Halloween. For more information, call and ask for Charlotte.

Legos at the Library

Legos at the Library will not return until November. The beginning date will be posted soon.

Chess class

A chess class for young beginners is for children who are at least 6 to learn the basics of chess from expert volunteers. Older children, up to age 18, who know the basics, may come just to play the game.

The class meets every Tuesday from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. right after school. No registration is needed and parents are asked to stay nearby. The class is weekly until Dec. 10, when there will be a holiday break until Jan. 7. For more information, call and ask for Miss Charlotte.

Chess Club

The Chess Club meets every Wednesday from 6 to 8 p.m. on the third floor and welcomes new members. Chess players of all ages are welcome to join in the games. Light refreshments are served. Questions? Call the library and ask for Tom.

Wednesday movies

Wednesday Night at the Movies returns. Peter Weldy will host free screenings of new releases in the Herreshoff Meeting Room at 7 p.m. on select Wednesdays.

The next movie is "42" on Sept. 18. Branch Rickey changed baseball forever when he signed Jackie Robinson to the Brooklyn Dodgers, breaking Major League Baseball's infamous color barrier. Robinson, #42, used his talent to overcome racism from fans and players alike. The PG-13 film stars Chadwick Boseman, T.R. Knight and Harrison Ford.

Upcoming films are "Admission" on Oct. 2 and "Amour" on Oct. 9.

Adult book discussion

The Adult Book Discussion Group will resume on Wednesday, Sept. 25, to discuss "The Tell" by Hester Kaplan. Discussions are at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Herreshoff Community Room. Feel free to join the discussion at either time. Just arrive a few minutes early to sign in for the book discussion.

A very limited number of copies of the book are available at the main circulation desk and may be checked out with your library card. Call Cheryl Stein at 253-6948 for questions or visit the website.

The author, who lives in Rhode Island, will read from her book at Roger Williams University on Tuesday, Oct. 22 (go to the library's website for the link to RWU).

Rogers Free Library is at 525 Hope St. Extra parking is in the rear of the building off Thames Street. For more information, call 253-6948 or visit the website at www.rogersfreelibrary.org. And, check out postings of events, staff picks, sneak peeks at new and upcoming books, and the latest DVD arrivals.

Huskies' runners showing promise for a winning season

Personal best time recorded at Injury Fund Carnival

BY ERIC DICKERVITZ
edickervitz@eastbaynewspapers.com

In the freshman race, Caleb Dorgan ran well at the high school level, placing 91st of 185 runners. Spencer Mlynek was just behind in 99th and Noah Paon finished 128th.

On the girls' side, Hazel Baldwin-Kress led the way in the Sullivan Varsity Race, placing 33rd with a time of 24:11. Renee Tremblay ran well in her first race, placing 53rd with a 27:47 time.

In the girls' freshmen race Cassidy Allen ran a very strong race, finishing 31st of 90 runners.

The next pre-season meet for both teams will be next Friday, Sept. 13, when they compete at the Twilight Relays at Cumberland High School. On Monday, Sept. 16, the boys' and girls' teams will begin their regular season meets when they compete in a dual meet against Moses Brown and Barrington High School. That meet will take place at 4 p.m. at Barrington High School.

The Mt. Hope High School boys' and girls' cross country teams kicked off their season at the Injury Fund Carnival held at Burrillville Middle School. The boys' team finished seventh of the 12 teams competing in the Laurie Boemker Varsity Race, with personal-best times recorded for Riley Rancourt, Bryce O'Brien, Matt DeWolf, Ben Ratier, Michael Proietta, James Fallon and Ryan Arruda. Rancourt led the way for the Huskies, finishing 30th overall with a time of 18:43, followed by Bryce O'Brien's 41st-place time of 19:18, and Burke O'Brien in 45th with a time of 19:34.

East Bay Warriors win first game of season

Midgets defeat Barrington after rain postpones game

The East Bay Warrior Jr. Midget football team enjoyed a 20 - 0 win over rival Barrington in the team's first game of the season. Although scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 1, heavy rains caused a postponement, pushing the opener at the Barrington High School field to Labor Day.

The Warriors started the scoring early in the game after Josh Pompey carried the ball on a long run off right tackle to the 1 yard line. Pompey finished the drive on the next play on a run up the middle. After a missed extra-point kick, the Warriors took an early 6-0 lead, and held it until the third quarter. The Warriors added seven more points to their score with a quarterback sneak by Matt DeFelicce and an extra-point kick by Josh Pompey, extending their lead to 14-0. The final score of the game was on a 50 yard run up the middle by Joey Penkala. A missed extra point kick ended the game with a 20-0 win.

In addition to Pompey and Penkala, Jeff Silvia and Jeremy Thibitout had some nice runs for the Warriors. Thibitout also did a nice job blocking from his full-back position. Offensive linemen and ends AJ Bernado, Keith Stephenson, Caden Cabral, Zach Burke, Tyler Rego, Aaron Myers, Mike Trexler, Luke Swift, Dylan Martins, Jeff Silvia, Alex Tainsh, Zach Silva, and Connor McKenna opened up some huge holes throughout the day.

On defense, Max Moskala made numerous tackles from his cornerback position as did middle linebacker Caden Cabral. Colin Sullivan made a nice interception to stop an Eagle drive. Alex Tainsh, Jeff Silvia, and Matt DeFelicce also made some big defensive plays, but the Warriors really had a total team defensive effort in shutting out the Eagles.

RIC taps Bristol native for soccer coach position

Troy Silvia will be assistant men's soccer coach

Rhode Island College has named Troy Silvia as the assistant men's soccer coach. He will assist Head Coach John Mello with all phases of the RIC men's soccer program, including recruiting, scouting, administering practice and game coaching.

"It's a pleasure to have the opportunity to work alongside coach Mello," said Silvia. "I'm excited to help this prestigious program get back to its winning ways."

A former standout for the Anchormen, Silvia closed out his career at RIC having played in 72 games, starting in 48 of them. Silvia totaled six goals and two assists for 14 points.

As a senior in 2011, Silvia captained the Anchormen and was named Second Team All-Little East. He played in 19 games, starting all of them. He tallied a pair of goals for four points, while his goal in the final two minutes of regulation against Plymouth State on Oct. 22 forced overtime and helped guide RIC to a 2-1 victory over the Panthers. Silvia also scored on a penalty kick in a 4-0 win over Southern Maine on Oct. 29.

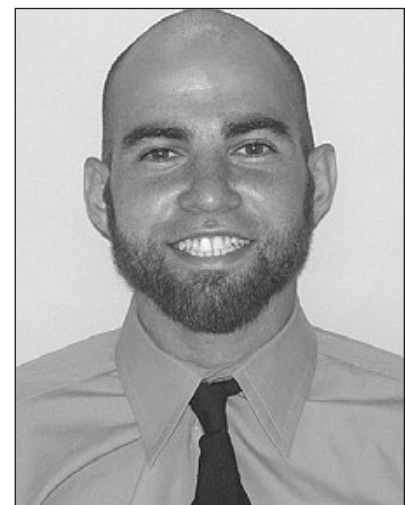

As a junior in 2010, Silvia played in 19 games, starting 17 of them.

As a sophomore in 2009, he played in 13 games, starting one of them. Silvia had two goals and two assists for six points, and posted a season-high three points, with a goal and an assist, in RIC's, 5-0, win over UMass Boston on Oct. 31.

As a freshman in 2008, Silvia played in 21 games, starting 11 of them, and had two goals for four points.

The Bristol native earned his bachelor's degree in community health education from Rhode Island College in 2013. In addition to his coaching duties, Silvia recently interned as a fitness instructor at Fidelity Investments in Smithfield and is currently working at Patriot Wine & Spirits in Warren.

Girls' tennis opens season with three victories

Mt. Hope Huskies continue winning ways

BY ERIC DICKERVITZ
 edickervitz@eastbaynewspapers.com

After a near perfect season last year, the Mt. Hope High School girls' tennis team is continuing its winning ways, taking their first three matches including two shut-out victories.

The loss of three players who graduated in the spring was balanced by the addition of four new players to the varsity team, as well as "a lot of new girls" to make up a junior varsity team, said coach Geoff Keegan. While the girls are aware of last year's tremendous season, their main focus is to work to improve their own game.

"It's on the back of our minds," Mr. Keegan said of the prior season. "But we keep the same mantra of playing one game at a time. On any given day any team may be strong."

Like last season, the Huskies anticipated a challenging match when they played against their rivals, North Smithfield, on Monday, Sept. 9.

"We knew this was going to be the toughest match so far," Mr. Keegan said.

Like the same matchup last year, the 4-3 win wasn't determined until the final doubles match.

"Literally it was deja vu. It was a different result in that we got the win," he said.

OBITUARIES

Manuel Raposa

Adored his wife, family and Bristol

Manuel Raposa, 94, of Oliver Street passed away on Saturday, Sept. 7, at St. Elizabeth Manor.

He was the husband of Maria (R a p o s o) Raposa.

Born in Bristol, he was the son of the late Manuel Raposo Salema and Francisca Furtado Salema.

He is survived by his children Paul and his wife Maria Raposa, George and his wife Silvia Raposa and Mary Ellen Raposa; grandchildren Isabella Raposa, Tania Rottger, Antone Mello and Luis Raposa.

To all who knew him, Manny was known as a hard worker, a gifted gardener and cook, and a person of unwavering character and principle.

He was born in Bristol, and moved to the island of San Miguel with his parents as an infant. He returned to Bristol in his mid-20s where he lived the remainder of his life. He was married to his beloved Maria for 56 years, for whom his love seemed to grow in intensity until his last moment on this earth. He loved his family, this town, the Fourth of July parade and this country. He often stated "God Bless America" when relaying his thanks for everything he was able to accomplish in the nation in which he chose to live.

He was a congregant of St Elizabeth's Church, an employee of Kaiser Aluminum for 38 years, a member of the Bristol Sports Club and the Lincoln Club.

He built a home on Oliver Street where he and Maria raised their family, and where he established a varied and extensive garden and carved out his piece of the American Dream. His last days were spent surrounded by his family, and beside his cherished Maria.

His funeral services will be held Friday, Sept. 13, at 10 a.m. from the George Lima Funeral Home, 367 High St. with a Mass of Christian Burial at 11 a.m. at St. Elizabeth Church, 577 Wood St.

Burial will follow in St. Mary's Cemetery, Bristol. Calling hours are Thursday, Sept. 12, from 5-8 p.m.

Retired U.S. Navy commander

CDR David P. Smith, U.S. Navy (Retired), age 61 of 5 Lisa Lane, Bristol, died peacefully Saturday, Sept. 7, 2013.

For 39 years he was the beloved husband of Karen Ann (Emery) Smith. Born in Honolulu, Hawaii, he was a son of Mary Ila (Moore) Smith of Bristol and formerly of Middletown and the late LCDR Henry Battle Smith, USN.

He is the father of Kevin Robert Battle Smith of Portland, Maine.

Cmdr. Smith served in the United States Navy for 26 years, retiring in 2001. He served in five ships including the USS Butte AE-27. He was the final Captain of the USS Butte and retired her in 1996. When he was not at sea he taught at the Naval War College, the United States Naval Academy, the Command School and the Surface Warfare Officer's School (SWOS).

David P. Smith

Before entering the U.S. Navy he receive a bachelor's degree in English from the University of Rhode Island in 1974 and his M.A. in American Literature from the University of Illinois in 1975. He subsequently earned a M.A. in National Security and Strategic Studies at the Naval War College in 1997 and in 1999 he acquired his third M.A. in Labor and Industrial Relations from the University of Rhode Island. He was admitted to three PhD programs: the University of Illinois, the University of Maryland and the University of Rhode Island. He was a Doctor of Philosophy candidate in Rhetoric and Composition when he became ill.

He was an avid reader of non-fiction; he favored biographies, military and constitutional history, and literary research. He wrote articles on literary criticism and was published regularly. He appreciated all genres of music except for musical theater. He professed a profound puzzlement as to why someone would burst into song when faced with a crisis.

He enjoyed camping and activities with his son, and he valued his family and friends. He was a communicant of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Bristol.

In addition to his wife and mother, he is survived by a son, Kevin R. B. Smith and his partner, Johanna LaPierre of Portland, Maine; two sisters, M. Patricia Santos and her husband Everett of Bristol, Dr. M. Kathlyn Nelson, DMD and her husband Paul of Middletown; his mother-in-law M. Marilyn "Nana" Emery of Bristol; his maternal aunt, Doris G. Carter of Wichita, Kansas; two sisters-in-law, Marcia and William Westveer and Kathleen and Buddy Heeringa all of Michigan. He is also survived by eight nephews (five serving on active duty), two nieces, two great-nieces and a great-nephew, six cousins, and three God-daughters.

Visiting hours will be held on Sunday, Sept. 15, from 4 - 7 p.m. at the Sansone Funeral Home, 192 Wood St. in Bristol. Relatives and friends are invited to attend a Mass of Christian Burial on Monday, Sept. 16, at 10 a.m. in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, 141 State St. in Bristol.

Immediately following the Mass of Christian Burial, Military Honors will take place on the Bristol Town Common. Burial will be private.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, 141 State St., Bristol, RI 02809 or to the Alzheimer's Association, RI Chapter, 245 Waterman Street, Suite 306, Providence, RI 02906 or online at www.alz.org/ri/

The Wax Pot is open for professional skincare and waxing

From the moment you enter the newly renovated space on Main Street in Warren, you'll know that you are in a place where your care and comfort are paramount. The Wax Pot, a waxing and skincare boutique, was opened a month ago by aesthetcian Susan Archambault, a PC grad and former health services administrator, whose interest in customer comfort and well-being is evident in the impeccable surroundings that include shining wood floors and a calming décor, as well as the choice of antimicrobial and antibacterial products. An aesthetician in a Dartmouth, Massachusetts dermatology practice, she continues to provide part time services there while establishing her new practice in Warren. "I really love this area," she says, "and was so happy to find the right fit and space for my services," she adds.

Aesthetician Susan Archambault, a Bristol native and PC grad, is ready to provide expert services in her impeccable surroundings.

Whether your interest is in skincare basics -- facials, cleansings, moisturizing -- or the more intensive skin peels, Susan begins her facial therapies with a free consultation and analysis to provide the utmost benefit to your skin. "I really have a lot of information and feel it is an important service to help all ages -- from teens to seniors -- improve their skin and feel good about themselves," she says. She is continually on the lookout for new advances in skincare products.

Her waxing includes facial and body hair removal services for both women and men, and utilizes natural, soy-based products that are applied at body temperature and minimize discomfort and redness. Her pricing structure is competitive with others in the area. Susan uses both hard and soft waxes, depending on individual preferences. All services are customizable and package pricing is available. One of the benefits of waxing is that hair removal of brow, upper lip and chin lasts for four to six weeks, and the rest of the body from six to eight weeks. Goodbye razors!

The Wax Pot is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., with later hours available. Walk-ins are welcome, although as the word spreads it might be more convenient to make an appointment.

Multi-trip toll deal cut short by RITBA

Also, leaving transponder at home doesn't work

BY BRUCE BURDETT
bburdett@eastbaynewspapers

Their E-ZPass account balances have declined faster than some Sakonnet River Bridge users say they had expected, even at the 10-cent per crossing rate now in place.

For one thing, the "pay for just one round trip per day" E-Zpass deal at the bridge is no more. And drivers have also discovered that putting the transponder away is not enough to keep bridge tolls from being charged to their account.

The Rhode Island Turnpike and Bridge Authority (RITBA) board voted recently to cancel the discount for multiple bridge crossings that had been designed to benefit local residents.

David Darlington, RITBA chairman, said the board took the action after the legislature reduced the bridge toll to 10 cents per crossing.

The board decided that the "discounts offered were no longer affordable," Mr. Darlington said Friday.

Some motorists learned of the switch upon receiving their E-ZPass account credit card

"They have waffled so many times on so many things you don't know what to believe out of them."

JOHN VITKEVICH
PORTSMOUTH

billings which showed charges for multiple round trips in the same day.

At the same time, however, RITBA's online E-ZPass page continued to state that "E-Zpass holders do not pay more than one (1) round trip per transponder, per calendar day, per bridge."

RITBA is in the process of changing that language to reflect the policy change, Mr. Darlington said, adding that the change was posted promptly at RITBA headquarters in Jamestown.

And, he said, RITBA has always stipulated that toll rates are subject to change.

Some motorists have also said that the practice of leaving the E-ZPass transponder at home or covering it with the foil bag does not prevent charges from being incurred.

If the tolling equipment at the bridge does not detect a transponder, it works instead with a photo of the license plate, Mr. Darlington said. A computer then checks that license plate against the E-ZPass database.

Mr. Darlington said the practice is the same wherever E-ZPass is used and is meant to protect against a malfunction in which the EZ-Pass transponder is not read which might result in a motorist having to pay a higher cash toll rate.

Drivers who don't want such a backup may access their E-ZPass account online and remove the license plate number that is associated with it, he said.

But if they do, "no other EZ-Pass system in any other state will be able to match your license to your E-ZPass account ... so any toll rate advantage you might have enjoyed would be lost."

Some bridge toll opponents have campaigned for bridge users to leave their transponders at home, aiming to force RITBA to engage in a costly and time consuming effort to collect dime tolls using license plate numbers.

"I don't believe that," John Vitkevich of Portsmouth, a leader of that effort, said Monday after

Poll: Few take a shine to new bridge lights

An East Bay Newspapers poll suggests that those colorful, "decorative" lights on the new Sakonnet River Bridge aren't winning many admirers.

The poll, posted late last week on Eastbayri.com, asks viewers their opinion of the new lights — Do you love them, loathe them or don't really care?

The results as of 2 p.m. Tuesday:

- Loathe them — 80 votes (44.2 percent)
- Don't really care — 63 votes (34.8 percent)
- Love them — 38 votes (21 percent)

Or viewed another way, 143 of the 181 who responded — 79 percent — voted for either "Loathe them" or "Don't really care."

One reader remarked, "The bulbs have never all been on at once with always a few out which looks poor. Get them working right and look after them or shut them off."

Said another, "To be honest, I don't really care. As long as the residents of Tiverton and Little Compton are being treated like the red-headed stepchildren of Rhode Island with the imposition of this tax (bridge toll) to access the rest of out county and state, I refuse to ever cross that bridge."

being told that the ploy does not work.

"Their website doesn't say anything about that," he said. "They have waffled so many times on so many things you don't know what to believe out of them."

RITBA records indicate that about 55 percent of vehicles crossing the bridge have EZ-Pass accounts and 45 percent do not.

Mr. Darlington said RITBA is still in the process of determining how best to deal with the toll debts of non-E-ZPass bridge users.

It's a Portuguese thing

The razor-sharp wit and easy camaraderie of the 'The Portuguese Kids' are pulling in audiences from Virginia to Vancouver.

BY CHRISTY NADALIN

Elsa Maxwell, a mid-20th century gossip columnist and "professional hostess" once opined, "Laugh at yourself first, before anyone else can." The Portuguese Kids, a Fall-River based improv group that's rapidly seen its reach stretch to the West Coast and throughout Canada, has turned laughing at themselves into an art form.

With skits and spoof songs ("Portuguese and I know it," "Luso Style") sketch comedy pieces about Portuguese 911 calls and voicemails, and their own take on cultural touchstones like the housewives franchise ("Real Housewives of Ponta Delgado"), the Kids have audiences across North America, Portuguese or not, in stitches.

Recently returned from a tour of four California venues in four days, the "Kids" were regrouping in their office, a large loft space in one of Fall River's ubiquitous mill buildings, when East Bay Life caught up with them.

Kids they are not, technically. Though all in their thirties, Derrick DeMelo, Brian Martins, Al Sardinha, and Jason Casimiro have known each other all their lives, or nearly so. Their parents all emigrated to Fall River from the Azores, and they grew up together. So, although their group has been performing in earnest since 2004, the seeds of their ever-expanding act were planted more than two decades ago.

They attended different high schools, took some college classes, and took on various odd jobs and fledgling careers, but they continued performing at local events and on public access television, until a few years ago when they approached Improv Asylum in Boston for a series of training sessions.

They also brought a business plan to the improv incubator. "They saw that we wanted to know how to run a business, that we respected what they did," said DeMelo. "What we were doing," added Sardinha, "was showing them we were serious about performing for a living." That approach worked, and Improv Asylum loaned them enough seed money to get the Portuguese Kids off the ground as a legitimate business. "We had other jobs," said DeMelo. "But we never really had a 'plan B.'"

Despite the Portuguese inside jokes, accents, and (depending on their audience) off-color language, their comedy is universal. Their target demographic is the children of immigrants, and they have found there is carryover whether they are Portuguese, Spanish, Italian, Greek, Jewish, or Korean. "Our comedy speaks to the cultural story of the immigrant trying to assimilate," said Sardinha.

"We appreciate the sacrifices that our parents made, bringing us here, and all they did. But there is something awkward about being the first generation in a new country," De Melo says. "Not like the Italians and Irish who have been here for a while, and assimilated. "Growing up a first generation Portuguese kid, we never thought our culture was hip."

Using humor, and having fun doing it, the Portuguese Kids are changing perceptions—but don't interpret that to mean that any of them would want to see their culture so assimilated that they lose their sense of self (not to mention their gold mine of comedic material.)

DeMelo, who recently appeared on an episode of Andrew Zimmern's "Bizarre Foods," shopping with Zimmern before taking him home to meet (and be fed by) his mother, is clear that he does not want to see a franchise do for Portuguese food what another well-known franchise has done for Italian food. "If our generation, and our kids, think it's cool to be Portuguese, and they want to speak the language, we'll hold on to our traditions and cultures."

On stage, every show is different, and the group takes care to manage their lineup and keep it fresh, and generate new material. As much time as they spend touring, they estimate seventy percent of their man hours are behind the scenes, booking and merchandising, managing social media and building their brand. It's a hectic schedule, "and we put in a lot of hard work, long hours," Martins pointed out. But, as of this spring, the hard work has mostly paid off, in that all four have left their day jobs to focus on their comedy full time. "It was a very scary leap," Martin admits. "With a pay cut," Casimiro adds.

It's a delicate balancing act, given that all but Sardinha are in committed relationships and/or fathers of young children. "Al's the only one living the rock star lifestyle," DeMelo says. "We don't have a lot of groupies—though Brian

STRAIGHT UP THE MIDDLE

Chafee's Last Out

Cara CROMWELL

I have to admit that I dig Mariano Rivera. Aside from being the greatest closer of all time—and there is no close second—his giant smile tells me that he loves the game and is grateful to have had the opportunity to play for as long as he has. He announced his retirement earlier this year and has spent the season meeting fans in every ballpark and thanking the people who have made his time in the Majors so enjoyable. He's been at the top of the game spanning three decades and yet he knew when it was time to go. With two blown saves just over the weekend, it's clear that his "stuff" isn't what it used to be.

As Governor Lincoln Chafee contemplated the next 16 months, perhaps he had the same realization: his best years in politics are behind him. His relationship with Rhode Island voters and his ability to lead the state is clearly not what he hoped it would be. Since his election in 2010, in published polls he has never done better than the 36 percent that allowed him to squeak into the governor's office

Clean our coasts

Head to the shore on September 21 to participate in the International Coastal Cleanup, where volunteers clean and document beach debris in the world's largest volunteer effort to help protect our ocean, lakes and rivers. During the 2012 cleanup, volunteers including Axel Perez and Perry Maltese, shown here cleaning the beach under the Mt. Hope Bridge, found enough bottles, that if stacked end to end, would equal 1000 Empire State buildings. There are still locations that need beach captains and volunteers. Please contact Jon Scoones at 401/949-5454 x3044 or jscoones@asri.org to find a beach cleanup near you, or visit www.signuptocleanup.org.

CROMWELL: Chafee out; tone of race will change

in the first place and there was no path to victory in 2014. While he blamed Rhode Islanders' "irrational negativity," for his poor standing, I can't be the only one who thinks that his "I'm right and the rest of you are wrong" attitude contributed to voters' scorn. He calls it "principled leadership," but some of us hear "if you don't agree with me, you are stupid."

Aside from polls, Governor Chafee does not have to hear what Rhode Islanders are thinking, but he has heard from their representatives in the General Assembly. Rhode Island's constitution has made the governor's office a weak one and governors during the past twenty years have all realized at one point or another that they will get nothing done unless they work closely with the General Assembly and respect their place in the legislative process. Governor Chafee has ignored the General Assembly's role repeatedly by issuing executive orders on hot button issues ranging from E-Verify to health insurance. Worst of all, after an emotional 2011 special session on pension reform where legislators took a really tough vote, Chafee is doing his best to undermine and unravel the very pension reform law which he has heralded as an accomplishment of his administration.

I was recently asked who benefits most from Chafee's departure from the 2014 governor's race and I said "the Rhode Island voter." This is not a slam against Chafee. The simple truth is that the tone of the race will be much different. Rather than re-living the gaffes of this administration, all the candidates will have the opportunity to lay out their competing visions for Rhode Island. If one the expected candidates (Block, Fung, Raimondo and Taveras) win, we are going to have a governor under the age of 50 for the first time since John Chafee won in 1963 and are likely to have a "first" with an Asian, woman or Latino winner.

As someone who falls in the middle of the political spectrum, I always described myself as a "John Chafee Democrat" and I am grateful to the Chafee family for their service to our state. However, I will not be sad to see the Chafee administration end any more than I'll miss hearing "Enter Sandman" and watching Mariano Rivera mow down Red Sox hitters with his cutter. They do have one thing in common—they knew when it was time to go.

Scout enters the deep ocean

The tiny transatlantic boat Scout continues to putter along toward Spain.

Monday morning, after another good weekend's work in mostly the right direction, found Scout about 470 miles out from Rhode Island having covered a total of 720 miles of ocean.

Bruce BURDETT

After breaking an Irish team's 60-plus mile record for such an unmanned solar-powered boat, Scout continues passing milestones. Last week Scout chugged past the 10 percent point of the voyage and then marked another milestone, noted on its Tiverton builders' Facebook page ...

"Over the past 2.5 hours Scout has steadily motored eastward and made a little over 4 miles of progress. While it may not sound like much, this is a large milestone for Scout as it has officially left the continental shelf. We've gone from water depths of 300-400 feet, to over 3,000 feet, and we're on our way over a canyon that will be 7000+ feet deep."

There've been scary moments too ...

"Are you feeling lucky? Monitoring marine traffic via <http://www.marinetraffic.com/ais> - Scout crossed paths with a monster — the Yasa Golden Dardanel, a 245 meter long, 42 meter beam crude oil tanker came within 1 km (possibly much, much closer) to Scout. Let's hope for very few run-ins like this from here on out."

The Scout tracking page (<http://www.gotransat.com/tracking/>) suggests that lively weather lies ahead.

USWatercraft to build C&C boats

USWatercraft of Warren has acquired the exclusive rights to build, develop, distribute and market all new models of the C&C Yachts brand from Tartan Marine.

"We are extremely excited to carry on the traditions established by the legendary Canadian boat builders who introduced C&C Yachts some 50 years ago. We look forward to building state-of-the-art, beautiful, high quality and competitively priced C&C sailboats, at our 100,000 square ft. facility in Warren," said Randy Borges president of USWatercraft.

USWatercraft plans to begin production of its new C&C models this fall.

Tartan Marine, builder of Tartan Yachts, will no longer produce the C&C 101 and 115 models under the C&C brand but will reintroduce and build these models under the Tartan brand as the Tartan 101 and Tartan 115.

Tolls take toll on Portsmouth

Waterline Systems has moved out of its Portsmouth facility and into the plant it acquired for US Watercraft in Warren (the former TPI facility).

About the move, Mr. Borges said, "When Waterline Systems first moved into our shop in Portsmouth ten years ago, we thought, 'Wow ... we aren't going to outgrow this space for a while.' Well guess what? We outgrew it."

Waterline Systems has now set up shop with the rest of the USWatercraft team into the 100,000 square foot facility on Route 136.

"The new shop is about five minutes straight-shot from the Interstate — no bridges, no tolls! Perfect bottoms! Shiny Awlgrip! Lane holding keels! The 'World Headquarters of Speed' is now closer than ever to you," the firm announced.

In memory of Ted Hood

In honor of Portsmouth's Frederick E. "Ted" Hood (May 5, 1927-June 28, 2013), the Hood family cordially invites all he has touched to a celebration of his life to be held at New York Yacht Club — Harbour Court, Newport, on Friday, Sept. 20 at 11 a.m. Parking may be limited with overflow available on Wellington Ave., so we encourage carpooling where possible and suggest arriving early. All are welcome to stay for refreshments and to share stories following the service.

Team USA — sort of

Oracle Team USA last week announced its 11-member starting crew to defend the America's Cup that started Saturday in San Francisco.

Among the 11 were two Americans. The skipper is Jimmy Spithill, an Australian.

Nationalities: Antigua (1), Australia (4), Dutch (1), Italy (1), New Zealand (2), and United States (2) Go USA!

Summer's end on the Block

Coast Guard Station Block Island shut down for this summer season on Tuesday, Sept. 3.

The station closes after Labor Day due to reduced boating traffic and transfers staff and equipment back to its primary command, Station Point Judith, 12 miles to the north.

The station is scheduled to reopen on Memorial Day weekend 2014.

Mariners within Block Island Sound should report marine emergencies to the Command Center at Coast Guard Sector Southeastern New England using VHF-FM radio channel 16 or by calling (508) 457-3211.

Strange fish inshore; offshore fishing heating up

A number of readers have asked about small unusual fish they are catching in saltwater close to shore. They have been identified as Northern Kingfish and tomcod (or tommy cod)—two different species.

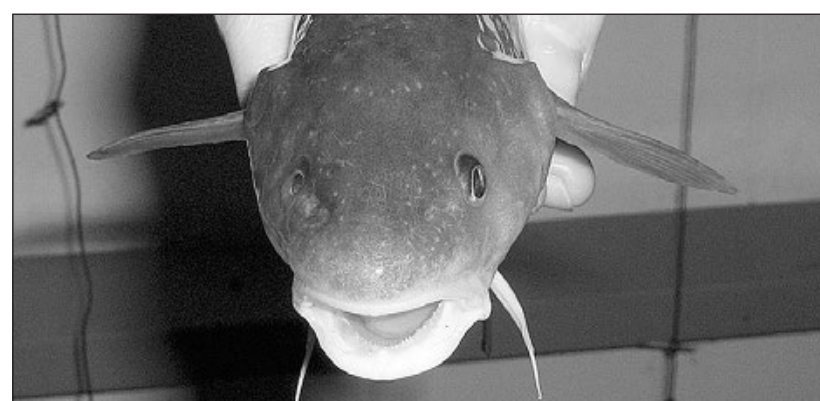

Capt. Dave MONTI

Northern Kingfish have a pronounced bar or strip marking. They are bottom feeders. Best bait is worms, small pieces of squid or clams. Their small mouth dictates the use of small hooks, the type you used for scup fishing (that is likely why anglers are catching them when fishing for scup). They range in size from 10 to 15 inches. Microgadus tomcod, commonly called tomcod or tommy cod, Tomcod (or tommy cod) are not just small cod... they are a different species and are being caught in Narragansett Bay. A hundred years ago thousands of pounds of tommy cod were commercially harvested in and around Boston Harbor.

Northern Kingfish caught last week by Maggie Cromwell of Bristol while fishing between the Roger Williams University dock and the Mount Hope Bridge.

resemble a small cod but they are different. They usually range in size from 9 to 15 inches. They are also bottom feeders and bite any bait greedily... clams, shrimp, worms or cut fish and squid. They are often found in harbors, at the mouth of streams and off docks. Both tomcod and Northern Kingfish are good to eat.

Where's the bite

Off-shore fishing has been heating up. According to Elisa Martin of Snug Harbor Marina, the charter vessel 'Big Game' with Captains Shamus Mara and Brian Bacon landed four yellowfin tuna Saturday and Dr. Rick Turner caught a bluefin and yellowfin tuna at Tuna Ridge (at the 30 fathom mark about out 35 to 40 miles off Block Island). And this week, the 'Thirty-Three II', a 19-foot vessel, landed a 215 pound Mako shark."

Roger Simpson of the Frances Fleet party boats said, "First tuna trip of the season was quite successful this past week with the emphasis on quality as they boated several big eye tuna all in the 160 to 200-pound range along with yellowfin and a nice bunch of albacore to 60 pounds, a handful of Mahi, two swords (one 150 pounds!), and last but certainly

TRASH OR TREASURE?

A tackle box you won't want to fill with bait

Q. I have an old wood fishing tackle box which still has its original decal ("PONDBROOK, PROVIDENCE, R.I.") on the inside. Can you tell me anything about this and if it is worth anything?

Karen WATERMAN

A. Your wood laminated tackle box was made by John W. Gilson in Stuart, Florida. He was an avid fisherman and started making the boxes in the 1940's. He opened his own tackle shop and met George Briggs, who was visiting Florida on vacation. Briggs owned a store and supply company called Pondbrook Co., Fishing and Sportsman's Specialties in Providence. Briggs and Gilson developed a business relationship which resulted in Briggs becoming the national distributor of Gilson's tackle boxes. The tackle boxes came in two models: "The Sportsman" (which I believe is what you have) was used for fresh and saltwater fishing. "The Seaster" was designed for saltwater use. It was slightly bigger and had fewer compartments, so the larger saltwater lures and reels would fit properly. These are hard to come by and are prized by collectors. Some have sold for $250 at auction.

Q. I have this old game board and do not know if it is worth anything, or what to do with it now that the playing pieces are long gone. Anything you can tell me will be helpful.

A. This wooden game board was made by the Carrom Co. from Ludington, Michigan. Yours is the "Q" Style Board which is 28 inches square. This game board is from the late 1930's-early 1940's. It has chess or checkers on one side and Carrom or "Karron" on the other. The corner pockets were used in Karrom much like you would play billiards. Yours is in good condition and with the vibrant colors would be most desirable for a wall decoration. Prices vary but those in good condition currently sell in the $75-$150 range.

not least, a 70-pound Wahoo!"

Black sea bass fishing has been good with a lot of short fish mixed in. Angler fishing for fluke on the Frances Fleet caught fewer black sea bass this week. Roger Simpson of the Frances Fleet said, "... not as many sea bass as we had been seeing but still some hefty ones from time to time with the best for the week just over the 4-pound mark."

Summer flounder (fluke) fishing continues to be good for this time of year. Craig Castro of Erickson's Bait & Tackle, Warwick, said, "Two customers caught keeper fluke Friday off Warwick Light." Mixed reports coming in about fishing for fluke around the bridges and Elisa Martin of Snug Harbor said, "Fluke fishing off southern coastal shores has slowed but it is till good at Block Island in 70 to 80 feet of water." Roger Simpson of the Frances Fleet said, "Tuesday and Wednesday were the best outings of the week. On Tuesday about half the boat was limited out on fluke... and the big fish... a fine slab of just under 8 lbs that fell victim to a whole squid."

Tautog fishing continues to be slow, however, increasing numbers of smaller fish are being caught with some keepers being caught too. Ken Landry of Ray's Bait & Tackle, Warwick said, "Customers are starting to catch keeper tautog in the Bay which is a good sign. With cooler weather coming things are only going to get better."

Striped bass fishing has slowed on Block Island with bluefish extremely thick at the north rip and southwest sides. Fishing in the lower part of the Narragansett Bay is improving. Manny Sousa of Lucky Bait & Tackle, Warren said, "Some customers have caught keepers off Bullocks Point but there seems to be more action south of the bridges. We are hoping thing open up as the water cools and we have bass thought-out the Bay like we did this spring."

'Mrs. Kennedy and Me'
By Clint Hill

When Clint Hill, FBI agent, was assigned as Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's personal bodyguard upon her husband's election to the presidency, he was not happy. Anticipating a continuous whirlwind of teas, receptions, and shopping excursions, he was, in fact, very disappointed. After all, he had served on the Secret Service detail of a number of previous presidents, and felt slighted to not continue in that role. Read this very personal account of the development of the relationship between Agent Hill and Mrs. Kennedy as he became her devoted guardian, caretaker, and friend—a comforting presence for both her and her children throughout her time as First Lady. The one constant in her life during this period, he shared her most significant experiences: births, miscarriages, family celebrations, vacations, and, yes, deaths and tragedies as well. He was the one to whom Jackie was reaching in that famous photo of her husband's assassination as she climbed upon the trunk of the presidential limo in her blood-stained pink suit. Plagued by guilt forever after that day, Clint Hill was convinced that had he reacted a bit faster, history might have been different. It was a regret that negatively impacted the rest of his life and which he carried with him to the end of his days.

'Six Years'
By Harlan Coben

Jake Fisher, a young, handsome professor, is dumped abruptly by Natalie, the love of his life, and invited to her sudden marriage to Todd Sanderson; Natalie's lifelong heartache at being abandoned by the father she adored and his mysterious disappearance; the unexplained and suspicious death of Todd Sanderson six years after his marriage to Natalie; an obituary of Todd with a photograph that does not resemble the man Natalie married; and Jake's desire to be reunited with Natalie and his quest to find her. These events all lead Jake on a dangerous and puzzling journey where he is assaulted and kidnapped, repeatedly threatened and thwarted each time he seems to be getting closer to unraveling the mystery. Betrayal by his best friend, the only man he seems able to trust; violent assaults by unknown pursuers....Why are they stalking Jake? Where is Natalie? What do they not want him to find out? Read New York Times bestselling author Harlan Coben's most recent novel for the answers. It will engage you in a complicated plot of circuitous and unexpected turns before the author finally weaves these many seemingly unrelated events and characters to a surprising, but satisfying conclusion.

'The Story Teller'
By Jodi Picoult

This latest novel by New York Times best-selling author Jodi Picoult focuses on the unlikely relationship between a troubled, guilt-ridden young woman, Sage Singer, and a 90-year old German whom she meets in a grief support group following the death of her mother. Sage is reclusive, withdrawn and very self-conscious of a facial scar received in the same accident which killed her mother, and in which Sage was driving. In order to avoid social contact, she has chosen to work nights alone in a bakery where she makes the most wonderful ethnic breads. These appear to be the attraction for the German, Josef Weber, who begins to visit the bakery regularly just at closing when Sage begins her evening shift. Over coffee and conversation one night, he confesses a secret he has kept hidden for 70 years: he was a Nazi officer during WWII. Since Sage is of Jewish origin, though not practicing, this revelation causes her intense conflict and forces her to confront history and make some difficult choices. The author very cleverly weaves a story-within-a-story; a kind of allegory about mythological, blood-thirsty beasts with an insatiable and uncontrollable urge to prey upon their victims. This is a plot involving moral themes: personal choices, guilt, punishment, atonement, justice, and ultimately forgiveness.

POLI-TICKS

Why Governor Chafee won't run

Political pundits are all parsing the reasons why Governor Lincoln Chafee has declined a reelection run. Most attribute his declination to the fact that he has less than a 26% approval rating. While that poll number is relevant it is symptomatic of the real reason why he won't be a candidate, namely, he feels unappreciated.

Before you conclude that this is "over-psychologizing," look at the two rather unusual statements he made when he announced he would not seek a second term. He bemoaned the fact that there was an "irrational negativity" around his positions on such issues as driver's licenses for undocumented residents, and his refusal to call the State House holiday tree a Christmas tree. He added that if one were to look up the definition of "principled leader" in the dictionary, you'd see a picture of Linc Chafee...That (will) never change." He also predicted that in time, his positions would be vindicated.

Arlene

Certainly, there's a fair amount of hubris when politicians pontificate that they are "principled," a leader, and correct on the issues. Then again, faint egos don't populate the political ranks. Folks can admire a straightforward recitation of a position but that doesn't equate with the fact that the office-holder can't be wrong. Even if there is some merit to a stance which a voter likes, the whole kit and caboodle can sink a politician. Perhaps neither position above was fatal to Mr.

Chafee—just his lack of creative solutions. The Christmas tree fiasco could have been settled like the Menorah, with the placement of the Christmas tree by a private party like the Knights of Columbus who could call it what it wanted. This was the distinction made for the correct appellation of the Jewish symbol. The argument about "regulating" drivers ignored real issues as to how drivers' licenses are a de facto identification for many programs which ostensibly are for citizens only. The lack of solutions can be overlooked on one or two matters but they all add up if there is a confluence of unsolved issues like unemployment and stagnant economic growth that cloud an administration.

Mr. Chafee's vacillation on some issues didn't help his cause either, and contributed to the less than "principled" stance he embraces. His vacillation over the pension reform undertaken at the expense of great political capital of many leaders, of allowing the unionization of day care providers, and the grand daddy of them all, a massive hike in overall sales taxes, all contributed to the lack of "appreciation" for his leadership.

Sometimes there are multiple solutions to problems and, yes, one idea can be as good as the next without a concomitant fallout. Assuming that one's analysis is always "spot-on" is a blind spot.

The Governor has some 16 months left in his term. Hopefully, he will do great things that will make the state a better place than he found. I hope that he does so well that in the future, voters will wax poetically about his accomplishments and the "good ol' days" of the Chafee administration.

Take a bite out of Bristol

Steak fry and pie-baking contest at Mount Hope Farm

Mount Hope Farm will host its first "Fry-Day/Pie-Day" steak fry and pie baking contest on Friday, September 13. The evening will include a steak dinner for adults, hot dog meal for the kids and an apple pie baking contest complete with judges and a cash prize for the lucky winner. There will be live music, games and enough pie to feed a small army—and to make the evening even sweeter, we'll offer those pies "a la mode" with Destiny's Hometown Diner Ice Cream. The festivities begin at 6 p.m. with dinner. Judging is set for 7:30 p.m. and this year's flavor is apple. Entry forms are available online or by calling the Farm office. Meal prices are $20 per adult and $7 per child; space is limited—please call 401-254-1745 or visit www.mounthope-farm.org.

This culinary extravaganza features tastings from more than 25 of Rhode Island's best chefs & restaurants. Funds raised will support the March of Dimes. For more information, call 401/454-1911.

Zucchini, the sequel

East Bay Life received the following email from reader Barbara Betres of Warren, with a delicious plan for surplus shredded zucchini. Thanks, Barbara!

"I was just reading your ideas for what to do with all the zucchini that we are getting in our gardens and I wanted to add a new one that I hit upon by accident. I was shredding some zucchini to make bread and I had about two cups of shredded zucchini left over.

"Since it was afternoon and I was getting ready to make dinner, I had a pot half filled with vegetable oil that I was going to use to make french fries. After I made the french fries I decided to drop the shredded zucchini in the hot oil and see what happened.

"I fried them, turning constantly, until they turned a light brown. I took them out with a slotted spoon and let them drain on a paper towel. After they cooled, they got very crispy. My husband and I used them as a garnish on our salad and they were delicious. I have since used them as a garnish on other things, as a side dish, and on sandwiches."

DINING REVIEW

Roberto's voted Best Italian-East Bay

Roberto's Ristorante continues to please area diners with its classic Italian menu and the feel of a real Italian trattoria — comfortable, but elegant. The restaurant also has been voted Best Italian-East Bay in Rhode Island Monthly for a few years now.

The dining rooms have taupe walls above black beadboard wainscoting, hardwood floors, fresh flowers on the tables, snowy white linens and a big mural of the Tuscan countryside and a field of poppies in the main dining room.

The bar area just glows with the mahogany bar and massive wine racks. Bell-shaped hanging glass lamps across the front windows create a welcoming glow from inside and out. The bar is divided from the main dining room with a mosaic wall of the wooden sides from cases of imported wines.

And, for those who enjoy dining at Roberto's for graduations, rehearsal dinners, showers and other special events, a private room next door, decorated in the same style as the dining room, seats up to 45.

We settled at the bar on a recent, cool evening and Neeley set us up with wine from the extensive, expertly stocked wine list. Owner Bob Vanderhoof is a wine aficionado (Roberto's hosts occasional wine dinners, too) and can help with a recommendation if you need one.

There are wines from around the world and in all price ranges, with a heavy emphasis on Italy, of course. And there's a good selection by the glass, with some by the half-bottle, much appreciated by those of us who are both white and red lovers.

Chef Chris Ferreira will soon be tweaking the menu for fall, but all the favorites never change. To begin, there are house, Caesar, Caprese and bread salads, antipasto, pasta e fagioli soup, shrimp cocktail, grilled shrimp or scallops, grilled greens and decorated with frizzled leeks. Then, three 9-inch triangles of fried pasta crisps are tucked into the edges. It's a unique dish and beautifully executed for a contrast in textures and flavors.

Open: Dinner from 5 to 9 p.m. Sunday to Thursday and from 5 to 9:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Reservations suggested.

The braciolo, the chef's special, is a generous meal — two, fat rolls of tender veal medallions stuffed with a filling of cheese, pine nuts, spinach and wild mushrooms, surrounded by a rich, lingonberry demi-glace swimming with roasted garlic cloves. Accompanying it were a massive cloud of creamy mashed potatoes and spears of fresh, grilled asparagus drizzled with a balsamic glaze.

Neeley raved about the lobster a la Dina and it met all expectations. A real taste of summer, the dish features penne, big pieces of sweet, perfectly cooked lobster, chopped plum tomatoes, spinach, pine nuts and shallots all tossed in a light sherry cream sauce that doesn't overwhelm all the fresh, delicate flavors.

At Roberto's, you want to save space for dessert. There's caramel flan, tiramisu, Italian lemon layer cake, New York-style cheesecake, two gelatos (salted caramel and chocolate chunk and peanut butter/brownie on our visit) and raspberry and lemon sorbet.

The Italian lemon layer cake is our favorite — a moist cake with a large crumb is split and filled with a lemony, mascarpone filling and dusted with confectioners' sugar.

But, everyone recommended the salted caramel and chocolate chunk gelato, so we had to try that. The salty/sweet gelato was perfect to split after our big meal and went well with coffee.

Or, add an espresso, cappuccino, dessert wine or port to cap off the evening.

The weekly Dining Review is rotated among restaurants that advertise in the Food & Dining section.

Portabello mushrooms, crab-cakes, calamari, and a soup and pizza of the day. (The soup was a tomato basil bisque; the pizza a white version with mozzarella, fontina, chicken, sun-dried tomatoes and spinach).

Entrees run the gamut from the classic shrimp, veal and chicken piccata, lasagna, aglio e olio, risotto, shrimp scampi, braciolo, and carbonara, Bolognese, saltimbocca and marsala dishes to unique offerings, such as the Shrimp Pepe Nero (roasted garlic, mushrooms, plum tomatoes in a black pepper cream sauce), cod Scarpriello (capers, olives, roasted peppers and hot peppers in a light vinegar sauce) and pork Albicocca (a 10-ounce bone-in chop in an apricot demi-glace).

A page of pasta dishes is a favorite, because you can choose from 10 dishes and order each with chicken or veal.

With our wine, we enjoyed a basket of Tuscan bread and a dish of olive oil full of creamy, soft, roasted garlic cloves.

Then, we started with the manzo croccante, which is so popular because it creates a stir in the room every time we order it. A huge, flat, white, wide-rimmed bowl holds a mound of tender, seared beef in a savory red wine demi-glace with caramelized onions, topped with julienned and fried scallion

Growing a cutting garden

For gardeners the ultimate pleasure is to be able to cut flowers from their own garden to beautify their home and give it a fresh look and feel. At Blithewold, which has tended a cutting garden for over 100 years, flowers from the garden have been brought into the Mansion for everyday pleasure as well as for special events, or given away to friends and family.

WHERE: Blithewold, Ferry Rd., Bristol
WHEN: 10:30-11:30 a.m.
COST: $20 member, $25 non-member
MORE INFO: Visit www.blithewold.org to register.

Harvest Wine Run

This unique race combines a running event with a wine tasting at the Newport Vineyards. The race will be held when the vineyard is in full bloom and the grapes are ready for harvest. The scenic course is approximately 3.5 miles long and consists of trails along the Aquidneck Land Trust and in the Vineyard, amongst the grape varieties. Followed by the race will be a wine tasting and BBQ catered by Preppy Pig in the vineyard, with music by The Steamahs. Every runner will receive a souvenir glass, wine tasting and dinner.

MEET Jodi Hedrick: REALTOR, MOTHER, COOK WITH ACCOUNTING DEGREE

BY JOAN D. WARREN

Jodi Hedrick of RE/MAX River's Edge has been a Realtor for more than 10 years and loves every minute of it. She is married and the mother of two girls. Her husband also has two girls who live in near-by Massachusetts, so they are very busy with four children. For Jodi, deciding to go into real estate has been one of the best decisions she ever made.

Through her career, she has formed many new friendships and finds great joy in helping people find a home they will love. She is a full-time Realtor, licensed in both Massachusetts and Rhode Island. She prides herself on personal service and continue to build business through referrals from past clients, family and friends.

WHY REAL ESTATE AS A CAREER? "It is a very rewarding career that allows flexibility with my schedule so I can be home with my family."

IS IT A SECOND CAREER FOR YOU? "I went to school for Business and Accounting and have a bachelor's degree in Accounting. However, after I had my first daughter I decided to stay home a few years because it worked out better for our family. When it was time for me to go back to work, I honestly couldn't see myself going back to a 40-hour-per-week job sitting at a desk. People kept telling me I should go into real estate, so I decided to give it a try."

WHAT DO YOU LIKE MOST ABOUT IT? "Real estate can be a great career, but also has a lot of ups and downs. I am glad I stuck with it and my hard work has proven successful and I can say that I am lucky to be where I am today. You can be as successful as you choose to be. I love being able to help clients find the perfect home."

ANY DISLIKES? "There is not always a steady stream of income.

Jodi Hedrick
Remax/River's Edge

508-509-3925

That can be challenging."

WHAT ARE SOME OF YOUR HOBBIES? "Cooking, reading, and exercising with my girls."

BEST VACATION EVER? (taken or yet to take) "Aruba. We have been many times and it's always my favorite destination."

BUCKET LIST ITEMS? "I would really like to travel more. We would like to go back to Europe with the children, and later in life I would like to travel across the country with my husband when the kids are grown. I would also like to take some cooking classes, such as cake decorating or some other culinary class."

WHAT'S YOUR BEST CULINARY CREATION? "I make a few cakes and some special cookies I always get requests for. I am looking forward to the fall this year and being able to cook and entertain a bit more, because the summer was so busy. I find that there isn't anything much better than spending time with people you love, and I enjoy cooking for them all! I grew up in a family where everything was about really good Italian food, and when I cook I relax and enjoy what I am doing. It is definitely an outlet for me."

FAVORITE MOVIE OR TELEVISION SHOW? "I like any comedies."

SUMMER, WINTER, SPRING OR FALL? "All seasons but winter! I hate being cooped up in the snow!"

House of the Week

River views and five bedrooms in Westport

This South Westport, Mass., post and beam home has it all — five bedrooms with three and a half bathrooms, a laundry room, plus an in-law apartment with a bedroom, kitchen and full bath. The roof is two years-young with a 30-year warranty, there's an attached two-car garage, a bonus unfinished attic space, air conditioning in the master bedroom that boasts a deck overlooking the Westport River.

- $799,000
- 5 bedrooms
- 3 1/2 baths
- 3,161 sq. ft. living space
- 2.03 acres
- MLS #71554482

Those who have experienced major power outages in recent years will feel better knowing the house has an emergency generator. You also find a cedar closet, and the kitchen has a fireplace currently being used as a wood stove.

Enjoy beautiful water views from the porch overlooking a professionally landscaped yard. A new patio makes outdoor living a pleasure.

The house also has deeded river access, and a private boat mooring with direct ocean access. The access is deeded easement, where beachfront is common space, and the owners are allowed to keep dinghies, kayaks, etc. there. The seller's mooring is off of that common space and will be conveyed with the sale.

This five-bedroom home includes an in-law apartment with its own kitchen and bath. The home offers great views of the Westport River; the property includes a mooring with direct ocean access. The grounds are professionally landscaped with privacy and sitting areas.

Open Sat 3 - 5

Loan rates based on $100,000 with 20% down payment & no PMI. Variable mortgages listed are for 30 years, adjusted annually. Points are a one-time charge equal to one percent of the mortgage. APR stands for annual percentage rate and reflects closing costs spread over the life of the loan. CAP is the most a variable mortgage can increase in one year. Savings and loans and Rhode Island loan and investment banks are included in the bank section of this chart. These rates, provided by the institutions on Monday of this week, are subject to change or special conditions. For more information, consumers are advised to call the institution. First-time homebuyers may qualify for lower-rate mortgages from the Rhode Island Housing and Mortgage Finance Corporation. Many credit unions only grant loans to members and limit membership to a defined group. When shopping for mortgage rates ask for explanation of closing costs. Financial institutions that write residential mortgages that wish to be included on this list can get in touch with Classified Real Estate Advertising Specialist at 401-253-1000
