Jacobs Named to Citi Board

Citi's Board of Directors today announced that it has elected Fayette native and President of Commercial Trust Company Jay Jacobs as a new independent director, with service commencing today.

Mr. Jacobs most recently served as President and Managing Director of PIMCO, a leading global investment management firm, prior to his retirement in September 2017.

Citi Chairman Michael E. O'Neill said, "We are pleased to have Jay join Citi's Board of Directors. Not only does he have deep operational, administrative and business experience in the financial services industry, but he also brings to Citi's Board insights gained from being an institutional investor and a client. I'm confident Jay's perspective from these various viewpoints will prove immediately valuable to Citi."

Mr. Jacobs had a 19-year tenure at PIMCO, serving as the firm's President from 2014-2017. In that role, he led the firm's operational, administrative and infrastructure areas. He also chaired PIMCO's Global Risk Committee and served on its Executive, Compensation and Audit Committees. Prior to taking on the role of President, Mr. Jacobs served as Managing Director and Global Head of Human Resources at PIMCO, where he oversaw talent, total rewards, training and development and culture. He currently serves as an outside consultant to the firm. Mr. Jacobs also serves as a member of the Board and President of Commercial Trust Company, positions he has held since 1992 and 1998, respectively.

Mr. Jacobs is a member of the Board of the Peterson Institute for International Economics in Washington, D.C., a non-profit, non-partisan research institution devoted to the study of international economic policy. He also serves as a member of the Board of Trustees of Washington University in St. Louis and is a member of the Board of Advisors of Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business. Mr. Jacobs received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics from Washington University in St. Louis and his Master of Business Administration from Georgetown University.

Addisons Purchase Fayette Paper

The Fayette Advertiser is under new ownership. Justin and Dr. Sonya Addison took over as publishers Friday from Pat and Ruth Roll.

Mr. Roll has published the newspaper since February 2011.

Mr. Addison served as Sports Editor for The Fayette Advertiser and The Democrat-Leader from 2002 to 2009 before leaving to run a retail business in Columbia for nearly nine years. He will serve as Editor and Publisher of The Fayette Advertiser.

"Leaving Fayette and the newspaper business provided great perspective," Mr. Addison said. "It wasn't long before I knew I was ready to return in an ownership capacity."

A 1995 graduate of Fayette High School, Mr. Addison also attended Central Methodist College (now University). It was there he met Sonya Nemyer, from Fairfax, Missouri. The couple wed in June of 2000.

Dr. Addison graduated Pre-Med from Central Methodist and attended medical school at the University of Missouri in Columbia, where she also completed a residency in Internal Medicine and a fellowship in Endocrinology.

She currently practices Endocrinology in Columbia.

The couple has two young sons, Jake and Alex.

Previous to Mr. Roll's tenure as publisher of The Fayette Advertiser, he spent more than 18 years in the newspaper business throughout Nebraska and Iowa.

Roll holds a bachelor of science degree in social science from Peru State College in Peru, Nebraska.

He has agreed to stay on as an advisor during the transition.

The newspaper office will remain at its current address at 203 N. Main, just off the Fayette square. Archival bound volumes still housed in the office date back to 1899, although the oldest years are too delicate to handle.

The Fayette Advertiser is believed to be the second oldest weekly newspaper west of the Mississippi. It began September 3, 1840 in Glasgow, Missouri, as the Howard County Banner. The name of its first editor has been lost to history. However, it is known that in 1853, W. B. Twombly sold the paper to R. C. Hancock who later moved it to Fayette. In 1860, it was sold to Isaac Houck. It was in either 1861 or 1865 that the name was changed to the Howard County Advertiser.

The paper officially became the Fayette Advertiser on Dec. 20, 1916.

Mr. Addison is only the third Fayette native to own the Advertiser. The first was General John B. Clark, who in 1865 bought a half interest in the paper. Ten months later he bought the other half.

Davis, a long-respected career newspaperman, served more than 20 years as a foreign correspondent for United Press International and later acted as a regional executive. He returned to Fayette in 1978, and six years later purchased the Advertiser. He ran the paper until his retirement in 2000.

Davis was inducted into the Missouri Press Association Hall of Fame in 2005.

It was in 2000 that Central alumnus James H. Steele purchased the Advertiser from Davis.

It was Steele who moved the newspaper to its current office at 203 N. Main. He continues to occupy an office in the building and acts as editor emeritus.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Much of this historical information was compiled by editor H. Denny Davis in 1990 when the newspaper celebrated its 150th year.

Zero Attendance at Public Budget Hearing

BY LESLIE PROTHERO
STAFF WRITER

No Fayette residents attended the Public Hearing regarding the City Budget held by the Council at Thursday night. The hearing was held to offer citizens the opportunity to ask questions or comment on the 2018-2019 Fiscal Year Budget. With no public or questions, the hearing was adjourned and the council proceeded with a special meeting.

The special meeting was called due to the Independence Day holiday. During this meeting they looked at budgets and discussed financing for a fire truck.

Council members approved the amending of the 2017-2018 Fiscal Year Budget, officially closing the budget for this fiscal year.

A pay increase for city employees was approved. All hourly and salaried employees (excluding seasonal, volunteer, and elected) will receive a $0.50 per hour raise for general employees and $1.00 per hour raise for police department employees. These pay increases were effective July 1, 2018.

The 2018-2019 budget was presented. The council expressed their appreciation for City Administrator, Robin Triplett, and her time and efforts preparing the 2018-2019 budget. The budget was approved.

After reviewing the budget, Mayor Greg Stidham commented on the expected income, noting it was almost the same as two years ago. Expenditures continue to increase while income stays flat or decreases each year. Stidham expressed the need for community growth; economic development, an increase in population and increased visitors to the city.

A new fire truck is heavy on the minds of the council. The $635,000 truck is needed, and there is currently just under a third of the money needed to purchase. The Assistance to Firefighters Grant would be a possibility, but the cycle for these grants is closed until spring. Financing options reviewed included loans from USDA and REV Financial Services. A 10-year loan would require a payment of approximately $53,000 each year. A 12-year loan would reduce the payment to approximately $48,000, and a 15-year loan would be approximately $40,000 per year. The city would be able to use the $25,000 budgeted for the Fire Department Sinking Fund each year. A loan for building improvements for the Fire Station is almost paid in full and will provide another $15,000 which would cover $40,000. However this would leave no room if anything should arise.

Council members all agreed in the need for the truck. Alderman Larry Dimond stated, "We have kicked around so many projects, we have not been a proactive group. We cannot continue to wait and wait." Alderman Grafton Cook agreed and said it was very understandable to him after a recent demonstration why no one should go up in the current truck.

The city is moving forward in an application for a REV loan and will follow up at their next meeting.

Alderman Cook addressed the council regarding the slate for the Historic Preservation Commission. He expressed the need for a differing opinion on the commission, noting that almost everyone on the slate had been approached and asked to serve, and only one had volunteered. Cook believes having a slate of only like-minded individuals reduces the chances of seeing other needs and opportunities for action.

Cook explained that in the past, a slate has been presented and voted on as a whole. If not all members were desired, the entire slate was rejected and sent back for review. This had been his plan with the slate he presented the June 19 meeting.

Due to the July 4th holiday, the Fayette City Council will meet next on Tuesday, July 17 at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

FHS Student Attends Missouri Chamber Education Program

There's no better way to develop leadership skills than to practice, practice, practice. That is exactly what Fayette High School student Cameron Bias did while attending the Missouri Chamber of Commerce and Industry's Leadership in Practice program.

These students were among more than 100 youth selected as future leaders from schools across the state. Held on June 24 to 27 on the Westminster campus in Fulton, Mo., Leadership in Practice is designed to provide young Missourians with the opportunity to learn what it takes to be an effective leader in their schools and communities.

All participants were students between their freshman and sophomore years in high school. With help from Missouri business leaders and educators, the students learned firsthand about how to successfully work together as a team and individually as a leader.

The students were challenged to use leadership skills in activities that simulated real-life situations. Participants were encouraged to set goals for themselves for their development as leaders. Working in small groups, the students also developed business plans for a new product or service and pitched their ideas to a "Shark Tank" style panel of Missouri business leaders.

Leadership in Practice is part of a youth leadership educational program created by the Missouri Chamber of Commerce and Industry in 1962. It is funded through scholarships provided by state businesses and civic organizations.

Applicants are evaluated on character, scholarship and leadership and must be recommended by a school official, student council sponsor or civic leader. For more information on the Missouri Chamber's Leadership in Practice program, visit mochamber.com/lip

Obituaries

Bryan Charles Cleek

Bryan Cleek passed away at his home in New Bloomfield June 30, 2018, after a two year battle with pancreatic cancer. He was 56 years of age.

Bryan Charles Cleek was born Feb. 9, 1962, in Columbia, Missouri, to James Edward Cleek and Edith (Campbell) Wood. He grew up in Fayette, Missouri, which he was very proud of. He spent much of his childhood hauling hay, fishing and spending time with numerous friends. He served in the United States Army for 10 years (1980-1990) where he spent several years guarding the East/West German border. He then joined the National Guard for an additional 10 years (1990-2000) where he was deployed to protect the City of Canton Missouri, during the flood of 1993. In civilian life his career led him to the field of Computer Sciences, a passion inspired by prior experience training recruits on the Bradley Fighting Vehicle. Bryan also earned his Associates Degree from Columbia College in 2010. He most recently worked for Learfield Communications as a Helpdesk Technician, where he made many close friends.

Bryan enjoyed watching and reading westerns, riding his motorcycle, cooking and most recently, he enjoyed learning how to produce his own mead. He also enjoyed spending as much time as he could with his family and friends. He was always the life of the party, and loved teaching his children new things. He often said, "Never stop learning."

He is survived by his significant other, Angela DePew of New Bloomfield; two daughters, Jessica and Crystal Cleek of Columbia; son, John-Troy Cleek of Columbia; his mother, Edith Mae Wood of Columbia; two brothers, Randy (Vicki) Cleek of Moberly and Scott (Lori) Wood of Boonville; one sister, Lisa (Doug) Van Etten of Columbia; two grandchildren, Felicity and Brynlee Eddy; along with a number of nieces, nephews and cousins. Bryan was preceded in death by his father, James Edward Cleek and step-father, Warren "Bud" Wood, Jr.

A memorial service honoring Bryan's life will be 2 PM, Thursday, July 5, 2018 at the Friemonth-Freese Funeral Home in Fayette, Missouri, with Rev. John Gillman officiating. Visitation will be two hours before the service, noon to 2 PM. Military honors will follow the service at the funeral home. Burial will be private at a later date.

Memorial contributions are suggested to Mid Missouri Honor Flight, in care of the funeral home.

Paul Simpson

Glasgow resident, Paul Simpson, passed away June 30, 2018 at Boone Hospital Center in Columbia. He was 68 years of age.

On December 19, 1981, Paul married Pam Fuemmeler at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Glasgow. Together, they've enjoyed over 36 years of marriage. Paul was a hard-working man. He started working as a farmer then moved to the automotive field, where bodywork and mechanical work was his true passion. Paul enjoyed tinkering and souping up his vehicles, often entering them into mud runs and car shows. Paul never met a stranger, and his sense of humor and quick wit will be missed by all who knew him.

Health Tips for the Summer Season

BY DR. KIM PERRY
CHIEF MEDICAL OFFICER
UNITED HEALTHCARE OF MISSOURI

Summer is here, providing an ideal time for people in Missouri to get active. While some people may talk about getting a "beach body," fitness is more than just a matter of aesthetics – it can mean the difference between a long life and premature death.

Studies show 80 percent or more of premature chronic conditions, such as heart attack, stroke or diabetes, are caused by modifiable lifestyle choices, as opposed to being caused by genetic factors. Yet, many Americans lack an understanding of the connection between lifestyle choices and chronic health conditions. A recent UnitedHealthcare survey found that just 16 percent of Americans correctly recognized that 80 percent or more of premature chronic conditions are caused by modifiable lifestyle choices, such as risk factors like smoking or obesity, not genetics.

To help make fitness a priority this summer, here are tips to consider:

Walk This Way: Studies have shown walking more and sitting less may help people maintain a healthier weight, ward off depression and prevent serious health issues like heart disease. And a recent report concluded that walking can help curb sweet cravings, boost the immune system and ease joint pain. To make walking more effective, think FIT, which stands for frequency (500 steps within seven minutes six times per day), intensity (3,000 steps within 30 minutes each day) and tenacity (at least 10,000 total steps per day).

Get Outside (Safely): The popularity of smartphones and streaming TV has made it easy – and entertaining – to stay inside. In fact, recent research has found that some people spend 90 percent of their time indoors, limiting exposure to daylight and fresh air. This can have negative consequences, including for children and their eye health. Studies have found that exposure to outdoor light may help reduce the risk of nearsightedness, the inability to see far off objects clearly. To gain the potential benefits of being outdoors while helping stay safe, children and adults should wear sunglasses that block both UV rays and blue light, as well as apply sunscreen to help reduce the risk of skin cancer.

Maintain Your Hearing Health: Summer is a popular time for sporting events and music concerts, which can lead to exposure to loud sounds. Crowd noise at sporting events can exceed 90 decibels, while music concerts can reach 110 decibels. Prolonged exposure to sounds above 85 decibels can contribute to gradual hearing loss, so it is a good idea to use ear protection when seeing your favorite team or band. Likewise, extended listening to music or digital content through headphones or earbuds may damage hearing overtime. To help prevent that, turn the volume on your electronic device to 60 percent and listen for no longer than 60 minutes at a time, and never listen to earbuds while using power tools or a lawn mower.

Stay Safe Overseas: With people heading out on summer vacations, it is important to recognize that up to 20 percent of travelers suffer an illness or injury while on vacation. Before traveling out of your home state, review your health plan and understand what it covers, including if you have access to a national or local network of hospitals and health care providers. For people traveling overseas, contact your primary care doctor or travel medicine clinic to determine what prescreenings or immunizations might be recommended or required, based on your health history and countries on the itinerary.

Following these tips may help you focus on fun, friends and family during the summer, while helping maintain or improve your health now and in the future.

Business Loop 70 On-Ramp to Eastbound I-70 in Columbia to Close Permanently July 9

As part of the overall improvements currently under construction at Conley Road and Business Loop 70 in Columbia and in conjunction with the Conley Road Transportation Development District, the Missouri Department of Transportation has announced that the Business Loop 70 on-ramp to eastbound Interstate 70 in Columbia will be permanently closed and removed on Monday, July 9.

"The reason we are permanently closing the ramp is to increase safety," said MoDOT Area Engineer Mike Schupp. "The closure of the ramp will make the intersection at Business Loop 70 safer by eliminating the traffic weave between traffic entering eastbound I-70 from the Business Loop and traffic exiting westbound I-70 via the off-ramp to the U.S. Route 63 connector."

As part of the ramp closure, the final phase of construction on the Conley Road/East Boulevard Extension will begin on Monday, July 9 at 6 a.m. Work on July 9 will include opening the new East Business Loop 70 to Conley Road extension. As a result of the work, temporary lane changes will be required on Conley Road and Business Loop 70 while work is completed. Access from Conley Road to westbound East Business Loop 70 will remain closed until construction is complete in early August.

After the ramp is closed on July 9, motorists can access eastbound I-70 by:

· Continuing on Business Loop 70 to Conley Road to the Route 63/I-70 Connector.

· Using the I-70 interchanges at Range Line Road, Providence Road or West Boulevard.

For more information about this project or other transportation-related matters, please call 1-888-ASK-MoDOT (275-6636) or visit www.modot.org/central. You can also follow the Central District on social media on Facebook.

Ray-Carroll Grain Report

Well, the report really was bearish but with the hot and dry weather headed this way it did keep some support most of the day, up until the close when beans backed off and managed to closed lower by 3 cents. The wheat market was up on French wheat crop being reduced and so we've had a couple of the big wheat producers come out and say their crop will be less than they wanted, Russia being one and now this, we'll see how the market handles the information but it doesn't sound like they'll much care as the rains are moving out and the folks here in the Midwest will really be able to get a big dent in the wheat crop this weekend not to say they won't complain about the damage to the crop from recent rains. We'll see. We are still not hearing anything as to whether or not the trade war will be resolved before tariffs go into place next Friday, and aside from that weather will begin to be a topic of conversation before too long.

Furstenaus to Judge Tenth Annual Cake Contest

Entries sought from local cooks

Howard County is known to have a lot of good cooks — both young and old — and the upcoming Fayette Festival of the Arts again will provide an outstanding venue to show off their tasty homemade cakes and other goodies. As in past years, the Cake Contest will be part of the festival schedule, with the event providing recognition for area bakers, in addition to funding worthy causes.

This will be the 10th year for the festival which will take place throughout the day on Saturday, Aug. 4, mostly in and around the Howard County Courthouse on the Fayette town square. The cake auction will begin around noon immediately following the performance of the Columbia Community Band.

Serving as judges this year will be Fayette couple, Terry and Nina Furstenau.

An educator, Nina teaches in the MU Science and Agriculture Journalism program and the MU School of Journalism. Her recent books are "Biting Through the Skin: An Indian Kitchen in the Heartland," a memoir in food, and "Savor Missouri: River Hills Food and Wine," celebrating the local flavors of food and wine in Missouri .

In 2014, "Biting through the Skin" was awarded the Les Dames d'Escoffier International Grand Prize and MFK Fisher Book Award for Excellence in Culinary Writing.

In May of this year, Nina was awarded a Fulbright-Nehru Academic and Professional Excellence Award to research her next book, "Green Chili & Other Impostors."

She received a master's degree in English/creative writing from MU in 2006, and bachelor's in magazine journalism from the MU School of Journalism in 1984. Nina has published numerous creative non-fiction pieces for journals such as Painted Bride Quarterly and Ploughshares as well as magazines such as Sauce and Missouri Life.

Nina and Terry served in the Peace Corps in Tunisia from 1984 to 1986, following which they founded a publishing company in 1987 specializing in niche magazines. They sold the company in 2001.

Terry was born in Bridgeport, Neb., but grew up in Eldon. After serving three years in the U.S. Army, he attended the University of Missouri-Columbia where he earned a bachelor's degree in counseling psychology in 1981 and a master's in education in 1983. He currently works as a counselor in Columbia.

The couple were married in 1983 and have two grown children, Nate and Anna.

For the fourth year Debra Miller is coordinating the cake competition and auction, with Fayette native Mark Belcher donating his services as auctioneer. Young women who have participated in the queen competition at the Howard County Fair will rotate in displaying the cakes as they circulate among prospective buyers during the auction.

Festival cake judges Nina and Terry Furstenau

Those entering cakes may bring them to the County Clerk's office in the courthouse anytime between 8:30 and 10 a.m. the morning of the event. Judging will take place in the hours between 10 a.m. and noon. The entry fee is $10 per cake for adults and $5 for youths (16 and under).. Adult division cakes will be auctioned from the south courthouse steps, with proceeds to benefit the outreach work of the Fayette Ministerial Alliance Food Pantry and start-up expenses and prizes for next year's festival.

Adult Division prizes are: $30 for first place, $25 for second place and $20 for third place. Youth division prizes are: $25 for first place, $20 for second place and $15 for third place.

Entry forms, including full information about cake contest rules and regulations, are available from the Festival of the Arts web page, www.fayettefestival.org. Copies also are available at the Commercial Trust information desk and at the newspaper office. Anyone wishing to submit the form and check ahead of time may do so at the county clerk's office in the courthouse during normal business hours.

For more information about the cake contest, contact Debra Miller (314-440-7200 or 660-248-5233) or e-mail: dmiller@endlessoptions.org. Overall questions about the festival may be directed to general coordinator Jim Steele at 660-537-0484 or e-mail jsteele@woodcreekmedia.com.

Final Days To View Anniversary Show At CMU's Ashby-Hodge

Includes Two Galleries Of Ashby Collection, One Gallery From Permanent Collection

There is still time to visit Central Methodist University's Ashby-Hodge Gallery of American Art to view The Anniversary Gala Show, The Permanent Collection, which runs until July 12.

The show, which opened on April 24, includes two galleries of the Ashby-Hodge's Ashby collection, donated by Dr. Lawrence and Loretta Ashby, who helped establish the Gallery in 1993, and one gallery that includes other art pieces from the Ashby-Hodge Gallery's permanent collection.

Among the Ashby collection is a myriad of artists and media. Some pieces of art were given to the Ashby-Hodge Gallery when it first opened in 1993. Others were doled out through the years, with the final gift coming with the passing of both Dr. Lawrence and Loretta Ashby. A partial list of the artists includes Roger Medearis, Birger Sandzen, Randall Davey, Oscar E. Berninghaus, Charles Dana Gibson, Charles Cecil Pollock, Aaron Bohrod. Jean MacLane, and Earl F. Bennett.

The part of the show that belongs to the permanent collection, aside from the Ashby works, has some of the same artists, but also more contemporary artists including works that are comprised of multiple pieces or a variety of media; for example, Chuck McFall's series of photographs of a woman dancing that forms a single exhibit item. Additional contemporary artists include Peggy Guest, Penny Brown, Edna Schenk, J.M. Holman, Tom Yancey, Frank Stack, and Larry Kantner.

The next gallery show will run Sept. 2 – Nov. 15. Titled "The Light Fantastic," it will feature the multi-collection of Robert McDonald Graham Jr. and "Home on the Range" horses by Butch Murphy.

The Gallery is open Sunday, as well as Tuesday, Wednesday, and

Harper brought HoCo into the 21st Century

BY BILL CLARK
Columnist

Come January 1, 2019, Kathyrne Harper will close one chapter of her busy life and open another – or maybe we should say "others."

The current chapter in the Kathyrne Harper story began in February, 2008, when Howard County Clerk, Mark Hill, resigned and Governor Matt Blunt appointed her to fill the vacancy.

Harper, a Republican, took over an office in disarray and 11 years later will retire from an office that is one of the state's most efficient county clerk operations.

Kathyrne is quick to attribute her success to Wendy Noren, the Boone County clerk, a Democrat, who made the Boone County office one of the nation's most respected county clerk's operations.

"She was my mentor," Kathyrne said recently over breakfast at New Franklin's Miracle Cup. "I worked hard to carry on her legacy."

The Kathyrne Harper story is a lesson in perseverance. Three of her grandparents were immigrants who survived the atrocities of Hitler and Stalin and escaped to the United States to build new lives.

Two of her grandparents were Polish and a third was Ukrainian. They found their way to the Midwest, but not without experiencing the prejudice for "foreigners" that continues to exist in our country today.

Kathyrne, born 46 years ago in North Kansas City, grew up often feeling "different" because of a last name hard to spell and to pronounce, even though her father, Robert Razniak, was the internet technology director for the City of Kansas City, and her mom, Irene, was a housewife who raised older sister Christine and Kathyrne and served as the caregiver for younger brother, Mark, who died a decade ago, the victim of muscular dystrophy.

Kathyrne was a distance runner at North Kansas City High School, graduating in 1989. She came to the University of Missouri to seek a journalism degree, but soon switched to accounting for two reasons – a dislike for the daily deadlines of the newspaper world and her love of the disciplines of mathematics.

She graduated from MU in December, 1993, and a month later married Cord Harper, whose dad, Larry Harper, was the editor of "The Missouri Ruralist."

Kathyrne took her accounting degree to state government, working for 2 ½ years for State Auditor Margaret Kelly, where she audited both Roger Wilson and Mel Carnahan – two Democratic governors who she found to be true gentlemen for whom she speaks with deep respect today.

She settled in Columbia to spend 10 years as comptroller for the Columbia Insurance Group and became a mother twice. In 2001, the Harpers moved to Fayette where Cord founded a consulting business called "Endeavor" and Kathyrne was disturbed by the state auditor's report on the county treasurer's office.

So disturbed, in fact, that she ran for the office – and won!

She became only the second Republican elected to a countywide office and the first women to do so. She joined current Circuit Judge Mason Gebhardt, then the Prosecuting Attorney, as Republican office holders.

In 2006, Kathyrne chose to run for the State Legislature against Paul Quinn and it was during that campaign that Ol' Clark first met her – the only Republican to show up for stump speaking at Perche Creek Yacht Club's "Cow Patty Bingo."

Quinn won that election (Kathyrne's only political defeat) and also won the respect of Kathyrne Harper for his ability to connect with everyone he represented.

Eighteen months later, Kathyrne became the county clerk and brought Howard County into the 21st Century.

Along the way, she and Cord raised their brood – Ethan, 20, is a senior at New York University majoring in political science and philosophy, and Jessica, who will be a freshman at USC, majoring in music.

Kathyrne has also added a master's degree (in 2014) in business administration from Villanova University, but is quick to tell you that she did it online, using her personal time in the evening and on weekends, and not time the voters paid for to be their county clerk.

Her success as Howard County clerk led to her selection as an observer of elections in other countries for a group called "Operation for Security and Cooperation in Europe." She has been to Macedonia twice and once to the Republic of Georgia.

Kathyrne hopes to continue in this role and to add South America in the future.

In addition, she plans to use her "retirement" to visit the history of her refugee families and to uncover the stories of their lives and their roots in Eastern Europe – to understand better who she is.

And politics?

"Who knows," she smiles, then adds: "Let's see what happens in two years.

Ol' Clark recently stated in his online column that Kathyrne Harper and Mike Parson were the two Republicans for whom the Democrats must show the most respect in the two years to come.

Kathyrne left little doubt about her comfort in the political spotlight when she served as the emcee at the recent Lincoln Day Dinner where she introduced Parson, then the Lieutenant Governor.

We'll see!

Thank you Fayette and Howard County

After reading page one you know Ruth and I officially sold the newspaper to Justin and Sonya Addison, JSA Media, LLC. I had not thought about selling the newspaper at this time. There are two reasons we sold the newspaper. At this point in my life, I'm healthier than I deserve and am grateful that I have great health. However, you never know what the future holds and I do not want to leave Ruth with a business to run if something would happen to my health. Reason number two is that Justin wanted to buy the newspaper. With Justin born, raised and living here, he will give the newspaper local ownership well into the future. There is no guarantee that there will be somebody that wants to buy the newspaper when I'm ready to retire. So, it made sense to sell at this time.

So those are the reasons that I have sold the newspaper. Not one of the many rumors that percolated around town. We have not sold our house and are not moving out of town. We will continue live in Fayette. Ruth likes her job at Walker-Winter Insurance and would not want to move. When we moved here in January 2011 I told her we would live here until we retired. So, no we are not moving as you may have heard.

I'm not retiring. I will look for something to do. As part of the rumor mill, my retirement was announced at a public meeting by someone I have never been introduced to, let alone would have any insight into what my next step in my life will be. It is not retirement.

We are not broke. Well I'm no broker now than I have been my whole life. I guess it is how you look at it. The newspaper is not broke. The newspaper is in good shape financially and paid for itself every month of the last seven and a half years. Some of those months were not very much fun however we made it through them. Those are just a few rumors that were not close to the truth. You may have heard many others, they are not true.

Justin will continue to need all the support you can give him to keep the newspaper running into the future. Support that we received from the community the last 90 months. I am so thankful to everyone of our advertisers and subscribers. The following businesses need to be thanked for supporting the newspaper every week since we bought the newspapers: C&R Market, Commercial Trust Company, Home Oil. These three companies supported all the special sections we produce plus a weekly ad. Thank you.

As you grow older you understand more and more that life is about the relationships you have with the people you work with and those that support you. I have made so many friends since moving here it is incredible. I will not name any of you. I do not want anyone to think less of you because I consider you my friend. The relationships that were developed with advertisers and subscribers was a tremendous experience for me. I look forward to these continued friendships in the future.

The people that I worked with since owning the newspaper were incredibly dedicated to producing a quality newspaper. These people were awarded many awards by the Missouri Press Association since 2011. The newspaper has changed a lot over my ownership. We have added color pages every edition, added special sections, expanded the web site, added Ol' Clark and have not reduced page count or content since Feb. 2011. These are only a few of the improvements among many others. My educated guess is that there aren't too many newspapers that can say that over the same time frame. None of this could have happened without dedicated talented people

Carol Leech, Kim Thompson, Nancy Anderson, Cana Rogers (then), Cornel Duta, Greg Jackson, Mike Ursery, Carol and AJ Smentkowski and Leslie Prothero are these people that produced the newspaper the last 90 months. I can not thank them enough. I have appreciated all your hard work and dedication to the newspaper. Thank you for all your hard work.

A special thanks to Linda Vroman who is the only person that has been with me since I took over. Of course she has worked at the newspaper for over 30 years. I could trust Linda with anything and all that I needed to trust her with. Linda is a resource that is so important for a small town newspaper, she knows almost everyone in Howard County. I have been very fortunate to have worked with her. Thank you.

Thank you to my wife Ruth for allowing me to have the opportunity to do what I love doing.

I have only one big regret. We should have made Fayette a one newspaper town when we took over in 2011. Anyone that believes that Fayette can still support two newspapers a week is not very intelligent and does not know what it takes to run a business, let alone a newspaper business.

For me, in the short term, I will be finding gainful employment or another opportunity. I look forward to serving on the Historical Preservation Commission and helping Fayette grow economically in the future.

The newspaper is in good hands and Justin will continue to improve the newspaper while maintaining local ownership. Please support the newspaper. And thank you again for all your support.

Letters to the Editor

CAFOs Draw Opposition

Letter to the editor: Howard County farmers who are concerned that the Howard County Health Ordinance will negatively impact their farming operations need to be aware of two important facts.

Fact One: The Health Ordinance only applies to Concentrated Animal Feeding Operations (CAFO's). A CAFO is defined as 300 or more "animal units" in confinement on an acre or less for 45 days or more. An animal unit is 1.0 beef feeder, 2.5 swine over 55 pounds, or 15 swine under 55 pounds. This means 299 beef cattle, 749 fat hogs, or 4499 feeder pigs can be confined on an acre or less with no restrictions.

Fact Two: No farming operation in existence prior to the enactment of the Health Ordinance is subject to the provisions of the Health Ordinance. This means farmers can do what they have always done prior to the enactment of the Ordinance. Animal feeding operations established after the enactment of the Health Ordinance that meet the definition of a CAFO must meet its requirements.

I doubt that a single Howard County farmer will be negatively affected by our Health Ordinance now or in the future while everyone who lives in Howard County will enjoy not having to endure the pollution, disease, and declining property values that result from proximity to a CAFO.

The corporations that own and operate hog CAFO's in Iowa are targeting Missouri because they can no longer control disease in Iowa. Iowa has 14,500 CAFO's; and average of 146 per county, and the Des Moines River is so polluted with nitrates that Des Moines' water treatment plant must spend millions of additional tax dollars annually to remove them. That is not the future we want for Missouri and it is certainly not the future we want for Howard County.

Joe Hardy, Fayette, MO

Letter to the editor: I urge every resident of Howard to vote in favor of Question 1: the Howard County Health ordinance in the August 7 primary. This is the best mechanism we have to deter or at least regulate concentrated animal feed operations (CAFOs) in our county.

Statistics show that one of these large operations can expect, on average, 600 animal deaths per day. In the course of a year that amounts to nearly a quarter of a million rotting carcasses, not to mention the thousands of gallons of animal excrement generated. No matter how conscientious CAFO operators may be, spills are an inevitability: killing fish and polluting waterways and ground water.

Does anyone want one of these CAFOs in their neighborhood? I don't think so. Please support the Howard County Health Ordinance on August 7.

I believe it was the great Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who said something on the order of: Your freedom stops at the tip of my nose.

Enough said.

Spencer Galloway

Letter to the editor: I hope the citizens of Howard County will go to the polls on August 7 to support our Howard County Health Ordinance. Our county commissioners, led by Sam Stroupe, voted unanimously in April of 2017, to enact a health ordinance designed to protect family farms and the health of folks who live here.

Now we need to support their decision. Family farms and the unique way of life we value are under attack by corporate farming interests that have no connection to our county, or even to our state. Out of state investors in Concentrated Animal Feeding Operations (CAFOs) would like us to believe their way of farming is beneficial, but that is far from true. Their CAFOS bring water pollution, air pollution and diminished quality of life for those who live around them.

We're fortunate to have the health ordinance that has protected us from a CAFO planned by Pipestone System (a Minnesota-based corporate investment group), for a beautiful area just north of Armstrong. But they are waiting for their opportunity to move in here. Once they enter the county, they'll be looking for more locations around Fayette, Glasgow and other areas, where they can meet the very lax Missouri Department of Natural Resources rules governing CAFOs and pollution.

Counties all around us are fighting corporate CAFOs, because they did not have a health ordinance in place to protect the people who live there. We need to vote on August 7 to support traditional family farms and the health of our citizens. Tell the investors of CAFO corporate farms we do not want them in Howard County. Please go to the polls and make your voice heard. Vote YES on Question 1, to support the Howard County Health Ordinance.

Gloria Banning, Armstrong, MO

Letter to the editor: Citizens for Howard County will be having a public informational meeting on the Howard County Health Ordinance and the negative impacts of CAFOs on Monday, July 9 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Community Room at Commercial Trust in Fayette.

Join us for an educational meeting and panel discussion about the effects of Concentrated Animal Feeding Operations (CAFOs) on communities, quality of life, clean water and air and property rights.

Tax Levy Needed for Fayette School District

By Tamara Kimball
Fayette R-III Superintendent

The Fayette School District is seeking an operating tax levy increase because it has been forced to deficit spend the last few years due to revenue shortfalls, increasing costs, decreasing enrollment, and underfunded mandatory programs. When deficit spending occurs it reduces the beginning balance of the next year's budget.

Ideally, a school district strives to maintain a level of operating fund balance between 18% and 25% to be considered fiscally healthy. It should not spend more than the revenue it takes in during the year. When it does, it is dipping into the fund balances it has, which is called deficit spending. The only option a district has to avoid this is to reduce spending and to live within its means. Applying for grants can help offset the costs of instructional materials, computers, professional development and training when they are awarded, but they are usually a one-time award.

Enrollment, attendance, and revenue are all things beyond which a local school board can control. The only factor related to funding the local school board has control over is spending. The district has reduced staff by 22 positions in the last five years, mainly through attrition, which is a reduction in staff by not replacing those who resign, retire, or otherwise leave the district. When attrition occurs, job responsibilities are redistributed to existing staff members. Living within its means will force the district to continue to reduce positions, programming that is not mandatory, and other extras that enhance the learning experiences for all students, until such time that the district is in a better financial position. The determination of which areas may be reduced will be made when more information is available.

The operating fund balance at the end of the 2018-2019 school year is projected to be 11.30%. The fund balance for the end of this school year, 2017-2018, is expected to be 12.43%. We will know the exact amount soon as we are closing the year down and are working on the final budget report. The 2016-

Lake Taneycomo Fishing Guide Knows Trout

Being in Branson, Lake Taneycomo receives a lot of interest from tourists. People travel to the Ozarks in search of entertainment while also looking to soak up much of the surrounding natural splendor. A guided fishing trip on Lake Taneycomo allows visitors to achieve both at once, and no one is more equipped to show you a great time while putting a limit of trout in the boat than Duane Doty.

Doty guides out of Lilleys' Landing Resort and Marina, which is Missouri's premier trout fishing resort. He keeps his finger on the pulse of Taneycomo by monitoring the anglers and guides who fish out of the trout dock. He knows what the fish are biting on and where you need to go to catch them.

"I know the most productive areas to fish. We usually don't have to go far before wetting the lines. I talk to my guests about what has been the best way to present the lure we will be fishing, how to retrieve the lure and what to expect as far as the bite. As the guests are fishing, I watch their lines, indicators and rods letting them know when they are getting bites that they may not be detecting. It usually does not take long before they catch on and start catching fish," Doty said.

The Missouri Department of Conservation stocks approximately 750,000 trout in Taneycomo each year. These stocked fish allow for a Taneycomo to actively serve trout anglers who want to keep their fish for eating. A lot of wild trout fishing is heavily catch and release, but because of the aggressive stocking program, anglers regularly keep fish, but not all of them are caught and kept early on. Some Taneycomo trout grow to impressive size. In fact, the state record brown trout, weighing 27 pounds, 10 ounces, came out of Taneycomo on in 2005.

There are both brown trout and rainbow trout in Taneycomo. The daily limit per angler is four trout. Of your four, only one may be a brown and it must have a minimum length of 20 inches. In the "trophy zone," which runs from below Table Rock Dam to the mouth of Fall Creek, there is a slot limit on rainbows. You must release any fish between 12 and 20 inches. Also in the trophy zone, you can only use flies and artificial lures. To fish anywhere between Table Rock Dam and the Highway 65 bridge, you must have trout permit, as well as a fishing license. Regulations like these can be tricky to newcomers. A guide will keep you straight on the rules.

"I provide all the equipment necessary and all levels of instruction. I have taken 3-year-olds out to catch their first fish, taught seasoned spin fishers new techniques, introduced the world of fly fishing to people by teaching them to cast a fly rod, and taken the most advanced fly fishers to the next level by teaching them about streamer fishing at night for big trout," Doty said.

If you're traveling to Branson and want to give trout fishing on Lake Taneycomo a try, Duane Doty will do his best to ensure you have a fun and successful fishing trip that fits your schedule.

"I can take most of the learning curve out of trout fishing. I spend almost everyday fishing and talking to others about fishing Lake Taneycomo. I want my guests to catch as many fish of the best quality possible while fishing with me and to teach them the proper skills so they're successful the next time they are out on their own," Doty said.

To book a trip with Duane Doty, contact him through his website, www.ozarktroutrunners.com, or give him a call at (417) 294-8672.

See you down the trail…

Basketball postseason format determined

NAIA will merge Division I and Division II into one division for both men's and women's basketball; The NAIA National Tournament for both men's and women's basketball will become a 64-team tournament with four 16-team sites

The National Administrative Council (NAC) finalized approval of a men's and women's basketball postseason tournament format which will include 64 qualifiers, 16 four-team opening rounds and a 16-team final site tournament.

The decision comes after the Council of Presidents' (COP) approval in April 2018 to move to a single division in both men's and women's basketball, effective for the 2020-2021 academic year. The COP also charged the NAC with development and approval of the tournament format.

The final format comes after the Divisions in Basketball Task Force nearly two-year review and recommendation for a single basketball division with potential formats. The NAC Championship sub-committee reviewed all information and data presented the recommended format which was approved by the full NAC body.

The rationale behind the NAC's decision was that a 64-qualifier/16-team final site tournament will offer a superior student-athlete experience, as well as provides the best opportunity for cost savings and team travel reimbursement. The format also retains the same amount of national qualifiers as it did for the current two-division format.

"This is a watershed moment for our organization," NAC Chair Robert Cashell said in a press release. "The membership owes a thank you to the original task force that came forward with recommendations and the NAC Championships Subcommittee for their deliberate and thoughtful approach to this change. I believe the format will provide a special student-athlete experience and continue the NAIA's tradition of offering unique championship opportunities for both men's and women's basketball."

Central Methodist head men's basketball coach Jeff Sherman said in a statement that he thinks this decision won't enhance the National Tournament experience, saying that you can't have that "national tournament" experience unless you have the whole tournament at one site.

The NAIA National Tournament for both men's and women's basketball is currently set up as a 32-team team tournament for both Division I and Division II. The full tournament for each division in both men's and women's basketball is played at one venue.

"Expanding to 64 teams sounds nice on paper, but it is basically what we already have in the two divisions," Sherman said. "I think going one division was going to happen regardless since the NAIA is losing too many universities and with this decision could very well lose a few more that choose to stay NAIA vs. pursuing the NCAA route. Obviously, there are many other obstacles I believe are both good and bad with this decision, but the NAIA is failing to listen to the ones that happen to know the sport the best and that are the basketball coaches."

With the way the current 32-team national tournament is set, teams have to win five games over a six-day period to win the NAIA national title. Sherman said changing the format takes away what makes the NAIA special and unique, and is now trying to resemble the NCAA with some of its postseason format.

"The only problem with this is we don't have the money associated with the NCAA to make these "play in" sites seem like a national tournament," Sherman said. "I think it is just another game until one can make the final destination which will only consist of 16 teams and take away that "brand" that has been associated with NAIA basketball for generations for the fans, players, coaches, universities, etc. In my opinion, it is a sad day for the NAIA to go this direction and I hope not a sign for other decisions to be made in the future which could result in the strength of the NAIA. Basketball has been the foundation sport and the men's tournament has been what the NAIA has been riding on for generations.

Sherman said this doesn't mean that basketball is "doomed," in the NAIA. Too many talented teams and coaches will continue the legacy of NAIA basketball, he said.

"Ultimately, the fans and families will suffer from being taken away from enjoying this legacy that has separated the NAIA from NCAA and other associations," Sherman said.

Sherman said he has a bigger issue with the new scholarship limit once the new division takes effect. The new scholarship limit will be eight. The limit for Division I currently is 11, while the limit for Division II is six.

"So, it seems to be fair," Sherman said. "However, there will be a lot of students that will be left out of scholarship opportunities and will seek attending other universities."

Sherman said he doesn't think this will lower the reputation and tradition of NAIA basketball.

"NAIA basketball is very good right now with some of the finest athletes and coaches in the country," Sherman said. "I am just hoping this decision isn't scaring away coaches from working in this type of environment and athletes from attending these wonderful universities to do the thing they love and play and coach basketball.

The new soccer complex in Boonville is scheduled to open this fall, but some things still need to be discussed beforehand.

Construction of Boonville's new soccer complex falls on property owned by the Boonville R-1 School District, and property owned by the City of Boonville. Sarah Marriott, incoming superintendent for Boonville R-1 School District, told the Boonville Daily News last week that the two entities need to discuss who will be responsible for trash, electricity, water, concessions, security and all things that go with operating a complex.

Construction for the new soccer complex began in 2015. It is scheduled to officially open some time this coming fall.

"SAVVY SENIOR"

Simple Driving Devices That Can Help Older Drivers

Dear Savvy Senior,

Are there any specific auto gadgets you can recommend that can help senior drivers? Both of my parents are in there eighties and still pretty good drivers, but due to arthritis and age they're very stiff, which causes them some driving problems.

Researching Daughter

Dear Researching,

To help keep senior drivers safe and prolong their driving years, there's a plethora of inexpensive, aftermarket vehicle adaptions you can purchase that can easily be added to your parent's vehicles to help with many different needs. Here are some good options.

Entry and Exit Aids

To help arthritic/mobility challenged seniors with getting into and out of their vehicle, there are a variety of portable support handles you can buy, like the "Emson Car Cane Portable Handle" ($12), which inserts into the U-shaped striker plate on the doorframe. And the "Standers CarCaddie" ($13) nylon support handle that hooks around the top of the door window frame.

Another useful product is the "DMI Deluxe Swivel Seat Cushion" ($22), which is a round portable cushion that turns 360 degrees to help drivers and passengers rotate their body into and out of their vehicle.

Enhanced Rear Vision

To help seniors with limited upper body range of motion, which makes looking over their shoulder to back-up or merge into traffic difficult, there are special mirrors you can add as well as back-up cameras.

For starters, to widen rear visibility, eliminate blind spots and even help with parallel parking, get an oversized rear view mirror like the "Allview Rearview Mirror" ($50) that clips on to the existing mirror. You should also purchase some "Ampper Blind Spot Mirrors" ($7.50), which are 2-inch adjustable convex mirrors that stick to the corner of the side view mirrors.

Another helpful device is the "Auto-vox M1W Wireless Backup Camera Kit" ($110). This comes with a night vision camera that attaches to the rear license plate, and a small monitor that mounts to the dash or windshield. When the vehicle is in reverse, it sends live images wirelessly to the monitor so you can see what's behind you.

Seat Belt Extenders

To make buckling up a little easier, there are a variety of seat belt extension products offered by Seat Belt Extender Pros like the "Seat Belt Grabber Handle" ($8), which is a rubber extension handle that attaches to the seat belt strap to make it easier to reach. And the "7-inch Rigid Seat Belt Extender" ($20) that fit into the seat belt buckle receiver to add a few inches of length, making them easier to fasten.

Gripping Devices

If your parents have hand arthritis that makes gripping the steering wheel, turning the ignition key or twisting open the gas cap difficult or painful, consider these products.

The "SEG Direct Steering Wheel Cover" ($15) that fits over the steering wheel to make it larger and easier to grip. The "Ableware Hole-In-One Key Holder" ($9), which is a small plastic handle that attaches to the car key to provide additional leverage to turn the key in the ignition or door. And for help at the pump, the "Gas Cap & Oil Cap Opener by Gascapoff" ($12) is a long handled device that works like a wrench to loosen and tighten the gas cap.

Safety and Security

To help ensure your parents safety, and provide you and them peace of mind, they should also consider an in-car medical alert system like "splitsecnd." Offered through Bay Alarm Medical (BayAlarmMedical.com, $30/month), his small device plugs into the vehicle's cigarette lighter to provide 24/7 roadside and emergency assistance at the push of a button, automatic crash detection and response, and GPS vehicle location and monitoring capabilities.

2017 school year ended at 14.03%. Historically, when the district's operating fund balance drops below 15%, there is not enough cash flow to be able to pay bills each month without getting a Tax Anticipatory Note (TAN). A TAN is a loan that is taken out in an amount necessary to pay bills until the district receives its county tax revenue in December or its local tax revenue in January. When the local tax revenue is received, the district is required to repay the loan with interest immediately.

There will be a Community Forum to share information and answer questions on Tuesday, July 10 at 6:30 p.m. in the FHS Library. Information can also be found on the district website at www.fayette.k12.mo.us. Click on the link under the 2018 Tax Levy Information section on the home page. In addition to a variety of informational documents, there is a tax levy calculation tool for your use in figuring how the levy increase will impact you. If you have any questions about this issue and cannot attend the forum, please call the district Central Office at 248-2153.

Farmers will get latest updates to control crop pests at Pest Management Field Day, July 10. The annual event, once called Weed Day, now covers weeds, insects, diseases and more.

Sign-in starts at 7:30 a.m. at University of Missouri Bradford Research Center, 8 miles east of Columbia. Kevin Bradley, MU Extension weed specialist, explains what's covered.

"There's a lot to talk about," Bradley says. He will update his longtime research on dicamba, an herbicide now in the news.

Two new MU Extension state specialists join the presenters. Kaitlyn Bissonnette, a plant pathologist, will cover blight and fungus problems in odd weather.

Kevin Rice, MU Extension entomologist, will give updates on Japanese beetles. Those pests are in farmers' cornfields at pollination.

Research on the role of cover crops in weed management will be told.

Hundreds of research plots are used to study new and old weed controls on soybean and corn fields. MU Bradford is the largest plant science research farm in the state, Bradley says.

That's far more than can be seen on wagon tours. All plots are mapped and labeled. After lunch, visitors can see controls that interest them most.

Tours end at noon for lunch. A $10 fee collected at sign-in covers food and refreshments. Tours start early to beat the heat, Bradley says.

To help planners, visitors should pre-enroll by phone or online. Call 573-884-7945 or e-mail chismt@missouri.edu now.

MU Bradford Research Center is at 4968 Rangeline Road, Columbia, in eastern Boone County. It's south of Interstate 70.

The boys had just left the Lyle garage on their way home when the accident occurred. Reports as to the manner of the death differ here. It was first reported that they were racing to the crossing with the train but eye witnesses later stated that neither of the boys saw the train which was coming around the curve from the west several minutes late. A high embankment and a large sign board prevented them from seeing the approach of the eleven o'clock passenger train which was running late. Tom Deatherage who was driving the car is slightly hard of hearing. The engine struck the car squarely throwing both boys out and completely wrecking the car. Cecil was thrown upon the pilot of the engine, he was carried and rolled to the station from the crossing. He was not badly cut, but many bones were broken. He lived about thirty minutes. His brother, Tom, was whirled over a number of times, rolled ahead of the engine for some distance and it looked as if he would be mangled but the pilot threw him to one side. He was badly bruised internally and he was taken to a hospital in Mexico for treatment. He will likely recover. He had a case of malaria fever at the time of the accident which will retard his improvement...

Lt. R.A. Ball, commanding officer of the V-12 naval unit at Central College, was the guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Wednesday noon. His talk dealt with the V-12 training program and was especially interesting to the Rotarians since 340 naval trainees are to arrive here this week to undergo training under this plan. Three hundred thirty of the 340 navel trainees, who will comprise the V-12 naval unit at Central College, had arrived here yesterday noon. They came by bus and train and are from many states. On Wednesday the two Katy trains into Fayette carried an extra coach for the men and the trains yesterday carried extra coaches. The train at noon from Moberly brought one pullman car loaded with men. Enrollment of the men will be made today and class work will begin Monday, according to Lt. Ball. The navy will use the swimming pool at City Park several hours each day and the pool will be open to the public during the remainder of the day. Until schedules can be worked out it is not known what hours the navy will use the pool. Yesterday Lt. John Goodwin of Chicago, who was here with four other naval officers on Thursday of last week, told Dr. DeVore in a telephone conversation that he had been much pleased with Central College and V-12 training program set up here...

The Fayette police department reported yesterday it had taken a young Glasgow area man, Stuart Heinemeier, to Keller Memorial Hospital, after the man had been injured sometime Thursday night. After 10 p.m. Thursday, the young man was in his car in the Fayette city park about the time a fireworks show was over. He stopped his car and fell out. The police and an ambulance were called and Heinemeier was taken to the hospital for observation and treatment...

Slightly higher temperatures than normal, and less than normal rainfall, are the main points noted in a summary of weather for the Fayette area for the month of June. The summary was prepared by Irvin E. Schnell, official weather observer. Maximum temperature readings were 2.8 degrees above normal, and the minimum readings were 1.5 degrees above normal. The area had one good rain on June 25, plus a few minor rains, to produce a total of 2.61 inches of moisture. That amounted to 2.18 inches below the normal for the month. For the first six months of 1968, the Fayette area is short on rainfall by 5.85 inches. Every month except May has shown a moisture deficiency...

The State Highway Commission has announced a plan to relocate a part of Highways 5 and 240 in Howard County to eliminate a dangerous section of roadway north and west from the Highway 3 junction. R.H. Lahmeyer, district engineer with the highway department, said this week in a telephone interview that the project could move rapidly if it meets no major objections. Some of the right of way, he said, was purchased a few years ago. It is anticipated that the commission will try to let the job in the 1969 fiscal year, which began July 1, and that the actual construction could be done in 1969. The improvement, the engineer said, would include replacement of a bridge and the elimination of two bad curves. Most of the new work would be south or west of the existing highway. Anyone interested may request a public hearing on the matter by delivering a written request to Mr. Lahmeyer by July 17. A formal public hearing, the engineer said, would slow the project some, possibly a few months, but should not interfere with its projected start next year provided there are no serious objections to it...

The Missouri River rose out of its banks over the weekend, flooding waterfront areas in Glasgow, Old Franklin and Boonville. The rural levee system held, and cultivated fields were spared in this county. But another crest was predicted due to heavy rains upstream. Landowners Tuesday were worried that this county's levee system, still not quite complete, might be breached. The river crested at 33.6 feet at Glasgow Sunday, and had dropped to 33.0 by late Tuesday morning. A Monday prediction by the Corps of Engineers was that the river would crest at 34 feet this week. But that was before the latest rains in St. Joseph. Howard County has nearly completed a levee system along its entire river frontage. It would protect up to a stage of 35 feet. But because of litigation and other resistance from a few individuals, the system is not yet complete. Officials of the levee districts were especially worried about an area along Bonne Femme Creek, south of New Franklin. When flood waters cannot get past the levee, the push water back up the creeks; so each creek must be lined with levees as high as those along the rivers. In the same way, flooding along the Mississippi River is preventing the Missouri from emptying as fast as it should. Over the weekend, water covered Stump Island Park in Glasgow. Water was chest-high in the Corps of Engineers quonset building, a block from Main Street. Commercial sand lots at Glasgow and Boonville were under water. So was the dock facility at Old Franklin. There was water over parts of Highways 40 and 87, but his appeared to be seepage. Traffic was slowed but not blocked, over the weekend...

Negotiations are in the "final stages" for Columbia Regional Hospital to take over financially-troubled Keller Hospital in Fayette, the hospital district board said in a prepared statement released Thursday.
