Moments in time
THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On April 13, 1360, a hailstorm kills an estimated 1,000 of King Edward's III's English soldiers in France. The heavy losses were seen as a sign from God, convincing King Edward to negotiate peace with the French.
- On April 10, 1866, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) is founded in New York by philanthropist and diplomat Henry Bergh after he witnessed and later wrote about work horses beaten by their peasant drivers in Russia.
- On April 12, 1914, the Mark Strand Theatre opens to the public in New York City, the first of the "dream palaces," known for their impressive size and luxuriously appointed interiors. The Strand seated some 3,000 people.
- On April 11, 1945, the American Third Army liberates the Buchenwald concentration camp, near Weimar, Germany. Among those saved by the Americans was Elie Wiesel, who would go on to win the Nobel Peace Prize in 1986.
- On April 9, 1962, President John F. Kennedy throws out the ceremonial first pitch in Washington D.C.'s new stadium, called simply "D.C. Stadium." He continued a tradition that began in 1910 when President William Taft threw out Major League Baseball's first opening-day pitch in old Griffith Stadium.
- On April 8, 1974, Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves hits his 715th career home run, breaking Babe Ruth's legendary record of 714 homers. Aaron would hit 40 more home runs for a career total of 755.
- On April 14, 1986, the U.S. launches airstrikes against Libya in retaliation for its sponsorship of terrorism against American troops and citizens. The attacks were mounted by Navy attack jets in the Mediterranean and Air Force bombers from bases in England. France refused to allow the bombers to fly over its territory, forcing them to make a 3,000-mile detour.

Town of Coventry 2019 Failed Septic/Cesspool & Housing Rehabilitation Grant Funding Programs Notice For Low/Moderate Income Homeowners

The Town of Coventry continually applies for grant/loan funds which become available through the Community Development Block Grant Program to assist qualified homeowners with necessary home repairs through grant funding. Up to $10,000 can be awarded to income qualified households. Typically the awards are in the form of grants rather than loans. A forgivable lien, in the amount of the award, is placed on the property for 5 years.

Here are a few of the qualifications:

- The property must be owner occupied and current on your monthly mortgage payments for at least the last 12 months;
- Taxes and Homeowners Insurance must be current;
- There must be enough equity in the property to support the amount of the lien and the home must be in otherwise good repair;
- The entire household gross income must be within the program guidelines of low-to-moderate for example:
 - o A 3 person household must have a gross yearly income added to 2% of their asset value to equal less than $57,850.
- The following items qualify if the Program Inspector agrees they are at the end of their service years:
 - o Leaking or inadequate roofs;
 - o Failed septic system/cesspools and wells;
 - o Old furnaces not maintaining adequate heating;
 - o Old windows allowing for heated or cooled air to escape

Due to program administration requirements - minor; emergency; routine maintenance; mold related; electrical and hidden damage repairs do not qualify.

If you think you qualify, or for further details, contact Gail Hardink at 822-6246 or email ghardink@coventryri.org. (Confidentiality applies where required by law.)

Qualifying criteria is subject to change at any time.

Asian Glaze Gives Turnips a New Flair

If you've run out of ways to prepare starches like corn, potatoes or rice to serve as side dishes, you might want to try turnips. We have Charles "Turnip" Townshend to thank for elevating turnips to the dinner table. England was formally introduced to turnips when Townshend, a British politician, imported Dutch-grown turnips in 1730.

Townshend wanted to use turnips as an inexpensive substitute for the hay that was used to sustain cattle herds throughout the winter. In those days, it was expensive to grow and store hay all winter. To save money, many people killed their livestock in the fall, causing an overabundance of beef at one time. Townshend proved that turnips were an easy-to-grow, inexpensive way for farmers to fatten cattle through the winter, and a delicious vegetable "starch" for humans.

Although turnips contain a large amount of starch, they provide only one third the calories as an equal amount of potatoes. Turnips are an excellent source of vitamins C, B-6 and E, fiber, folic acid, manganese, potassium and riboflavin.

Turnips are a member of the mustard family and are related to cabbage and cauliflower. They come in all shapes, sizes and colors. For the sweetest flavor, select turnips that are smooth, small, firm and heavy for their size, with some roots remaining on the bottom. Turnip greens also are delicious and even more nutritiously dense than the turnips.

Depositphotos

Turnips can be peeled before cooking, eaten raw, sliced, made into a relish or a slaw, diced or julienned, or shredded to make croquettes. Turnips also can be used as a substitute for potatoes in many of your favorite recipes.

In today's recipe, I've given turnips an Asian flair by glazing them with soy sauce, honey and ginger. When you're looking for an exciting new side dish, try turnips.

HONEY-GINGER GLAZED TURNIPS

Turnips are delicate, so cook them until they are still firm, but tender when pierced in the center with a knife. Overcooking will cause the sweetness of the turnip to diminish.

- 2 pounds turnips
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon pepper

1. Wash and peel turnips and cut into 1/2-inch-thick slices, then halve or quarter the slices. In a pot of boiling, salted water, cook the turnips for 8 minutes or just until tender. Drain the turnips and stir in butter. Cook over high heat, shaking pan often, for 1 minute or until the turnips are coated with the butter.

2. Stir in honey, ginger, soy sauce and pepper to taste; cook, stirring often, for 1 minute or until glazed. Serve immediately. Serves 4.

Iovino Appraisal Service advocates for the property owners in the event of damage to both residential and commercial buildings as well as personal belongings. Public insurance adjusters and professional claims handlers are your first line of defense following this kind of damage. Iovino explains:

"When disaster strikes, insurance companies are represented, you should be as well!" He will give you a complete and impartial estimate of your loss and then negotiate a settlement on your behalf. Iovino Appraisal Service has one client in times of crisis. . . and that one client is you.

Many do not understand the role of a public adjuster because, thankfully, most of us don't have much experience with home disasters such as the fallen tree of the Gray family or the kind of water and smoke damage that accompany a house fire. Because these unfortunate events do take place, however, it is important to know that you are not alone against your insurance company.

Public adjusters legally represent YOUR rights during ANY insurance claim. They will be your advocates in the process of writing, managing and submitting

When a massive tree fell through the home of Tom and Ann Gray, they knew who to call, Robert Iovino of Iovino Appraisal Service. They, like so many before them, knew that they could depend on this professional and longstanding agency to help them get the fairest and fastest settlement possible.

your claim to your insurance carrier and will walk you through the entire process. In this way, you have your own team of professionals behind you; a team that provides reliable, trustworthy and honest assessments of the damage and its related worth. Robert Iovino is all these things: reliable, trustworthy and honest.

If you should have the misfortune of damage to your home or belongings, let your first call be to Robert Iovino of Iovino's Appraisal Service. Call Robert today at 401-356-3299 for a FREE over-the-phone consultation or to arrange an in-person visit. You can also find him at www.iovinoappraisalservices.com.

Homeowners Ann and Tom Gray stood in their driveway and looked back on their property with dismay. That beautiful oak tree which had once sheltered their home had now fallen through their roof, causing untold damage. In despair, Ann made two calls, one to their insurance company, and the other to Robert Iovino of Iovino's Appraisal Service. A previous experience with flooding in their home had taught them that this second call would be their best call ~ and their best chance at resolving this crisis in a fair, fast and equitable manner.

Like the Grays, if you call Robert Iovino, you can be sure of one thing; you can be sure that he will pick up the phone and give you his full attention. Iovino understands that home emergencies ~ whether it is damage from water, smoke or fire, the loss of personal property or even the disastrous result of a fallen tree ~ need immediate action. He also knows after 17 years in insurance, with four of those years as a public adjuster, that the faster you give representation to property owners in the face of a crisis, the faster assistance is rendered, and lives returned to normalcy.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was 20th-century French air force brigadier general and geopolitician — and bearer of the nickname "father of the French atom bomb" — Pierre Marie Gallois who made the following sage observation: "If you put tomfoolery into a computer, nothing comes out of it but tomfoolery. But this tomfoolery, having passed through a very expensive machine, is somehow ennobled and no one dares criticize it."

• Fashion historians claim that England's Queen Elizabeth I owned 3,000 of the elaborate dresses popular during her time.

• The Great Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt is so large that its base would cover 10 football fields.

• Without a bottle opener, a drunk homeless man in Belgrade, Serbia, was at a loss as to how to open his beer. So he hit upon the bright idea of using a hand grenade to pop the top. A live hand grenade, as it turned out. He popped his own top as well, dying in the incident. It's not known how he got the grenade to begin with.

• Human skin is about 70 percent water, and the human brain is 80 percent water.

• At 140,000 square miles, the Papahānaumokuākea Marine National Monument, located (unsurprisingly) in Hawaii, is larger than all the other U.S. national parks put together.

• Those who study such things say that the European starling is one of the world's great mimics. They have the ability to imitate a surprisingly wide variety of sounds, including a dog's bark, a cat's meow, a cow's moo, the songs of 50 other bird species, the drumming of a woodpecker and a ringing telephone.

Thought for the Day: "The reason why so few good books are written is that so few people who can write know anything." — Walter Bagehot

Feral Cat Colony Getting Out of Hand

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: We have a number of feral cats living in the wooded area behind our house. I know that these cats normally can't be acclimated to indoor living, but watching their colony expand isn't desirable, either. So I'd like to get them to a vet and have them spayed or neutered, and either rehome them somehow or release them again. Any tips on doing this? — Sharon in Atlanta

KOVELS® Antiques & Collecting
 By Terry and Kim Kovel

French 'Vide Poche'

An auction catalog called this strange dish a vide poche. It's a French term, but the English translation — "trinket box," "pin tray," "empty pocket" or "glove compartment" — wasn't very helpful. It looks like a lopsided bowl made out of cloudy cameo glass with a bug, spiders and leaves molded on both inside and outside. The thick glass is brown, green and orange. It is 6 inches wide, 5 inches in diameter. The bottom has the signature "Daum Nancy" and a cross.

No, it is not a bowl that was overheated and melted. It is a vide poche, a French dresser storage dish, a vintage form that is no longer popular. It was made by Daum, a famous French glass company that is now called Cristalleries de Nancy.

But we know what, where and why it was made. Do you empty your purse or pockets each night? This is a sophisticated storage dish for money and keys used in about 1900, a sort of storage dish for things needed frequently. Daum is a glassmaker who worked in Nancy, France from 1875. The company used the Cross of Lorraine as a mark. This vide poche was estimated at a New England auction for $4,000 to $6,000.

Q: How do you tell a reproduction from the original when it comes to a bank? I have a Jonah and the Whale cast iron bank. It reads "Shepard Hardware Co., 1890" on the bottom.

A: The Jonah and the Whale mechanical bank was made by Shepard Hardware Co. of Buffalo, New York. The patent for the design was issued in 1890. Reproduction banks usually are slightly smaller than the originals. Check any iron that has lost its paint. Old cast iron is darker than new cast iron. If you see any rust, it's new cast iron. Paint on an older bank should show some wear. If the paint on your bank is too bright to be old, it probably is a reproduction. An old, authentic Jonah and the Whale bank sold at auction for $1,650 in 2016. Reproductions sell for $50 to $75.

Q: How much is a book called "National Encyclopedia of Business and Social Forms" worth? It was published in Chicago by G.W. Borland & Co. in 1882. The book has a leather cover.

A: You can buy an 1880 edition of this book for $30-$85. The 1882 edition with hard cover, not leather, sells for $15-$37.

CURRENT PRICES

Silver basket, reticulated, pierced swing handle, repousse, garlands, baskets, swags, Germany, 13 3/4 x 10 1/2 inches, $600.

Spring (Duct) Cleaning

As allergy season arrives and flowers start to bloom, have your HVAC system and air ducts professionally cleaned to keep your home fresh.

(NAPS)—Two out of three American homes get a thorough cleaning at least once a year, reports the American Cleaning Institute, often in the springtime.

A Problem

That can be a healthy thing to do, but there's one place even the most fastidious families can forget: the air ducts. This can be a problem in homes with pets, plants, or people with allergies. Dirty filters let dust, dander, allergens and mold spores in. So do leaks around duct joints. In a typical six-room home, up to 40 pounds of dirt—including dangerous chemicals and other pollutants—is created annually through everyday living. The contaminants cause the heating and cooling system to work harder, use more energy and wear out faster. That can cost you money—the U.S. Department of Energy says 25 to 40 percent of the energy used for heating or cooling a home is wasted.

An Answer

Fortunately, you can fix this. Have the ducts cleaned regularly by a member of the National Air Duct Cleaners Association (NADCA). NADCA members possess general liability insurance, are trained and tested regularly, sign on to a code of ethics, and must clean and restore your heating and cooling system in accordance with NADCA standards, so they provide a high level of security.

For further facts on having healthy air in a healthy home, go to www.BreathingClean.com. To find a NADCA member nearby, go to <http://nadca.com/en/prosearch/all> and enter your zip code.

Six Smart Moves When Hiring Movers

(NAPS)—The U.S. Census Bureau estimates that over 17 million Americans move to a new home every year.

If you're ever among them, knowing a few facts and figures can help you have smoother move.

Moving Tips

To help, the experts at the American Moving and Storage Association, the national trade association for professional movers, created a checklist.

Knowing what to ask and expect of your moving company can help make moving a lot easier.

1. Do comparison shopping. Even if you're considering doing the move yourself, you should get at least three written, in-home estimates so you can make an informed choice. The estimates should be free, so you have nothing to lose by trying to find out whether a professional move is best for you.

Some movers even offer estimates based on videos and photos you submit online. Make sure you show the mover everything that needs to be moved, from the attic to the basement, and any sheds, garages or storage areas. The mover needs a complete picture of everything to be moved to give you the most accurate estimate.

Reputable interstate movers will always give you estimates in writing and they must—by law—provide you with federal publications that explain the moving process and your rights and responsibilities. Be careful of any estimates offered over the phone or online, and if the mover asks for a large down payment or full payment in advance.

2. Read your paperwork carefully. Remember, once you've signed a contract, you've agreed to what it says about your move.

3. Understand what the mover's level of liability is, in case of loss or damage.

4. Bear in mind that communication is key. Make sure the mover has your cell phone number or other way to reach you during the move and that you have the driver's full name and the truck number.

5. If you don't understand something, ask questions. Reputable movers will be happy to answer them. If the moving company can't or won't answer your questions, you might want to look for another mover.

6. You can find nearly 2,800 certified ProMovers, who meet high standards of safety and professionalism, at www.Moving.org. A ProMover certification takes the worry and hassle out of your move and helps you locate reputable, qualified movers—from small, family-run businesses to national van lines—who have been trained and tested.

Making the Most of a Mudroom

(NewsUSA) - Mudrooms - transition spaces between the outdoors and the indoors that provide storage for footwear, wet clothes, sports gear, and other paraphernalia not wanted in the house - have grown in popularity as American homes have become bigger. "While mudrooms are not a new amenity, they've moved up on the list of must-haves for today's homeowner," says Linda Jovanovich of the American Hardwood Information Center, www.hardwoodinfo.com. "As the amount of residential square-footage dedicated to mudrooms has grown, so has the attention paid to their design and aesthetics. Solid hardwood built-ins not only provide the customization needed in what are sometimes awkwardly configured spaces, but also create the opportunity to bring the warmth and character of natural wood to what is first and foremost a service room." Bob Near, renovation division director at Streeter & Associates, a Minneapolis-based home-building firm that installs myriad mudrooms, agrees: "For example, working with Peterssen/Keller Architecture and Eminent Interior Design, we recently completed a large mudroom with red-birch cabinetry, part of the makeover of a dated 1980s house. The client wanted a mid-century look, as if the room had been built in the 1960s, so its design is very clean." One wall is entirely floor-to-ceiling storage concealed behind plain slab doors; the other comprises a row of six locker-room-style open cubbies serviced by a single full-length bench. "The client also asked for unstained wood rather than painted cabinetry, for reasons of durability and aesthetics," Near continues. "First, they felt a clear polyurethane varnish would hold up better than enamel paint to the wear and tear imposed by four active boys. And second, they wanted to give the somewhat austere space a more earthy, homey feel." Easily applied by hand, the oil-based satin finish had the added advantage of deepening the tone of the red birch without changing its color, an important consideration because the wood had been carefully selected for its not-too-pink, not-too-green hue. As a whole, the project could serve as a terrific checklist of best mudroom practices: With six cubbies, there's one to assign to each member of the family, who'll then have an easily accessed set of hooks on which to hang wet weather gear; a stretch of solid bench on which to sit and take off dirty boots and shoes that can then be quickly stored in the deep cubbies underneath; a handy drawer for smaller items that might otherwise get lost; and all delivered in a beautiful, red-birch package. Find a better example of flawless function married to fabulous form if you can. Visit www.hardwoodinfo.com for more about mudrooms and other applications and products using American hardwoods.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A suggestion from a colleague on how to work out a problem might not sit too well with you. But before you suspect his or her motives, why not just accept it as a friendly gesture?

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) An associate might seek your counsel on a workplace dispute with another co-worker. Listen to what she or he has to say, but withhold advice until you've heard the other side of the story.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Use your Twin gifts for creativity and practicality to score points in landing an opportunity that could open doors to a new career. Someone returns after a long absence.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Although things are pretty hectic through much of the week, some quiet time with loved ones helps restore balance. An unexpected visitor brings welcome news about a mutual friend.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Getting used to change isn't always easy for the Big Cat. But make the adjustments gradually, and soon you'll hardly remember when things were any different from how they are now.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Continue to stay the course you've chosen, and avoid distractions that could throw you off track. Some knowledgeable folks are happy to provide guidance if you need it.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Although you earned plaudits from most co-workers for your recent stand on a workplace situation, you also raised the envy quotient among others. Tread carefully for now.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You feel more positive about that delayed project, and you're ready to pick it up on a moment's notice. However, you might need to re-motivate those who have since lost interest.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Some welcome news should be coming your way. In the meantime, use that Sagittarius charm to convince some still-reluctant colleagues that your ideas have merit.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Don't wait for a misunderstanding to work itself out. Instead, ask for a chance to explain the circumstances before those bruised feelings lead to an irreversible break.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A physical problem should be checked out in order to avoid it going from just being a nuisance to something more serious. Your social life takes an unexpected but not unwelcome turn.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Yours might be the wisest sign in the Zodiac. But you still could benefit from the wisdom of a close friend who has suggestions on how to handle a perplexing personal problem.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your passion for doing the right thing inspires others to follow your well-trodden path toward justice.
